French Relief Column Nears Dien Bien Phu

Garrison Short Of Ammunition; Plight Serious

HANOI, Indo-China, April 24—UP—A French Union column pushed through the jungles Saturday night to within 32 miles of Dien Bien Phu where the embattled garrison was running low on ammunition.

The advancing French force was believed too small to break the siege on the encircled French fortress, but it appeared able to possibly relieve the pressure on Dien Bien Phu by slashing at the Communist rear.

An urgent appeal for supplies radioed to French headquarters here said the defenders of Dien Bien Phu had ammunition for only three more days of combat.

The column of French and Laotian troops reached the bend in the Nam Ou River 32 miles to the southwest of Dien Bien Phu.

The force, led by Col. Jean DeCrevecoeur, pushed up northward through the jungles and mountains of Laos from the royal capital of Luang Prabang. In their drive, they reported confiscating large weapons and ammunition stocks cached by the Red 308th division in its abortive invasion of Laos this winter.

The French high command announced Communist pressure relentlessly building up on the north and northwestern flanks of the ever-dwindling defense ring at Dien Bien Phu. Sources believed Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap would hurl his 40,000-man Army into a supreme effort to overwhelm the gallant defenders before the opening of the Geneva conference scheduled for Monday.

In Paris, French Minister of Information Emile Hugues said the situation was "extremely grave."

Communist spearheads were reported within 550 yards of Brig. Gen. Christian De Castries' underground command post, "Brain Center" of the French Union defenses girding the battered fortress in northwestern Indo-China.

The Red menace was strongly on the north and northwestern sectors where three French Union strongpoints have been lost in the past week. Observers here believed that one more determined drive might carry the Red hoards into the midst of the weary defenders.

Military circles here said De Castries was down to three fighting days of combat supplies and radioed urgently for more. French pilots, flying American-supplied C-119 Flying Boxcars, roared off from Red River delta airports, to attempt to parachute in the urgently-needed supplies.

The Communists already hold the northern half of the main airstrip used as the dropzone and their guns control virtually the entire runway. The fate of the 11,000-man French Union garrison admittedly depends on the success or failure of air drops.

Communist 81-mm. mortars and .75 and .105-mm Howitzers, supplied by Red China, pounded the defenders now compressed into an area less than a mile in diameter.

The massed Red artillery and black-clad elite Communist shock troops teamed up Friday to smash French Union counterattacks on a key northwestern outpost despite the support of newly-arrived American close-support fighter planes.

4 Airmen Killed In Collision Of Car And Truck

TROY, Ala., April 24 (AP) —Four Maxwell Air Force Base airmen were crushed to death near here today when their car which apparently had a blowout skidded in the path of a trailer truck.

The car was ripped apart and the bodies of the victims so badly mangled that identification was delayed several hours.

Names of the dead were listed by the highway patrol as A1-C Marvin L. Gregory, 31; A2-C John M. Young, 23; A2-C Durane E. O'Brien, 21, and A1-C Harry E. Reilly, 22.

Gregory was from Troy. Hometowns of the others were not immediately available. They were all assigned to the 3807th Motor Vehicle Squadron at Maxwell.

Highway patrolmen C. F. Kelly and J. W. Kendrick said a witness told them the car had a blowout while traveling at high speed on rain slick U. S. Highway 231.

BY JAMES L. EWING, III

General Claire Lee Chennault, famed wartime leader of the American Volunteer Group in China and Far East expert, said here yesterday that no American troops should be sent to Indo-China.

General Chennault stated that Asian wars should be left to the forces of both Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and the Republic of Korea. The General emphatically said that "no foreign troops" could win a war in Asia. His idea he stated, is a pincer movement against the Chinese Communists by a revitalized ROK army of more than a million men in the North and by the forces of the Republic of China in the South.

General Chennault recently returned from an on the spot inspection of the situation on Formosa, stated that the Chinese people are "ripe for an invasion by the National government". Chennault recently addressed the National War College in Washington and returned to his residence in Monroe last week. Elaborating on the Asian situation, Chennault said that Dien Bien Phu will probably fall. He stated that the beleagured fortress has become "a symbol of the free world". He praised its commander, French Brigadier General DeCastries, but warned, "We must not send American troops to Indo-China as there is no possibility for them to win such a war."

"He stated that the way to victory in Asia "lies not with a frontal assault against the Viet Minh,

Soviet Official Predicts Victory Over Free World

MOSCOW, April 24—UP—Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich told the Soviet parliament Saturday that the Communists will be victorious in the struggle with the free world because "all the advantages are on our side."

Kaganovich spoke before the morning session of the Soviet of the Union, one of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet, or parliament, which opened its current session on Tuesday.

Premier Georgi Malenkov was among the top Soviet officials in the audience Saturday as Kaganovich spoke.

The two houses, the Soviet of the Union and the Soviet of Nationalities are expected to hold a joint session Monday, at which time Malenkov may deliver a major policy speech.

Kaganovich said the government's policy is to do everything possible to increase the wellbeing of the Soviet people and to achieve communism.

The Soviet Union, China and other countries still must reckon with "capitalist encirclement," he said. Other world powers, led by the United States, are unable to sleep peacefully in the face of the constantly growing economies of the Democratic Communist countries, he added.

For that reason, these anti-Communist countries are building up their armaments and threatening the Soviet Union and China, he charged.

He said the Soviet Union is following a policy aimed at preserving peace, but is taking all necessary steps to build up its army so that it will be impossible for the Communist nations to be taken by surprise.

Most of the address concerned economic matters. He stressed the need for rapid development of road, rail and water transport networks in the USSR.

Body Found In River Believed That Of Doctor

NEW ORLEANS April 24—UP—A badly decomposed body was pulled from the Mississippi river today and police tentatively identified it as that of a missing doctor who slashed his pretty wife to death and then supposedly leaped to his death in the river.

Investigating officers said the physical characteristics of the body fit the missing Dr. Marx Sterbcow "almost exactly" although his two brothers have not identified it positively. They said a laundry mark on the inside pocket of a green sport coat in which the body was clad was the one assigned to the doctor by the laundry he used.

Detective Allen Dupre said police, however, hoped to obtain more positive identification after a dentist had studied the bridge and fillings in the body's mouth.

The silver-haired pediatrician has been missing since last Dec. 22, the day the slashed body of his estranged wife, Marcia, was discovered in the doctor's uptown residence.

The doctor was seen to rush from the house a few minutes after the killing, drive to the bridge over the Mississippi River from which he supposedly leaped. His body had not been recovered and there had been reports that he had been seen. Police, however, were never able to verify the reports.

The Orleans parish coroner said that the body recovered today had been in the water three or four months.

The body was found in front of the U. S. Engineers office by Fred Bowen, 52-year-old worker aboard an engineer tug boat. It was lodged between heavy logs.

Partly Cloudy, Showers Today

Louisiana is expected to be partly cloudy and warm today and tomorrow, with widely scattered, mostly afternoon thundershowers, the government weather bureau forecast stated last night.

Partly cloudy skies are also forecast for Arkansas today and Monday, with accompanying widely scattered, mostly afternoon thundershowers. No important temperature change is expected.

Phone Records May Be Barred From Hearing

Army-McCarthy Dispute Raises Legal Question

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S. D.) signed subpoenas today directing principals in the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Pentagon officials to submit notes of any monitored telephone conversations relevant to the controversy.

At the same time, he said, he has asked the special staff of lawyers hired by the Senate Investigations subcommittee to prepare recommendations on whether transcripts of such conversations could legally be offered in evidence without the consent of both parties.

Mundt, the acting chairman of the subcommittee, said he also is seeking advice from outside lawyers on the legal issues involved.

He told newsmen the subcommittee did not want to do anything that might "jeopardize the legality" of the televised public hearings it started Thursday in a search for the truth in the charges exchanged by McCarthy and top Army officials.

Mundt said he thought it would be possible for the subcommittee to "develop the facts" in the dispute in other ways if its lawyers should decide that "it might destroy the legality" of the hearings to make public monitored telephone conversations.

He said both parties to such conversations could be questioned about the recollection of the conversations. Other members of the subcommittee also said they felt notes on monitored conversations could be used by witnesses to refresh their memories.

The legal hassle over the phone records broke out at the subcommittee's hearing yesterday after Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told of a call he received from McCarthy last Nov. 7.

The Army secretary quoted Mc-

Ellender Against Sending Soldiers Into Indo-China

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) served notice tonight he would vote against any proposal to send American troops to Indo-China.

"The combination of jungles, disease, terrain and torrential monsoon rains would make the use of American troops little more than foolish," said Ellender, who has twice visited the area involved.

He said "the only sensible way to cope with the situation there is to train a native army, one which is familiar with the local conditions and which can meet the Communists on their own terms."

Indo-China, Ellender said in an address for radio broadcast in Louisiana, is not suited to use of large numbers of highly mechanized troops.

Noting that President Eisenhower has promised to consult Congress before any U.S. troops are committed to battle, Ellender said "as far as I am concerned, I shall not vote to send American troops to Indo-China."

Ellender also said he is declining to pit one segment of U.S. agriculture against another in considering a farm program.

"All segments of our agriculture are important; they are too important to be pitted one against the other and used as political pawns," he said. "I, for one, refuse to become involved in that kind of game."

Ellender, ranking Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, is engaged in an effort to amend the administration wool bill in such a way as to continue the present farm support program for two more years.

Russia Renews Equality Demand For Red China

GENEVA, April 24—UP—Russia renewed her demand Saturday night that Red China be treated as a big power at the Asiatic peace conference.

The issue threatened to wreck next week's talks before they opened because the West repeatedly has refused to accept Communist China as an equal at the conference.

The U.S. Secretary of State has flatly stated that under no circumstances will the U.S. agree to Red demands that Communist China be given big power treatment at the talks. He is reported to have warned that the U.S. delegation will walk out of the conference if the Chinese Reds are allowed to take the chair during the talks.

Big-3 Talks Herald Eve Of Geneva

PARIS, April 24—UP—The Big-Three foreign ministers and other Allied leaders held urgent, last-minute conferences here Saturday on Western strategy on the Geneva Asiatic peace talks.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred for 85 minutes with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault on procedural problems and the status of Red China at Geneva.

After the talks Dulles paid an unscheduled visit on French Premier Joseph Laniel, who personally briefed him on the precarious French position in Indo-China.

Eden also changed his plans and flew back to London for consultations with Prime Minister Winston Churchill "on the position on the eve of the Geneva Conference."

Bidault has received his last minute instructions at a cabinet meeting—being given a free hand at the Geneva talks, but told "to bring back peace in Indo-China in conformity with statements" by the government and parliament.

Laniel was reported to have told Dulles that the stand-or-die defenders of Dien Bien Phu now were in danger of losing the fortress. The premier also reported that the Red River Delta around Hanoi was in danger because a reported 100,000 rebels had infiltrated the area.

Most of the French forces in the delta have been rushed to Dien Bien Phu.

Informed sources said Bidault told the cabinet Saturday morning he had two ideas for Geneva:

1. If Dien Bien Phu holds, to try to get the Chinese Reds to withdraw their supply and other aid from the rebels by promising them a rail outlet through Indo-China so they could increase their world trade.

2. If Dien Bien Phu falls, to be ready to pressure the United Nations member nations to make the fight an "international one."

The sources said Bidault might also try to make "corridor bargains" with the Communist Viet Minh representatives for an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China. However, this would be difficult and no confirmation of these reports could be found.

IN CUSTODY WITH RITA AWAY—Yasmin Khan, 3, at left, and Rebecca Welles, 8, daughters of actress Rita Hayworth, were taken into protective custody Friday following a White Plains, N. Y. court charge that they were being neglected. Rita has been vacationing in Key West, Fla., with her present husband, singer Dick Haymes. The children have been in the custody of a governess in White Plains. Yasmin is the daughter of Aly Khan and Rebecca the daughter of actor Orson Welles, Rita's former husband. (AP Wirephoto)

Hearing In Case Set For Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 24—UP—An attorney said Saturday he would demand public identification of the "malicious" persons who charged Rita Hayworth's two daughters were being neglected while she took a Florida vacation with her crooner husband, Dick Haymes.

Attorney J. Robert Bleakley of suburban White Plains said he would represent Miss Hayworth Tuesday at children's court hearing of charges that Rebecca, 9, and Yasmin, 4, were not receiving proper care.

Miss Hayworth and her fourth husband were speeding back to New York in a borrowed high-powered sports car to cope with this latest in a string of troubles. Her third husband and father of Yasmin, Prince Aly Khan, was trying to get an airplane reservation to fly here from California to help Miss Hayworth.

Orson Welles, Miss Hayworth's second husband and father of Rebecca, was out of the country and could not be reached.

In Hollywood, Aly's valet, Emris Williams, said the prince was "upset" about the incident.

"It's quite natural," he said. "After all, he's the father" of one of the girls.

Aly, who has been wooing movie actress Gene Tierney in Hollywood, cancelled his week-end plans and had a tentative reservation for a flight getting to New York Sunday night.

Rita and Aly have been involved in a little wrangle over Yasmin's custody and negotiations still are up in the air. But attorney Bartley Crum said Aly would help is wife fight to keep her children.

Miss Hayworth left the children in the care of Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, their governess, while she and Haymes went south for some sunshine. The actress and Haymes ended a two-week vacation and checked out of a Miami, hotel Thursday.

Under the White Plains court order, the children remained in the care of Mrs. Chambers, at least until the Tuesday hearing.

Bleakley, retained by Crum to handle the case, said children's court investigators made a report recommending neglect charges be filed in the court. This recommendation was made after an investigation was set off, presumably by a neighbor or someone else, because the children were not in school.

Says Reds Wait Only A Supply Of Superbombs

Soviet Capacity Declared Greater Than We Think

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 24 (AP) — Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney (Ret.) said today Russia will attack the United States as soon as its stockpile of superbombs reaches the point where Red leaders think they can crush this country.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the California wing of the Air Force Assn., Kenney said: "The Red capabilities are greater than we think, and our capabilities of defense and retaliation are not as good as most of us think."

"The Reds today have the largest land force known to history," he said. "They have the largest air force in the world, and the equipment is excellent by any standards.

'We have been making A-bombs for nine years. Russia has been making them five years. They have the latest horror—the H-bomb. Their bombers from existing bases can reach any part of the United States.

"How many of the superbombs they have I do not know, but I am certain that the day their stockpile reaches the figure they have decided is enough to crush this country and our allies, the boss man in the Kremlin will blow the whistle and the test (attack) will come."

Kenney said he is afraid the time between today and the day of the test is "much shorter than we think."

"Too much of our bomber force is already obsolete or obsolescent. We haven't enough modern fighters to guard our overseas bases and protect the homeland. This force will cost money, but not as much as the explosion of just one modern bomb on one of our large cities. A full scale attack could destroy a score of our large cities and inflict 20 million casualties.

"We need a knockout punch in our strategic bomber force—now, not some years in the future. We need a far better air defensive than we now have. With the power of modern weapons, the decision will very probably come as a result of the opening attack. We will gain or lose that decision with what we have the day the whistle blows."

Undertakers Of State Will Be In Convention

Thomas Mulhearn, well known local undertaker, announces plans for the Louisiana state convention which will bring funeral directors from all over the state to Monroe April 26 for a three-day meeting.

Hotel Virginia will be the headquarters. The principal speaker will be Howard C. Raether, executive secretary of the National Funeral Directors' Association.

Entertainment features will be a cocktail party Monday night, a barbecue Tuesday night and a dinner dance Wednesday night.

Ladies will be entertained at a Tuesday luncheon; style show and card game with boat ride Wednesday.

At The Next Session Of La. Legislature

Sparks Plans Legislation To Extend Length Of Regular Sessions, Create Fiscal Term

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles dealing with the legislative plans of local lawmakers at the regular session of the La. Legislature which opens May 10. The first will cover the intentions and views of 30th district Senator James D. Sparks.)

By BERT HATTEN

Sen. James D. Sparks says that Louisiana legislators don't have sufficient time to properly legislate the state's laws, so he plans to introduce measures at the forthcoming session to give the lawmakers more time to do their work.

His proposal will call for an odd-year, 30-day session to consider fiscal (money) matters only. This meeting would come between regular sessions every two years, thus keeping the lawmakers in closer touch with state spending.

Sparks said he would also propose that the length of regular sessions, which come every two years on even years, be extended 30 days, from 60 days to 90 days.

Sparks deplored the practice of considering the state's financial needs only once every two years. "It just doesn't make sense to finally decide in 1954 how we are going to spend several hundred million dollars in 1956," Sparks said.

He estimated that at the next session, beginning May 10, the legislature will "spend over $800 million over the next two years." Sparks says that in his opinion it is "impossible to spend this huge sum in a wise and intelligent manner while considering the state's financial needs only once every two years."

"At the same time (legislators) try to consider some 1700 other pieces of legislation," he said. He had reference to the numerous other bills before the legislature at a regular session.

Sparks expressed opinion that proper consideration could not be given to state spending when legislators are swamped with the many other bills that come up at the regular session every two years.

Sparks said his proposal, which would require a constitutional amendment before it becomes law, would also be pushed by Sen. Robert Ainsworth, of New Orleans, administration Senate floor leader.

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S. D.) signed subpoenas today directing principals in the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Pentagon officials to submit notes of any monitored telephone conversations relevant to the controversy.

At the same time, he said, he has asked the special staff of lawyers hired by the Senate Investigations subcommittee to prepare recommendations on whether transcripts of such conversations could legally be offered in evidence without the consent of both parties.

Mundt, the acting chairman of the subcommittee, said he also is seeking advice from outside lawyers on the legal issues involved.

He told newsmen the subcommittee did not want to do anything that might "jeopardize the legality" of the televised public hearings it started Thursday in a search for the truth in the charges exchanged by McCarthy and top Army officials.

Mundt said he thought it would be possible for the subcommittee to "develop the facts" in the dispute in other ways if its lawyers should decide that "it might destroy the legality" of the hearings to make public monitored telephone conversations.

He said both parties to such conversations could be questioned about the recollection of the conversations. Other members of the subcommittee also said they felt notes on monitored conversations could be used by witnesses to refresh their memories.

The legal hassle over the phone records broke out at the subcommittee's hearing yesterday after Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told of a call he received from McCarthy last Nov. 7.

The Army secretary quoted Mc-

Ellender Against Sending Soldiers Into Indo-China

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) served notice tonight he would vote against any proposal to send American troops to Indo-China.

"The combination of jungles, disease, terrain and torrential monsoon rains would make the use of American troops little more than foolish," said Ellender, who has twice visited the area involved.

He said "the only sensible way to cope with the situation there is to train a native army, one which is familiar with the local conditions and which can meet the Communists on their own terms."

Indo-China, Ellender said in an address for radio broadcast in Louisiana, is not suited to use of large numbers of highly mechanized troops.

Noting that President Eisenhower has promised to consult Congress before any U.S. troops are committed to battle, Ellender said "as far as I am concerned, I shall not vote to send American troops to Indo-China."

Ellender also said he is declining to pit one segment of U.S. agriculture against another in considering a farm program.

"All segments of our agriculture are important; they are too important to be pitted one against the other and used as political pawns," he said. "I, for one, refuse to become involved in that kind of game."

Ellender, ranking Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, is engaged in an effort to amend the administration wool bill in such a way as to continue the present farm support program for two more years.

Soviet Capacity Declared Greater Than We Think

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 24 (AP) — Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney (Ret.) said today Russia will attack the United States as soon as its stockpile of superbombs reaches the point where Red leaders think they can crush this country.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the California wing of the Air Force Assn., Kenney said: "The Red capabilities are greater than we think, and our capabilities of defense and retaliation are not as good as most of us think."

"The Reds today have the largest land force known to history," he said. "They have the largest air force in the world, and the equipment is excellent by any standards.

"We have been making A-bombs for nine years. Russia has been making them five years. They have the latest horror—the H-bomb. Their bombers from existing bases can reach any part of the United States.

"How many of the superbombs they have I do not know, but I am certain that the day their stockpile reaches the figure they have decided is enough to crush this country and our allies, the boss man in the Kremlin will blow the whistle and the test (attack) will come."

Kenney said he is afraid the time between today and the day of the test is "much shorter than we think."

"Too much of our bomber force is already obsolete or obsolescent. We haven't enough modern fighters to guard our overseas bases and protect the homeland. This force will cost money, but not as much as the explosion of just one modern bomb on one of our large cities. A full scale attack could destroy a score of our large cities and inflict 20 million casualties.

"We need a knockout punch in our strategic bomber force—now, not some years in the future. We need a far better air defensive than we now have. With the power of modern weapons, the decision will very probably come as a result of the opening attack. We will gain or lose that decision with what we have the day the whistle blows."

Big-3 Talks Herald Eve Of Geneva

PARIS, April 24—UP—The Big-Three foreign ministers and other Allied leaders held urgent, last-minute conferences here Saturday on Western strategy on the Geneva Asiatic peace talks.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred for 85 minutes with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault on procedural problems and the status of Red China at Geneva.

After the talks Dulles paid an unscheduled visit on French Premier Joseph Laniel, who personally briefed him on the precarious French position in Indo-China.

Eden also changed his plans and flew back to London for consultations with Prime Minister Winston Churchill "on the position on the eve of the Geneva Conference."

Bidault has received his last minute instructions at a cabinet meeting—being given a free hand at the Geneva talks, but told "to bring back peace in Indo-China in conformity with statements" by the government and parliament.

Laniel was reported to have told Dulles that the stand-or-die defenders of Dien Bien Phu now were in danger of losing the fortress. The premier also reported that the Red River Delta around Hanoi was in danger because a reported 100,000 rebels had infiltrated the area.

Most of the French forces in the delta have been rushed to Dien Bien Phu.

Informed sources said Bidault told the cabinet Saturday morning he had two ideas for Geneva:

1. If Dien Bien Phu holds, to try to get the Chinese Reds to withdraw their supply and other aid from the rebels by promising them a rail outlet through Indo-China so they could increase their world trade.

2. If Dien Bien Phu falls, to be ready to pressure the United Nations member nations to make the fight an "international one."

The sources said Bidault might also try to make "corridor bargains" with the Communist Viet Minh representatives for an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China. However, this would be difficult and no confirmation of these reports could be found.

Russia Renews Equality Demand For Red China

GENEVA, April 24—UP—Russia renewed her demand Saturday night that Red China be treated as a big power at the Asiatic peace conference.

The issue threatened to wreck next week's talks before they opened because the West repeatedly has refused to accept Communist China as an equal at the conference.

The U.S. Secretary of State has flatly stated that under no circumstances will the U.S. agree to Red demands that Communist China be given big power treatment at the talks. He is reported to have warned that the U.S. delegation will walk out of the conference if the Chinese Reds are allowed to take the chair during the talks.

IN CUSTODY WITH RITA AWAY—Yasmin Khan, 3, at left, and Rebecca Welles, 8, daughters of actress Rita Hayworth, were taken into protective custody Friday following a White Plains, N. Y. court charge that they were being neglected. Rita has been vacationing in Key West, Fla., with her present husband, singer Dick Haymes. The children have been in the custody of a governess in White Plains. Yasmin is the daughter of Aly Khan and Rebecca the daughter of actor Orson Welles, Rita's former husband. (AP Wirephoto)

Hearing In Case Set For Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 24—UP—An attorney said Saturday he would demand public identification of the "malicious" persons who charged Rita Hayworth's two daughters were being neglected while she took a Florida vacation with her crooner husband, Dick Haymes.

Attorney J. Robert Bleakley of suburban White Plains said he would represent Miss Hayworth Tuesday at children's court hearing of charges that Rebecca, 9, and Yasmin, 4, were not receiving proper care.

Miss Hayworth and her fourth husband were speeding back to New York in a borrowed high-powered sports car to cope with this latest in a string of troubles. Her third husband and father of Yasmin, Prince Aly Khan, was trying to get an airplane reservation to fly here from California to help Miss Hayworth.

Orson Welles, Miss Hayworth's second husband and father of Rebecca, was out of the country and could not be reached.

In Hollywood, Aly's valet, Emris Williams, said the prince was "upset" about the incident.

"It's quite natural," he said. "After all, he's the father" of one of the girls.

Aly, who has been wooing movie actress Gene Tierney in Hollywood, cancelled his week-end plans and had a tentative reservation for a flight getting to New York Sunday night.

Rita and Aly have been involved in a little wrangle over Yasmin's custody and negotiations still are up in the air. But attorney Bartley Crum said Aly would help is wife fight to keep her children.

Miss Hayworth left the children in the care of Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, their governess, while she and Haymes went south for some sunshine. The actress and Haymes ended a two-week vacation and checked out of a Miami, hotel Thursday.

Under the White Plains court order, the children remained in the care of Mrs. Chambers, at least until the Tuesday hearing.

Bleakley, retained by Crum to handle the case, said children's court investigators made a report recommending neglect charges be filed in the court. This recommendation was made after an investigation was set off, presumably by a neighbor or someone else, because the children were not in school.

Undertakers Of State Will Be In Convention

Thomas Mulhearn, well known local undertaker, announces plans for the Louisiana state convention which will bring funeral directors from all over the state to Monroe April 26 for a three-day meeting.

Hotel Virginia will be the headquarters. The principal speaker will be Howard C. Raether, executive secretary of the National Funeral Directors' Association.

Entertainment features will be a cocktail party Monday night, a barbecue Tuesday night and a dinner dance Wednesday night.

Ladies will be entertained at a Tuesday luncheon; style show and card game with boat ride Wednesday.

Jes' Ramblin'

Properly directed pleasure for seventh grade students of local schools is planned for Monroe quite similar to plans that have been carried out with great success in Shreveport, stated Mrs. C. E. Slade, Sr., one of a group interested.

Wholesome entertainment at parties is what is planned and in which parents and seventh graders will participate.

At a meeting held recently an organization was formed and the name "Seventh Grade Parent-Teacher Planned Recreation Club" adopted.

GI Loses Arm In Mystery Accident

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 24 (AP)—A Park, La., soldier lost his right arm above the elbow today and police were unable to locate the arm or determine how it was severed.

Desk Sgt. T. L. Kirkland identified the soldier as Ernest Harrison and said he was admitted to Matty Hersee Hospital in a state of shock and incoherent about details.

At The Next Session Of La. Legislature

Sparks Plans Legislation To Extend Length Of Regular Sessions, Create Fiscal Term

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles dealing with the legislative plans of local lawmakers at the regular session of the La. Legislature which opens May 10. The first will cover the intentions and views of 30th district Senator James D. Sparks.)

By BERT HATTEN

Sen. James D. Sparks says that Louisiana legislators don't have sufficient time to properly legislate the state's laws, so he plans to introduce measures at the forthcoming session to give the lawmakers more time to do their work.

His proposal will call for an odd-year, 30-day session to consider fiscal (money) matters only. This meeting would come between regular sessions every two years, thus keeping the lawmakers in closer touch with state spending.

Sparks said he would also propose that the length of regular sessions, which come every two years on even years, be extended 30 days, from 60 days to 90 days.

Sparks deplored the practice of considering the state's financial needs only once every two years. "It just doesn't make sense to finally decide in 1954 how we are going to spend several hundred million dollars in 1956," Sparks said.

He estimated that at the next session, beginning May 10, the legislature will "spend over $800 million over the next two years." Sparks says that in his opinion it is "impossible to spend this huge sum in a wise and intelligent manner while considering the state's financial needs only once every two years."

"At the same time (legislators) try to consider some 1700 other pieces of legislation," he said. He had reference to the numerous other bills before the legislature at a regular session.

Sparks expressed opinion that proper consideration could not be given to state spending when legislators are swamped with the many other bills that come up at the regular session every two years.

Sparks said his proposal, which would require a constitutional amendment before it becomes law, would also be pushed by Sen. Robert Ainsworth, of New Orleans, administration Senate floor leader.

Accomplishments Of Credit Union Organization Told

Addressing the delegates to the Twentieth Annual Convention of the Louisiana Credit Union League at a banquet last night at the Virginia Hotel, Thomas W. Doig, managing director of the Credit Union National Association, told of the progress made by the credit union movement since its start in 1930.

Credit unions are serving people in all forms of activities, from churches to large industries, Doig said, and making loans available to their members without exorbitant rates of interest. Also, he said, it is through the work of the credit unions that the leading finance cmpanies in America are now insuring loans, with insurance paid for by the lender, not the borrower. The practice originated in the credit union league with the founding of Cuna Mutual, the leagues' own insurance company.

Doig told the group how the credit union had grown from the donations of a philantropist to a self supporting business, which annually pays large dividends to its members.

Although, in some places the practice of usury still exists, Doig said, the credit unions deserve much credit for its abolition in other places and for legislation, which today limits the interest rate finance companies may charge in many states.

The managing director also complimented the members of the Louisiana Credit Union League for the progress their organizations have made during their 20 years of existence.

Referring to notes he had made in 1934, when he had come to Louisiana to organize the first credit union league in the state, Doig read the names of those present at that first meeting and ask that they stand. Only one of those present at the meeting 20 years ago was present last night. However, delegates from all but one of the 12 original credit unions were on hand for the convention.

During the past 20 years, Doig surmised, the movement has grown from 2,800 credit unions to more than 18,000 throughout the western hemisphere. Credit unions are also found in many other parts of the world.

In conclusion the managing director expressed the belief that the movement would continue to grow, bring insured loans within the reach of nearly every adult.

Prior to Doig's address four Founders' Awards, the highest award a credit union member can receive, were presented to Mrs. V. O. Wilson, of the Missouri Pacific Employees Credit Union; George Farris, Alexandria Telephone Credit Union; Ross Hamsher, Louisiana Credit Union League, and Mrs. Mabel M. Reymond, Baton Rouge City Parish Employees Federal Credit Union. The awards are made to persons instrumental in the founding of one or more credit unions.

The awards were highlighted by the presentation to Doig of a plaque and a certificate making him an honorary member of the Louisiana Credit Union League. The award was made by Harold Moses, master of ceremonies.

The general business session of the convention will be terminated at 12:30 p.m. today, after which the Board of Directors will meet to elect officers for the coming year, and to select the date and place of the next convention.

St. Louis Woman Awarded Title Of 'Mrs. America'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 24—UP — Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28 of St. Louis, Mo., a blue-eyed blonde, Saturday night was crowned "Mrs. America of 1955."

She won out over 49 other housewives from the United States and Canada for the grand prize of $15,000 worth of home products, a two week vacation in Europe for herself and a two week vacation for her family here at Ellinor Village.

Mrs. Jennings broke into tears when told she had won the title. Five other finalists on stage at the big oceanside stadium had to support her and wipe the tears from her eyes as she was handed the robe and crown by Merrill Ellinor.

Mrs. Jennings was asked to tell the audience what she thought of the honor but she was sobbing too hard to say more than, "Thank You, Thank You."

Saturday the wives cast a critical eye at their loafing husbands and then voted to name the "handsomest." Marine Corps Maj. Phillip A. Terrell of Charleston, W. Va., described by the ladies as "tall, dark and handsome," was the winner.

Barbara Rose, 25, of Pocatello, Idaho, and Betty Jean McKown, 23, of Austin, Tex., tied for the title of "Mrs. Congeniality" in balloting by the contestants.

Mrs. Dorothea Smith, 26, of Plummerville, Ark., a farm-wife, won second place and Mrs. June Terrill, 28, of Charleston, W. Va., was third.

Throughout the contest, the judges awarded individual "proficiency" trophies for winners in various phases of housekeeping, but the trophies had no effect on the final judging.

The first award, for the best housecleaner, went to Mrs. June Terrell of Charleston, W. Va. She gave her husband, Phillip, the credit but said she had to train him "not to get soap on the ceiling when he shaves."

Lovely Gloria Rupp, 23, of Murray, Utah, was honored for her ironing and pressing ability, and Dorothy Riggle, 32, of Roanoke, Va., was judged the best seamstress.

Mrs. Smith, 26, the Arkansas farm wife, prepared the best breakfast menu. Joan Carol McGillis, 22, of Edmore, N.D., received a trophy for her angel food cake.

Services Sunday For Mrs. Harkey

DELHI, April 24 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. T. H. Harkey, Sr., 73, who died in the Delhi Clinic late Saturday afternoon will be held at the First Baptist Church of Delhi at 3 p.m. Sunday with Rev. G. F. Steinbaugh officiating and assisted by Rev. Wiser. The body will lie in state at Catron-Gay until time of services.

Mrs. Harkey, a native of Elizabethtown, Ky., moved to Bienville Parish in the early 1900's and then to Delhi in 1948. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and a charter member of the Newellton Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Miss Louise Harkey, Delhi, Mrs. C. H. Hopper, Markham, Texas, Mrs. J. F. Olbvey, Tallulah; a son, Wayne of Tallulah; a sister, Mrs. A. C. Hartsell, Pine Bluff; a brother, C. H. Whayne, England, Ark.; and 10 grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be John O'Neal, John Harvill, Geo. Speed, Melvin Hopper, Bill Manning, Jimmy Darnell, Willard Echardt and Dr. Shelton Keer.

Elevator Shunned By Heart Patient

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 24 (AP)—Mrs. Lynwood Oglesby, employed in an attorney's office on the 20th floor of a building here, looked up as a woman entered to consult the lawyer.

"Did you walk up?" Mrs. Oglesby asked jokingly, recalling she hadn't heard the elevator stop.

"Yes'm," replied the woman. "You see, I have heart trouble and my doctor doesn't want me riding in any elevator."

Automobile Glass Cracking Puzzle Is Reported Here

The "epidemic" of cracked automotive glass that had its beginning in the state of Washington a few weeks ago has finally spread to Monroe.

A late model sedan belonging to James H. Everett, 312 N. 7th St., Monroe, is the latest and first victim of this strange occurance in the Twin Cities area.

The cracking started late Saturday as the Everetts were sitting on their front porch. Mrs. Everett heard a loud "popping noise" and stepped out into the yard to investigate. The "popping" noise was the glass in the rear window of the Everett car. The glass cracked into thousands of tiny pieces and flew all over the inside of the car and on the ground around it. And when reporters arrived on the scene some time later, the "popping" noise could still be heard and tiny particles of glass were seen to fly from the window.

Authorities are still baffled by the strange happenings which assume one or more of three forms: tiny pock marks, cracks as though the glass were "peppered" with small objects and, as the glass in the Everett's car has done, split into thousands of tiny particles.

Carthy as telling him that he thought a few weekends off might be arranged for Pvt. G. David Schine "perhaps for the purpose of taking care of Dave's girl friends."

Schine, who had been inducted into the Army only a few days earlier, had been an unpaid consultant of McCarthy's investigation subcommittee.

The controversy under investigation centers on charges by Army officials that McCarthy and two of his subcommittee aides exerted "improper pressures" to win favored treatment for Schine.

McCarthy, denying this, flung back the countercharge that Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams had tried to discredit the subcommittee and halt its probe into what McCarthy has called Army "coddling" of Communists.

Stevens said that his telephone conversation with McCarthy on Nov. 7 was monitored by his appointment clerk, John J. Lucas Jr.

McCarthy angrily denounced this as "completely improper . . . indecent and illegal under the laws" because he had not been advised that Lucas was taking notes on the conversation.

Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's special counsel for the inquiry, said that monitoring of telephone conversations was not illegal, but that they could not be introduced in evidence without the consent of both parties.

Stormy exchanges followed in which McCarthy insisted that all monitored conversations bearing on the dispute must be offered in evidence if any were to be. He said he was not willing to let "a few civilians" in the Pentagon select a few to be made public.

Joseph N. Welch, the Army's special counsel, retorted that "nothing would delight the Army more" than for the subcommittee to obtain all records of telephone conversations.

He said he was authorized to say for Stevens, Adams and H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of Defense, that they would consent to the introduction of any such evidence the subcommittee deemed pertinent.

After lengthy argument, the subcommittee unanimously approved a resolution to subpoena "all memoranda, all documents, all notes of monitored conversations as between parties in this controversy and all others that are relevant" to be presented for introduction as evidence.

Co-Ed, Track Star Win Scholarship

BATON ROUGE, April 24 (AP) — A co-ed editor and a track star today were named co-winners of the Robert Ewing scholarship in journalism at Louisiana State University.

They are Miss Dawn May Caillouet of Lockport, managing editor of The Daily Reveille, student publication, and Glynn L. Wood of DeQuincy, top distance runner on the LSU track team and also Reveille news editor.

They will share the annual $800 scholarship, created in 1950 by the children of the late Co. Robert Ewing of New Orleans, former publisher of The Shreveport Times.

it is against the Chinese Communists themselves through aggressive action by both Chiang and Rhee. General Chennault described the Chinese Nationalist army as armed "for defensive action only". He stated that Chiang needs faster and better jet airplanes for his Air Force and more equipment for his Navy and Army. Describing the Nationalists as "great fighters", he said that the Nationalist Army should be immediately built to more than 750,000 first line fighting men with additional reserves. He stated that the Communist supply routes could not presently cope with an attack from the North and the South.

Asked whether or not the American Air Force should be allowed to take part in any Asiatic war, he stated that the job should be left to Chinese and South Koreans flying American fighter and bombing planes. General Chennault stated that these forces, the ROK's and the Chinese Nationalists "should be prepared by October First at the lastest, "then, they will be ready for anything."

He emphasized again that Chiang and Rhee were armed presently with only defensive weapons and "could take part in no aggressive actions."

Asked about the possibilities of the Geneva Conference, he stated that he saw "little or no hope". "The idea of the Communists at Geneva will be a division of Indo-China or failing that, the introduction of Communists into the government of that nation." "either course he followed," Gneral Chennault stated, "will result in the loss of all of Indo-China."

"Is it possible," the general continued, "that Louisiana, or for for that matter, any other state could be divided, Communists in the North, free peoples to the South?" "Would you like to see a Communist Secretary of Defense in the United States? It amounts to the same thing doesn't it?"

The General said that the Chinese Communists should be driven out of China as the "only effective means of permanent peace in Asia." "The job is not one for Americans", he again repeated, "it is one for the Asiatics themselves." "No American should fight in such a conflict when Asiatics are ready, eager and willing to do the job".

General Chennault plans another trip to the far east later in the summer.

Proceeding to the courthouse, she went through the impressive exercises before Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Jr., and received the needed citizenship papers.

Employed as saleswoman in a store out DeSiard street, she was all smiles when Jes' Ramblin' asked her about her experience.

"Yes, sir, I am an American naturalized citizen now," she declared. "It is just wonderful!"

She said that born in Syria, she had come to the United States, living first in McGehee, Ark. Then in 1945 she came to Monroe to live.

She said that she was under the false impression that living here she was a citizen but she found out her mistake.

She declared that she had to study a lot to make the grade, especially American history.

"I just love the history of this country and I shall continue to read and study it. Oh, it is great to be a real citizen!" she exulted.

Accomplishments Of Credit Union Organization Told

Addressing the delegates to the Twentieth Annual Convention of the Louisiana Credit Union League at a banquet last night at the Virginia Hotel, Thomas W. Doig, managing director of the Credit Union National Association, told of the progress made by the credit union movement since its start in 1930.

Credit unions are serving people in all forms of activities, from churches to large industries, Doig said, and making loans available to their members without exorbitant rates of interest. Also, he said, it is through the work of the credit unions that the leading finance cmpanies in America are now insuring loans, with insurance paid for by the lender, not the borrower. The practice originated in the credit union league with the founding of Cuna Mutual, the leagues' own insurance company.

Doig told the group how the credit union had grown from the donations of a philantropist to a self supporting business, which annually pays large dividends to its members.

Although, in some places the practice of usury still exists, Doig said, the credit unions deserve much credit for its abolition in other places and for legislation, which today limits the interest rate finance companies may charge in many states.

The managing director also complimented the members of the Louisiana Credit Union League for the progress their organizations have made during their 20 years of existence.

Referring to notes he had made in 1934, when he had come to Louisiana to organize the first credit union league in the state, Doig read the names of those present at that first meeting and ask that they stand. Only one of those present at the meeting 20 years ago was present last night. However, delegates from all but one of the 12 original credit unions were on hand for the convention.

During the past 20 years, Doig surmised, the movement has grown from 2,800 credit unions to more than 18,000 throughout the western hemisphere. Credit unions are also found in many other parts of the world.

In conclusion the managing director expressed the belief that the movement would continue to grow, bring insured loans within the reach of nearly every adult.

Prior to Doig's address four Founders' Awards, the highest award a credit union member can receive, were presented to Mrs. V. O. Wilson, of the Missouri Pacific Employees Credit Union; George Farris, Alexandria Telephone Credit Union; Ross Hamsher, Louisiana Credit Union League, and Mrs. Mabel M. Reymond, Baton Rouge City Parish Employees Federal Credit Union. The awards are made to persons instrumental in the founding of one or more credit unions.

The awards were highlighted by the presentation to Doig of a plaque and a certificate making him an honorary member of the Louisiana Credit Union League. The award was made by Harold Moses, master of ceremonies.

The general business session of the convention will be terminated at 12:30 p.m. today, after which the Board of Directors will meet to elect officers for the coming year, and to select the date and place of the next convention.

St. Louis Woman Awarded Title Of 'Mrs. America'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 24—UP — Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28 of St. Louis, Mo., a blue-eyed blonde, Saturday night was crowned "Mrs. America of 1955."

She won out over 49 other housewives from the United States and Canada for the grand prize of $15,000 worth of home products, a two week vacation in Europe for herself and a two week vacation for her family here at Ellinor Village.

Mrs. Jennings broke into tears when told she had won the title. Five other finalists on stage at the big oceanside stadium had to support her and wipe the tears from her eyes as she was handed the robe and crown by Merrill Ellinor.

Mrs. Jennings was asked to tell the audience what she thought of the honor but she was sobbing too hard to say more than, "Thank You, Thank You."

Her husband was voted the "handsomest" by the contestants.

Saturday the wives cast a critical eye at their loafing husbands and then voted to name the "handsomest." Marine Corps Maj. Phillip A. Terrell of Charleston, W. Va., described by the ladies as "tall, dark and handsome," was the winner.

Barbara Rose, 25, of Pocatello, Idaho, and Betty Jean McKown, 23, of Austin, Tex., tied for the title of "Mrs. Congeniality" in balloting by the contestants.

Mrs. Dorothea Smith, 26, of Plummerville, Ark., a farm-wife, won second place and Mrs. June Terrill, 28, of Charleston, W. Va., was third.

Throughout the contest, the judges awarded individual "proficiency" trophies for winners in various phases of housekeeping, but the trophies had no effect on the final judging.

The first award, for the best housecleaner, went to Mrs. June Terrell of Charleston, W. Va. She gave her husband, Phillip, the credit but said she had to train him "not to get soap on the ceiling when he shaves."

Lovely Gloria Rupp, 23, of Murray, Utah, was honored for her ironing and pressing ability, and Dorothy Riggle, 32, of Roanoke, Va., was judged the best seamstress.

Mrs. Smith, 26, the Arkansas farm wife, prepared the best breakfast menu. Joan Carol McGillis, 22, of Edmore, N.D., received a trophy for her angel food cake.

Services Sunday For Mrs. Harkey

DELHI, April 24 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. T. H. Harkey, Sr., 73, who died in the Delhi Clinic late Saturday afternoon will be held at the First Baptist Church of Delhi at 3 p.m. Sunday with Rev. G. F. Steinbaugh officiating and assisted by Rev. Wiser. The body will lie in state at Catron-Gay until time of services.

Mrs. Harkey, a native of Elizabethtown, Ky., moved to Bienville Parish in the early 1900's and then to Delhi in 1948. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and a charter member of the Newellton Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Miss Louise Harkey, Delhi, Mrs. C. H. Hopper, Markham, Texas, Mrs. J. F. Olbvey, Tallulah; a son, Wayne of Tallulah; a sister, Mrs. A. C. Hartsell, Pine Bluff; a brother, C. H. Whayne, England, Ark.; and 10 grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be John O'Neal, John Harvill, Geo. Speed, Melvin Hopper, Bill Manning, Jimmy Darnell, Willard Echardt and Dr. Shelton Keer.

Elevator Shunned By Heart Patient

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 24 (AP)—Mrs. Lynwood Oglesby, employed in an attorney's office on the 20th floor of a building here, looked up as a woman entered to consult the lawyer.

"Did you walk up?" Mrs. Oglesby asked jokingly, recalling she hadn't heard the elevator stop.

"Yes'm," replied the woman. "You see, I have heart trouble and my doctor doesn't want me riding in any elevator."

Automobile Glass Cracking Puzzle Is Reported Here

The "epidemic" of cracked automotive glass that had its beginning in the state of Washington a few weeks ago has finally spread to Monroe.

A late model sedan belonging to James H. Everett, 312 N. 7th St., Monroe, is the latest and first victim of this strange occurance in the Twin Cities area.

The cracking started late Saturday as the Everetts were sitting on their front porch. Mrs. Everett heard a loud "popping noise" and stepped out into the yard to investigate. The "popping" noise was the glass in the rear window of the Everett car. The glass cracked into thousands of tiny pieces and flew all over the inside of the car and on the ground around it. And when reporters arrived on the scene some time later, the "popping" noise could still be heard and tiny particles of glass were seen to fly from the window.

Authorities are still baffled by the strange happenings which assume one or more of three forms: tiny pock marks, cracks as though the glass were "peppered" with small objects and, as the glass in the Everett's car has done, split into thousands of tiny particles.

Phone Records

Carthy as telling him that he thought a few weekends off might be arranged for Pvt. G. David Schine "perhaps for the purpose of taking care of Dave's girl friends."

Schine, who had been inducted into the Army only a few days earlier, had been an unpaid consultant of McCarthy's investigation subcommittee.

The controversy under investigation centers on charges by Army officials that McCarthy and two of his subcommittee aides exerted "improper pressures" to win favored treatment for Schine.

McCarthy, denying this, flung back the countercharge that Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams had tried to discredit the subcommittee and halt its probe into what McCarthy has called Army "coddling" of Communists.

Stevens said that his telephone conversation with McCarthy on Nov. 7 was monitored by his appointment clerk, John J. Lucas Jr.

McCarthy angrily denounced this as "completely improper . . . indecent and illegal under the laws" because he had not been advised that Lucas was taking notes on the conversation.

Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's special counsel for the inquiry, said that monitoring of telephone conversations was not illegal, but that they could not be introduced in evidence without the consent of both parties.

Stormy exchanges followed in which McCarthy insisted that all monitored conversations bearing on the dispute must be offered in evidence if any were to be. He said he was not willing to let "a few civilians" in the Pentagon select a few to be made public.

Joseph N. Welch, the Army's special counsel, retorted that "nothing would delight the Army more" than for the subcommittee to obtain all records of telephone conversations.

He said he was authorized to say for Stevens, Adams and H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of Defense, that they would consent to the introduction of any such evidence the subcommittee deemed pertinent.

After lengthy argument, the subcommittee unanimously approved a resolution to subpoena "all memoranda, all documents, all notes of monitored conversations as between parties in this controversy and all others that are relevant" to be presented for introduction as evidence.

Co-Ed, Track Star Win Scholarship

BATON ROUGE, April 24 (AP) — A co-ed editor and a track star today were named co-winners of the Robert Ewing scholarship in journalism at Louisiana State University.

They are Miss Dawn May Caillouet of Lockport, managing editor of The Daily Reveille, student publication, and Glynn L. Wood of DeQuincy, top distance runner on the LSU track team and also Reveille news editor.

They will share the annual $800 scholarship, created in 1950 by the children of the late Co. Robert Ewing of New Orleans, former publisher of The Shreveport Times.

Chennault

it is against the Chinese Communists themselves through aggressive action by both Chiang and Rhee. General Chennault described the Chinese Nationalist army as armed "for defensive action only". He stated that Chiang needs faster and better jet airplanes for his Air Force and more equipment for his Navy and Army. Describing the Nationalists as "great fighters", he said that the Nationalist Army should be immediately built to more than 750,000 first line fighting men with additional reserves. He stated that the Communist supply routes could not presently cope with an attack from the North and the South.

Asked whether or not the American Air Force should be allowed to take part in any Asiatic war, he stated that the job should be left to Chinese and South Koreans flying American fighter and bombing planes. General Chennault stated that these forces, the ROK's and the Chinese Nationalists "should be prepared by October First at the lastest, "then, they will be ready for anything."

He emphasized again that Chiang and Rhee were armed presently with only defensive weapons and "could take part in no aggressive actions."

Asked about the possibilities of the Geneva Conference, he stated that he saw "little or no hope". "The idea of the Communists at Geneva will be a division of Indo-China or failing that, the introduction of Communists into the government of that nation." "either course he followed," Gneral Chennault stated, "will result in the loss of all of Indo-China."

"Is it possible," the general continued, "that Louisiana, or for for that matter, any other state could be divided, Communists in the North, free peoples to the South?" "Would you like to see a Communist Secretary of Defense in the United States? It amounts to the same thing doesn't it?"

The General said that the Chinese Communists should be driven out of China as the "only effective means of permanent peace in Asia." "The job is not one for Americans", he again repeated, "it is one for the Asiatics themselves." "No American should fight in such a conflict when Asiatics are ready, eager and willing to do the job".

General Chennault plans another trip to the far east later in the summer.

laws is to provide planned and supervised entertainment for members at a level appropriate to their social abilities and to promote friendship and good behavior.

Board of directors and officers are provided for and dues are to be made low so that children may not be debarred on this account.

The general purpose is to make it so that parents can have some oversight of parties, see that they are properly conducted, and that youngsters get home at earlier hours.

There will be meetings held from time to time and it is said that it should succeed here just as it has done in Shreveport, providing harmless entertainment but such as will be suited toward making of friendships and starting young people out aright in life.

B. U. Radney, Jr., by occupation a plumber, but operator of a trot line in the Bayou DeSiard near his home, on Lake Shore drive for amusement, had the good luck to land a 35-pound catfish early Saturday.

"Just wanted it in the paper so folks won't say it is all a 'fish story,' " he said.

We who were born in these United States and who have been citizens all our lives can not fully appreciate the pleasure that was the lot of Mrs. C. Bezz, a personable middle-aged woman who Friday became a full-fledged citizen.

Proceeding to the courthouse, she went through the impressive exercises before Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Jr., and received the needed citizenship papers.

Employed as saleswoman in a store out DeSiard street, she was all smiles when Jes' Ramblin' asked her about her experience.

"Yes, sir, I am an American naturalized citizen now," she declared. "It is just wonderful!"

She said that born in Syria, she had come to the United States, living first in McGehee, Ark. Then in 1945 she came to Monroe to live.

She said that she was under the false impression that living here she was a citizen but she found out her mistake.

She declared that she had to study a lot to make the grade, especially American history.

'I just love the history of this country and I shall continue to read and study it. Oh, it is great to be a real citizen!" she exulted.

If friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Faulk, Delta Airlines pilot, drop in to visit them in their Atlanta, G., home, they will find it beautifully modern in all respects. It was featured in the Atlanta Journal in the Sunday magazine section two weeks ago. It is located in a wooded retreat in the city's suburbs and a novelty is the fact that there are windows in the roof, so one can lie in bed and watch the moon, if so desirous.

Robert is son of the late Clarence E. Faulk, Sr., and Mrs. Josephine Faulk, of West Monroe. He is very much in love with his home, his family and his profession as pilot. Mr. and Mrs. Faulk are very proud of their little son and daughter.

Esther Lenard Bourman was delighted when she received a letter from her brother, Lloyd Lenard, who is now in Hartford, Conn., attending school.

He wrote her on Easter after he had returned to Hartford from New York, where he said he witnessed the great Easter parade on Fifth avenue.

"There were lots of women, brilliantly appareled," he wrote," but they were not as pretty as Monroe women, only there were more of them."

Pythian Knights Convention Here To Open Monday

A two-day meeting of the members of the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge of Louisiana will begin tomorrow at 9 a.m. here in Monroe.

An invocation by Hugh Balfour, Jr., and welcoming address by Monroe Mayor John Coon will begin the two-day schedule of the Pythians. A breakfast will be held 7:30 a.m. Monday at the Virginia Hotel and at noon on opening day a pot luck dinner will be served by the Pythian Sisters.

Monday at 7 p.m. members of the lodge and their wives will attend a barbecue at the Knights of Pythias Hall, where there will also be a drill by the Pythian Sisters.

Picnic sandwiches will stay fresh longer if after wrapping them you seal the edges of the wax paper with a hot iron.

Many Owners Of Homes To Sign Tax Exemptions

Approximately 8,050 homeowners in Ouachita parish still have not signed homestead tax exemption forms, Bert Coverdale, parish assessor, said Saturday. This number includes some 1,800 from the city of Monroe alone and about 350 in West Monroe.

In making the announcement of the number of persons who have not taken advantage of the reduced tax, Coverdale pointed out that the deadline for signing the forms is only three weeks away — Saturday May 15. State statutes say the forms must be signed before the exemption is allowed.

Coverdale pointed out also that the books have been open for "about two months" during which time the majority of homeowners in the parish have taken advantage of the reduced taxes. Only a few minutes are required for a person to sign the forms.

The assessor's office, located on the first floor of the court house, is being kept open during the noon hour in order that working persons may be able to sign the application forms. All of the blanks are filed according to location of the property in order to facilitate the signing.

Once the books are closed on May 15, no exemptions will be allowed for the following fiscal year. The property owner will be required to pay the regular tax, without the homestead exemption, but may sign the tax reduction forms the following year.

Last year the assessor's office has 12,665 persons signing homestead tax exemption forms.

W. Monroe High School Choir Plans Concert

The West Monroe High School choir, under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, will present its spring concert on April 26, at 8 p. m., in the school auditorium.

The first part of the program will be classical and semi - classical numbers. These numbers include "God So Loved the World," (from "The Crucifixion) Stainer; "Were You There," arrangement by Caryle Duncan; "The Lord's Prayer," Harry Robert Wilson; "O Come Holy Spirit," Bach; "You'll Never Walk Alone," Hammerstein-Rodgers; "The Lord is Great," A. Kastalsky; "Blessings of Peace," Arkhangelsky; "Blessed Redeemer," Bach; and "Rendezvous," Scholin - Walley. All of these numbers will be sung by the choir.

The second and last part of the program will include light numbers sung by the choir, the mixed ensemble, the senior ensemble, the girls' ensemble, the boys' ensemble, soloists, and duets.

The choir will sing "I Saw a Star Tonight," Sticles; "Set Down Servant," Shaw; "Rocha' My Soul," Pittman; and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," Howe-Steffe-Ringwald.

Marjorie Russ and Melvin Fisher will sing a duet entitled "One Kiss" by Hammerstein and Romberg.

"Make Love to Me" will be sung by a quartet composed of Margaret Wilhite, Mary Jane Dreasler, Benny Owens, and Pierce Ramsey.

The mixed ensemble will sing "If My Songs Had Wings," Hahn-Cain; "Changing Partners," Sticles; and "Stranger in Paradise," Wright - Forrest.

The numbers which will be sung by the boys' ensemble are "Shine on Harvest Moon," Bayer-Norworth McLean; and "Stouthearted Men," Hammerstein-Romberg.

"Alice Blue Gown," McCarthy-Wierney; will be sung by the girls' ensemble and "Lady of Loveliest Eyes," O' Indy-Lubin; will be sung by the senior ensemble.

Soloists will be Margaret Wilhite, singing "O! My Papa!" and Jean Boyd, singing "Lover."

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, the choir director, or any of the choir members.

Church Evangelists In Breakfast Together

Pastors, musicians and other church leaders from the 20 organized churches of the Trenton Baptist Association, had breakfast together Saturday morning. Rev. G. W. Reppond, missionary evangelist of the Louisiana Baptist conference, declared "The power of the Holy Spirit must dominate all revivals.

"Unless this element is present there can be no real revival. When this is present there will be a real harvest of souls."

It was reported that there were many conversions reported Friday night. Most of the simultaneous revival services will close with Sunday night programs.

Why???

All eyes in Monroe this morning are turned towards a remote spot on the map of Indo-China. The battle at Dien Bien Phu is raging at a terrible cost in life on both sides. On the outcome of this battle hangs the fate of Asia. Without being overly pessimistic, it would appear that the battle is lost.

Thus, the brave French general, DeCastries and more than ten thousand French, German, African and Oriental troops will be captured by the Communist Chinese and Viet Minh fighters. This newspaper extends its sympathy to the relatives and friends of the troops soon to be enslaved by the Communists. Unfortunately, it also extends its condolences to the relatives and friends of the Americans soon to die in that theater.

In this community on this otherwise placid morning late in April, there are young men walking the streets who are marked. They are marked as the casualties in the conflict certain to come in the next months or weeks unless a miracle arrives to prevent the rapidly approaching situation.

For a period of more than 15 months, this newspaper has attempted to warn the people of this area as to the grave consequences arising in South East Asia. It has described in some detail the ramifications of the present peril which it described more than a year ago. If a newspaper is to print and publish the truth of a situation, it has to depend on what are called "sources of information." These sources must be carefully checked and rechecked to assure the accuracy of the information presented.

On Saturday morning, early on Saturday morning, a highly placed "source" informed this newspaper that the Indo-Chinese situation is worse than most Americans think. It stated that the present situation shows signs of a steady deterioration into war by the end of a six weeks period. It stated also, that the French will appeal for active American participation in the conflict, and for the use of American troops. As the Eisenhower administration has pledged support to keep Indo-China out of the hands of the International Marxist Conspiracy, no doubt, the French will receive that support.

The Eisenhower administration is to be commended for its forthright stand as regards the Indo-China impasse. It is not to be commended for its actions leading up to the growing tragedy. There are questions not asked much less answered which must come up for consideration this morning. The administration is very correct in its analysis of the Asian situation as regards Indo-China. It lacks perspective as to the overall picture and high military officials have stated this.

There is no possibility that American troops can win a war in Asia by themselves. It is numerically and ideologically impossible. The Americans, of whom each lad and man is an item too precious to describe, will be thrown again against a force or a military philosophy which does not have the same consideration of its fighting troops.

After weeks of scanning hopefully government "releases," other newspapers, and information media, it is the sad duty to report that so far, to the best of knowledge, only three or four newspapers in the nation have asked "what about Chiang Kai Shek?" Here are half a million first line Chinese Nationalist troops on the Island of Formosa. They have been armed defensively by the administration which was going to "change things." They have not been given the opportunity to attack the mainland. Humans have a curious habit of growing older.

These Chinese troops, as a known fact, could be reinforced on the mainland by what is reported to be a guerilla force of more than a million. Well informed military people have stated that the Chinese mainland is "ripe" for invasion. They add that unless such an invasion comes in the very near future, the time will have passed as regards a physical possibility.

If Chiang's troops were armed offensively, if they were given the necessary weapons, airplanes, to stage a beachhead invasion, would this not change the picture at Geneva? Would this not relieve the pressure in Indo-China? Would not Asian troops be fighting more Asians. It is a sober yet revealing fact that this nation must bear the cost of these wars. So be it. However, must the cost include American manpower in all of these ventures?

Unfortunately, due to administration policy so far, it is not believed that Chiang's troops could, within the next month or two, make a successful invasion. It would take at least that long or much longer to arm them as is needed for such an escapade. This is most unfortunate in that these National troops could have been ready for just such an emergency. Unfortunately, the administration, led by the State Department has not seen fit to arm offensively these troops. It is a little known fact that Chiang had asked to be allowed and be armed to attack South China long before this. He was refused.

Now, there must no longer be a shred of hesitancy on the part of the United States to arm the Chinese Nationalists. It would appear that Secretary Dulles cannot even get the "allies" of this Republic to slap the Communists on the diplomatic wrist, much less to fight them.

This newspaper feels that every American would gladly increase his own frightful tax burden presently driving him to bankruptcy, if the money was used to save American lives. It is not believed that a single citizen in these communities would hesitate to add to this burden if it was known that such an addition would save the life of one Ouachita soldier, sailor, marine or airman.

In the weeks left, it is hoped that the Chinese Nationalists will receive the arms so vitally necessary in the coming tragedy. This newspaper is not part of any "China Lobby' as the Communist-propagandists cleverly call the cause of Asian freedom, it has no "axes" to "grind". It merely believes that if the use of one Chinese soldier can be brought about to the betterment and life of one American soldier, by all means, that should be immediately expedited.

The situation is worsening each day. The power of the people is still great, fellow Americans. It is advisable that you contact your Senators (congressman Passman is well acquainted with the present situation) and insist that they ask about using Chinese Nationalist troops.

The answer in Asia lies not in Americans fighting there, but in America's allies.

Ask the Russians, they know.

The Air Force And Ed Murrow

It has come to the knowledge of this newspaper that Edward R. Murrow, the news commentator often praised by the Communists, himself no "middle of the roader," is presently a chief narrator for the Air Force Educational organization. It is Edward Murrow who is in charge of "educating" the personnel of the Air Force by film.

It is he who is responsible for seeing that the "Air Force finds its way as a part of the United Nations."

The Air Force documents are highly classified, and supposedly, the base "educational officer" is in charge of keeping them "secret." Murrow has "starred" in two "educational" films of "great statue" for the Air Force. There are several catalogues of others in which he was the narrator and "explainer." It is wondered if the service "educational officers" are not becoming mere political commissars, instructing the troops and the airmen as to that which they should learn.

It is not an easy thing for an enlisted man to challenge or to contradict an officer in the middle of a lecture, nor is it possible to believe they would do so, thus, it is particularly unfortunate that Murrow should have been picked to handle the Air Force "secret" films.

It is even harder to understand why Murrow's films should have been so "secret."

Richland—A Wealth Of Citizenship

Rich in material values and rich in citizenship is the era of 1954 for Richland parish.

Truly adaptable to the name she bears, Richland parish, has taken from the source of her name, a mark for progress not only to be seen today, but a visible sign in her past. Combining the two, a prosperity for both the community and the individual, will be the reported future of the northeast Louisiana parish.

Many great men have given a lifetime to develop the era of 1954 for the parish. These men, to mention only a few such as John Ray, George Franklin, Sr., and many others, saw the future that was to be Richland's and devoted the energies of their lifetime to plant firm foundations for the country they cherished for themselves, their families and descendants.

What has made the parish a shining symbol in this area? The natural resources have played a primary part in her rating. Rich agricultural land, gas, oil, and timber are plentiful and wise use of each has not deplenished the inherited wealth.

The communities outside the parish seat of Rayville have contributed more than a just due to the wealth of Richland. Girard, Alto, Delhi, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Start, Crew Lake and others are progressive centers with modern schools, churches and other community projects.

The best expression of what has made Richland a great parish can be found in the explanation of each letter of the name "Richland." The explanation in part states that her resources are great; her industry brings wealth to the people; that cotton is the money making crop; her heritage never lets her stop; her love shared by citizens for brother; the attitude that each holds for one another, the great numbers of brave men have been the combination that has made Richland great.

The Three Ring Circus— Peanuts And Popcorn!

The Army-McCarthy hearings rolled off to a start as scheduled on Thursday. It was as clever a bit of leftist propaganda as could be imagined. It was a three ring circus with only P. T. Barnum or John Ringling North absent.

There were wild animals present thirsting for Senator McCarthy's blood. These were in the form of the general mass of the Washington press corps which is more than decidedly against the Senator. Commentator Paul Harvey expressed the sentiments of many when he stated that the American people could no longer receive fair and unbiased press coverage from the McCarthy story and scene of action.

In one case, all three news services stated that McCarthy had blasted the committee chairman, Mundt, and had demanded the floor. One said that he "bombarded" the chairman. Others said that he had waved his hands and arms in the air. Those who were present, even though they might oppose the Wisconsin senator, refused to go along with that series of untrue statements.

This affair will be the eventual ruination of the power of the Senate. What is to prevent the Defense (executive) department from blackmailing every senator who opposes its policies with "favoritism statements"? The administration which has been consistently anti-McCarthy, could have put a stop to this affair. It refused even in the face of the tremendous implications involved and the threats hanging fire overseas.

Here, in the face of terrible strife before the Communist onrush, the Senate of the United States must halt all proceedings of a normal nature and destroy itself before the left wing because a Communist espionage agent, protected by the Army, was honorably discharged and promoted by that branch of the service.

The unnecessary hearings presently under way are a three ring circus. The Communist party, (ringmaster) snaps the whip while its servants slash the participating performers. The bloodthirsty animals wait for the net to break.

It is a shame that some free enterprise advocate did not set up a peanut and popcorn concession near the committee room.

Republicans, Your Patronage Is Slipping

The frozen, windy blasts of oppression swirled around the Republicans for many years. They were out in the cold, looking in. They watched, transfixed, appalled, while inside, in the warm comfort of public apathy and sleepiness, the new deal administrations sold and traded this nation to either the Marxists or the internationalists, or both.

Patronage? Ha! What did that word mean? The Republicans had about as much patronage under the "deals" as an oyster has intellect.

But wait, — far out over the horizon, after many years of brutal darkness, there appeared a slight ray of light. The ray, minute at first; lengthened and broadened. In 1948, it was temporarily extinguished again. However, as 1952 loomed, there was light everywhere. In November of that year, the Republican party emerged glorious, basking in the light of victory.

Patronage! "We're victorious, aren't we? Why sure there'll be patronage, just you wait and see." What has happened to the patronage? It's all going to the Democrats. The sunlight turned out to be a sunlamp and now, the Administration electric company has switched off the current for nonpayment of loyalty.

Republicans who for years in this state suffered the indignities and snide remarks of the Democrat leaders, now suffer even more under the new Republican leaders for the simple fact that many of these leaders are converted Democrats. Some of these leaders cleverly waited until the Republicans were victorious before they bravely changed their party label. These individuals are the new patronage dispensers. They have little or no influence in Washington. Their words, especially the Southern "converts" are not heeded.

Instead, new deal Roosevelt party liners still receive the broad smiles and benefits from Washington. The Republicans who waited out in the windy blasts; who held the party together? Don't be foolish. They are "Taft reactionaries," not to be trusted. They are still on the outside looking in.

Now, there is one difference, the temperature is dropping.

An Interesting Proposal

Editor, Morning World,

Some time ago, I read your editorial with respect to the traffic and parking problems in Monroe. It was my thought then to write you about my proposal to afford some relief, but it slipped my mind until today. Use the idea as you see fit.

The proposal is that Jefferson Street, including all of the right-of-way of Illinois Central Railroad, be cleared for use as a city street. If this were done, we would have a broad, main thoroughfare, running in a general easterly-westerly direction one block from DeSiard Street, and supplementing it as a main artery for traffic. A branch could continue out Adams Street to join Louisville Avenue.

Illinois Central and Missouri Pacific would then use the MOP station as a union station. The present I. C. railroad bridge would be converted into a one-way traffic bridge, and the old traffic bridge would be one-way in the opposite direction.

I. C. would construct a new bridge, probably in the Grayling Bend. MOP already has a spur track running into the Bend which I. C. could improve and use, and I. C. has a spur track running to a position almost opposite the MOP spur, on the West Monroe side. The state of Louisiana, and possibly the United States, might assist in purchasing the present railroad bridge, and these funds could be used by I. C. to help construct its new bridge.

The wholesale houses presently being served by I. C. on Jefferson Street would continue being served by spur tracks on the street until retail stores take over the area. This would come about within five to ten years at a maximum, in my opinion. The wholesalers' real estate along Jefferson Street would enhance in value, and they would move elsewhere — a natural course in the development of the city.

Several substantial benefits would result if this plan were carried out, as follows:

1. The city would have a badly needed additional east-west main street.

2. The interruption of traffic by I. C. trains passing through the center of the city would be eliminated.

3. A central rilway station would be provided.

4. Downtown traffic to and from West Monroe would be greatly facilitated.

Monroe is ready for this development. I believe that your newspaper could put the plan across.

A CITIZEN

Thanks

Editor, Morning World,

A copy of your editorial of March 24, 1954, on the Louisiana State Police, has just been brought to my attention today, and it is most gratifying to me to know that our program of courteous law enforcement is paying dividends.

The editorial stated that "it is not known whether or not the officer was required to give such assistance or whether he was technically even allowed to do such a thing," in commenting on the assistance given by him to the motorist in changing a tire. The policy of the department is to render all assistance possible to motorists who are in need of it, and it is our policy to change tires for female drivers who are stranded on the highways with a flat tire, and to assist any driver in any way possible in changing tires or whenever they are in trouble.

You may be interested in our training memorandum no. 1, entitled "The Proper Technique of Issuing a Violation Ticket in a Courteous Manner," and our courtesy letter to out-of-state motorists, which is part of our plan of warning out-of-state motorists at least once with this letter, prior to issuing them a ticket. The exact system we use cannot be revealed for obvious reasons. It is our belief, however, that this type of treatment of the public will produce great dividends, and I wish you to know that in your editorial you expressed not only our present policy in regard to courtesy as applied to law enforcement, but the attitude of myself and the majority of our state police officers.

Also, I thought you might be interested to know that we have memeographed your editorial and will distribute it to all members of the division of state police.

Again, please permit me to thank you for giving us this recognition which I am sure will aid in giving us the incentive to continue our present policy.

Yours very truly,
FRANCIS C. GREVEMBERG

Crisis

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The crisis that Abraham Lincoln envisioned and proclaimed to the American people in 1864, has about reached its climax. This great emancipator foresaw a great crisis and proclaimed it to the American people only a few months before his death which are as follows, ie—"I see in the near future a crisis approaching, that unnerves me, and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. Corporations have been enthroned. The money power will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudice of the people until the wealth is aggregated into a few hands and the republic is destroyed," unquote. Mr. Lincoln was an illiterate man: having had less than a year in school, but he possessed a superb mind, and being endowed with the divine spirit and principles of integrity; these qualities contributed to his wisdom, understanding, and convictions. He had less than a year in school, but four years experience in the White House taught him more than he could have learned in school in a life time. It was there he learned how astute politicians can hide the true facts behind the luster of pretended patriotism, and engulf the freedom and liberties of men in the abyss of monopolistic imperialism.

Well, so much for Mr. Lincoln. Now let's consider this phrase in his declaration. "The money power will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudice of the people." First let's consider all the fine principles that emit from the ten commandments in God's holy law, and this phrase in the Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal." Thoroughly consider and assemble all the fine principles deriving from the above citations, and then turn your attention to the defamatory lambastings that we see in the papers and hear over the radio designed to deceive, create dissention, to corrupt the minds of men, to mislead and drag civilization down from the altar of refinement to the slime pits of degradation, and it's no wonder that the great emancipator trembled for the safety of his country; and that today Wall Street is pointed to with a finger of scorn, and world hate is directed against it. which threatens the destruction of our liberties and the overthrow and subjugation of our country.

The world crisis has simmered down to a political conflict between imperial Republicanism, (grafters) and imperial Communism (liars) the world's two most dangerous political extremists. Both vying for the same objective, "world power." In the event of a world conquest by either faction then Satan shall have won a victory and placed himself where in Isaiah 14th ch., 14th verse, he is quoted as saying "I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most high." Under the laissez - faire (right of unlimited possession) policy of Republicanism, trusts, mergers, and combines of every kind to gain wealth, are legalized, and ultimately if one man could gain the whole world, he would have the right to build a fence around it and shut all the rest of mankind out into open space, and under the nonpossessive policy of Communism, the world would belong to the Kremlin (Moscow). So then in either case, Satan would be exalted high above the clouds. Friends, why not conform to the principles of true democracy that guarantees equal rights to all and special privileges to none? The Republicans have been in power less than a year and a half. Already the unemployment has risen to about five million people. The average worker earned $3600 a year. This shows that the national income has been cut eighteen billion dollars a year. Well, eighteen billion dollars will sumptuously feed the entire United States for 5 years and 9 months. Do you call that prosperity?

Everything Is Run By Politics

Editor Morning World:

When any candidate announces that he or she will be a candidate for any public office where they must be elected to that office by the votes of the people the first thing to be considered is, of course, how or what they are going to do, or say, to induce the people to vote for them. It is the general practice these days to begin to make to the people more or less some promises that haven't been made before — something new and different. Usually they turn out to be only promises that are never carried out. The big idea behind it all is to get votes.

People as a general thing do not like defeat. Generally speaking all people that are holding public office want to stay in that office. It usually takes one term in any public office to catch on to all the tricks and to know how to play the game of politics. That game is how well can you play the game of politics and how well you can convince the people that you are the right person for that particular job. You must be a good salesman and know how to sell your stuff to the people. Politics is a business and it takes money to play the game and this is the reason no poor person can run for office. To succeed in politics you must have workers in the field to pull for you or to root for you as it is commonly called. If you, by chance, are elected then you must turn your attention to the things you must necessarily do to stay in office.

Politics is every where and I might add in all businesses large, or small. Everything is run by politics. If you want a job or position you must first of all get a politician or politicians to endorse you for that job, or position, before you can get it. So after all it pays you to look before you leap and get on the side of the winners. Sometimes it even pays to keep your mouth shut about politics.

People will put the pressure on you. When you get into an office you must learn how to get your hands on some money so you can be able to distribute some out among your supports so they will be able to pick up a few crumbs. What you call a good politician is a good salesman; he must be also a good financier, as well. Because to hold himself in office he must handle some money all along and help his friends and they in turn will work for him and keep him in office. That is the way the trick is played and how to get votes. Votes count and you must have them in this country to stay in office or to win office in the first place.

Watch the politicians how they will chase you down for your vote and influence. They are out now as you know this is election year. Did you ever hear of a political machine being built up? They and the politicians do that all the time, in order to get the votes of the people.

Politics knows no good seasons. It is good year in and year out. People are all in politics now—the politicians keep them well worked up by their sweet promises. What is a promise worth, if not carried out? Can politicians succeed on promises alone? Wouldn't it be better to tell the people the truth about things? The people have come to the place they don't rely on promises too much. We the people want action and something done that will relieve our financial ills. What are we going to do when we have millions of jobless in this country and they are on starvation or near starvation. Then we have other millions that are working on low wages with the cost of living gradually increasing on them until they can hardly live. What are we going to do with them?

Our big boys up in Washington say there is no trouble and that things were never better in the history of this country. Well you know and everyone knows there is no trust to back up that kind of a statement. What are they going to do with this surplus food stored away that was bought with the tax payers money? There are millions of pounds of it. All kinds of good things to eat. There's plenty of food for all the people, but do all the people get it? We destroy as much stuff as we produce each year. Is that playing smart or can you detect some ignorance?

Yours truly,
D. G. CHATHAM

God Stops the Clock

SOMETIMES when I am weary and . . . I have a task to do . . . I say a little prayer to God . . . That I may see it through . . . And then I go on working and . . . The time is growing late . . . And there are deadlines to be met . . . Those things that cannot wait . . . But even as I run around . . . In never-ending hurry . . . I suddenly become aware . . . I did not have to worry . . . Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The long shot at the Geneva conference will be an attempt by the western powers to persuade Soviet Russia to enter upon a long term peace program.

That is not confirmed, at least in those direct terms, by the State Department or any of its intimates, meaning a few ranking Republicans on Capitol Hill. But the Americans and British, admitting the outlook is not encouraging, are prepared to use strong talk to persuade the Communists that loss of thousands of lives and billions of dollars in Indo-China and Korea and their previous failures in Greece and Turkey have not materially advanced the Red cause in the rest of the world.

Stripping away the propaganda claims of both sides, the free nations are convinced they have a chance to convince Foreign Minister Molotov and the other Russians that determined resistance to Communist outbreaks in Asia means only a constant drain on Russia for equipment and supplies, if not for men. The result, the United States and Britain will prophesy, will be eventual defeat for Communism.

It is possible that Soviet representatives may scoff at all free world proposals and announce that the Vietminh will keep on fighting in Indo-China until the French are driven out. That would bring a counter threat of the free nations that they too are prepared to keep the war going in Indo-China until the Communists are defeated or suppressed.

The Soviet representatives, even knowing the Vietminh Communists now have an advantage, would undoubtedly remember that the United States meant what it said in Korea and that the Communists lost over a million men in battle there. Life is cheap in Asia, but it is questionable whether even the Indo-Chinese, whipped to frenzy by their Communist master, regard it as lightly as the representatives of the Kremlin do.

The stumbling block in the path of the negotiations is the stubborn refusal, thus far, of the French to promise to free her possession in southeastern Asia after Communism has been repelled. That has been France's attitude since World War II. The French government has ignored what Great Britian has done in giving India its independence and how the United States helped the Philippine government get back on its feet. France wants her colonies, apparently because she believes that without them she will shrink to the status of a minor power.

To the plain citizen, the diplomatic talk is annoying, particularly when it contains a reiterated suggestion that the United States, already bearing the bulk of the worldwide fight against Communism, may shortly send ground troops there—perhaps a couple of regiments of Marines.

To the Marines, that is old stuff. Thirty years ago they were fighting revolutionists in central America, saving U.S. investments, there.

Few members of Congress think that Indo-China will develop into another Korea. There will be time during this summer to negotiate, to make concessions on both sides, to impress the Communists we do not intend they shall advance further in southeast Asia. In Europe, the United States will be criticized by both sides, if the Geneva conference fails, will go unpraised if anything is accomplished.

But many House and Senate members, publicly declaring we must not send troops to Korea, are also saying that the time has come for some progress to be made in direct dealing with Soviet Russia, whether it concerns military operations, trade or restriction of the H-bomb.

There are questions not asked much less answered which must come up for consideration this morning. The administration is very correct in its analysis of the Asian situation as regards Indo-China. It lacks perspective as to the overall picture and high military officials have stated this.

There is no possibility that American troops can win a war in Asia by themselves. It is numerically and ideologically impossible. The Americans, of whom each lad and man is an item too precious to describe, will be thrown again against a force or a military philosophy which does not have the same consideration of its fighting troops.

After weeks of scanning hopefully government "releases," other newspapers, and information media, it is the sad duty to report that so far, to the best of knowledge, only three or four newspapers in the nation have asked "what about Chiang Kai Shek?" Here are half a million first line Chinese Nationalist troops on the Island of Formosa. They have been armed defensively by the administration which was going to "change things." They have not been given the opportunity to attack the mainland. Humans have a curious habit of growing older.

These Chinese troops, as a known fact, could be reinforced on the mainland by what is reported to be a guerilla force of more than a million. Well informed military people have stated that the Chinese mainland is "ripe" for invasion. They add that unless such an invasion comes in the very near future, the time will have passed as regards a physical possibility.

If Chiang's troops were armed offensively, if they were given the necessary weapons, airplanes, to stage a beachhead invasion, would this not change the picture at Geneva? Would this not relieve the pressure in Indo-China? Would not Asian troops be fighting more Asians. It is a sober yet revealing fact that this nation must bear the cost of these wars. So be it. However, must the cost include American manpower in all of these ventures?

Unfortunately, due to administration policy so far, it is not believed that Chiang's troops could, within the next month or two, make a successful invasion. It would take at least that long or much longer to arm them as is needed for such an escapade. This is most unfortunate in that these National troops could have been ready for just such an emergency. Unfortunately, the administration, led by the State Department has not seen fit to arm offensively these troops. It is a little known fact that Chiang had asked to be allowed and be armed to attack South China long before this. He was refused.

Now, there must no longer be a shred of hesitancy on the part of the United States to arm the Chinese Nationalists. It would appear that Secretary Dulles cannot even get the "allies" of this Republic to slap the Communists on the diplomatic wrist, much less to fight them.

This newspaper feels that every American would gladly increase his own frightful tax burden presently driving him to bankruptcy, if the money was used to save American lives. It is not believed that a single citizen in these communities would hesitate to add to this burden if it was known that such an addition would save the life of one Ouachita soldier, sailor, marine or airman.

In the weeks left, it is hoped that the Chinese Nationalists will receive the arms so vitally necessary in the coming tragedy. This newspaper is not part of any "China Lobby' as the Communist-propagandists cleverly call the cause of Asian freedom, it has no "axes" to "grind". It merely believes that if the use of one Chinese soldier can be brought about to the betterment and life of one American soldier, by all means, that should be immediately expedited.

The situation is worsening each day. The power of the people is still great, fellow Americans. It is advisable that you contact your Senators (congressman Passman is well acquainted with the present situation) and insist that they ask about using Chinese Nationalist troops.

The answer in Asia lies not in Americans fighting there, but in America's allies.

The Air Force And Ed Murrow

It has come to the knowledge of this newspaper that Edward R. Murrow, the news commentator often praised by the Communists, himself no "middle of the roader," is presently a chief narrator for the Air Force Educational organization. It is Edward Murrow who is in charge of "educating" the personnel of the Air Force by film.

It is he who is responsible for seeing that the "Air Force finds its way as a part of the United Nations."

The Air Force documents are highly classified, and supposedly, the base "educational officer" is in charge of keeping them "secret." Murrow has "starred" in two "educational" films of "great statue" for the Air Force. There are several catalogues of others in which he was the narrator and "explainer." It is wondered if the service "educational officers" are not becoming mere political commissars, instructing the troops and the airmen as to that which they should learn.

It is not an easy thing for an enlisted man to challenge or to contradict an officer in the middle of a lecture, nor is it possible to believe they would do so, thus, it is particularly unfortunate that Murrow should have been picked to handle the Air Force "secret" films.

It is even harder to understand why Murrow's films should have been so "secret."

Richland—A Wealth Of Citizenship

Rich in material values and rich in citizenship is the era of 1954 for Richland parish.

Truly adaptable to the name she bears, Richland parish, has taken from the source of her name, a mark for progress not only to be seen today, but a visible sign in her past. Combining the two, a prosperity for both the community and the individual, will be the reported future of the northeast Louisiana parish.

Many great men have given a lifetime to develop the era of 1954 for the parish. These men, to mention only a few such as John Ray, George Franklin, Sr., and many others, saw the future that was to be Richland's and devoted the energies of their lifetime to plant firm foundations for the country they cherished for themselves, their families and descendants.

What has made the parish a shining symbol in this area? The natural resources have played a primary part in her rating. Rich agricultural land, gas, oil, and timber are plentiful and wise use of each has not deplenished the inherited wealth.

The communities outside the parish seat of Rayville have contributed more than a just due to the wealth of Richland. Girard, Alto, Delhi, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Start, Crew Lake and others are progressive centers with modern schools, churches and other community projects.

The best expression of what has made Richland a great parish can be found in the explanation of each letter of the name "Richland." The explanation in part states that her resources are great; her industry brings wealth to the people; that cotton is the money making crop; her heritage never lets her stop; her love shared by citizens for brother; the attitude that each holds for one another, the great numbers of brave men have been the combination that has made Richland great.

The Three Ring Circus—Peanuts And Popcorn!

The Army-McCarthy hearings rolled off to a start as scheduled on Thursday. It was as clever a bit of leftist propaganda as could be imagined. It was a three ring circus with only P. T. Barnum or John Ringling North absent.

There were wild animals present thirsting for Senator McCarthy's blood. These were in the form of the general mass of the Washington press corps which is more than decidedly against the Senator. Commentator Paul Harvey expressed the sentiments of many when he stated that the American people could no longer receive fair and unbiased press coverage from the McCarthy story and scene of action.

In one case, all three news services stated that McCarthy had blasted the committee chairman, Mundt, and had demanded the floor. One said that he "bombarded" the chairman. Others said that he had waved his hands and arms in the air. Those who were present, even though they might oppose the Wisconsin senator, refused to go along with that series of untrue statements.

This affair will be the eventual ruination of the power of the Senate. What is to prevent the Defense (executive) department from blackmailing every senator who opposes its policies with "favoritism statements"? The administration which has been consistently anti-McCarthy, could have put a stop to this affair. It refused even in the face of the tremendous implications involved and the threats hanging fire overseas.

Here, in the face of terrible strife before the Communist onrush, the Senate of the United States must halt all proceedings of a normal nature and destroy itself before the left wing because a Communist espionage agent, protected by the Army, was honorably discharged and promoted by that branch of the service.

The unnecessary hearings presently under way are a three ring circus. The Communist party, (ringmaster) snaps the whip while its servants slash the participating performers. The bloodthirsty animals wait for the net to break.

It is a shame that some free enterprise advocate did not set up a peanut and popcorn concession near the committee room.

Republicans, Your Patronage Is Slipping

The frozen, windy blasts of oppression swirled around the Republicans for many years. They were out in the cold, looking in. They watched, transfixed, appalled, while inside, in the warm comfort of public apathy and sleepiness, the new deal administrations sold and traded this nation to either the Marxists or the internationalists, or both.

Patronage? Ha! What did that word mean? The Republicans had about as much patronage under the "deals" as an oyster has intellect.

But wait, — far out over the horizon, after many years of brutal darkness, there appeared a slight ray of light. The ray, minute at first; lengthened and broadened. In 1948, it was temporarily extinguished again. However, as 1952 loomed, there was light everywhere. In November of that year, the Republican party emerged glorious, basking in the light of victory.

Patronage! "We're victorious, aren't we? Why sure there'll be patronage, just you wait and see." What has happened to the patronage? It's all going to the Democrats. The sunlight turned out to be a sunlamp and now, the Administration electric company has switched off the current for nonpayment of loyalty.

Republicans who for years in this state suffered the indignities and snide remarks of the Democrat leaders, now suffer even more under the new Republican leaders for the simple fact that many of these leaders are converted Democrats. Some of these leaders cleverly waited until the Republicans were victorious before they bravely changed their party label. These individuals are the new patronage dispensers. They have little or no influence in Washington. Their words, especially the Southern "converts" are not heeded.

Instead, new deal Roosevelt party liners still receive the broad smiles and benefits from Washington. The Republicans who waited out in the windy blasts; who held the party together? Don't be foolish. They are "Taft reactionaries," not to be trusted. They are still on the outside looking in.

Now, there is one difference, the temperature is dropping.

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

Editor, Morning World,

Some time ago, I read your editorial with respect to the traffic and parking problems in Monroe. It was my thought then to write you about my proposal to afford some relief, but it slipped my mind until today. Use the idea as you see fit.

The proposal is that Jefferson Street, including all of the right-of-way of Illinois Central Railroad, be cleared for use as a city street. If this were done, we would have a broad, main thoroughfare, running in a general easterly-westerly direction one block from DeSiard Street, and supplementing it as a main artery for traffic. A branch could continue out Adams Street to join Louisville Avenue.

Illinois Central and Missouri Pacific would then use the MOP station as a union station. The present I. C. railroad bridge would be converted into a one-way traffic bridge, and the old traffic bridge would be one-way in the opposite direction.

I. C. would construct a new bridge, probably in the Grayling Bend. MOP already has a spur track running into the Bend which I. C. could improve and use, and I. C. has a spur track running to a position almost opposite the MOP spur, on the West Monroe side. The state of Louisiana, and possibly the United States, might assist in purchasing the present railroad bridge, and these funds could be used by I. C. to help construct its new bridge.

The wholesale houses presently being served by I. C. on Jefferson Street would continue being served by spur tracks on the street until retail stores take over the area. This would come about within five to ten years at a maximum, in my opinion. The wholesalers' real estate along Jefferson Street would enhance in value, and they would move elsewhere — a natural course in the development of the city.

Several substantial benefits would result if this plan were carried out, as follows:

1. The city would have a badly needed additional east-west main street.
2. The interruption of traffic by I. C. trains passing through the center of the city would be eliminated.
3. A central rilway station would be provided.
4. Downtown traffic to and from West Monroe would be greatly facilitated.

Monroe is ready for this development. I believe that your newspaper could put the plan across.

A CITIZEN

Thanks

Editor, Morning World,

A copy of your editorial of March 24, 1954, on the Louisiana State Police, has just been brought to my attention today, and it is most gratifying to me to know that our program of courteous law enforcement is paying dividends.

The editorial stated that "it is not known whether or not the officer was required to give such assistance or whether he was technically even allowed to do such a thing," in commenting on the assistance given by him to the motorist in changing a tire. The policy of the department is to render all assistance possible to motorists who are in need of it, and it is our policy to change tires for female drivers who are stranded on the highways with a flat tire, and to assist any driver in any way possible in changing tires or whenever they are in trouble.

You may be interested in our training memorandum no. 1, entitled "The Proper Technique of Issuing a Violation Ticket in a Courteous Manner," and our courtesy letter to out-of-state motorists, which is part of our plan of warning out-of-state motorists at least once with this letter, prior to issuing them a ticket. The exact system we use cannot be revealed for obvious reasons. It is our belief, however, that this type of treatment of the public will produce great dividends, and I wish you to know that in your editorial you expressed not only our present policy in regard to courtesy as applied to law enforcement, but the attitude of myself and the majority of our state police officers.

Also, I thought you might be interested to know that we have memeographed your editorial and will distribute it to all members of the division of state police.

Again, please permit me to thank you for giving us this recognition which I am sure will aid in giving us the incentive to continue our present policy.

Yours very truly,
FRANCIS C. GREVEMBERG

Crisis

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The crisis that Abraham Lincoln envisioned and proclaimed to the American people in 1864, has about reached its climax. This great emancipator foresaw a great crisis and proclaimed it to the American people only a few months before his death which are as follows, ie—"I see in the near future a crisis approaching, that unnerves me, and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. Corporations have been enthroned. The money power will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudice of the people until the wealth is aggregated into a few hands and the republic is destroyed," unquote. Mr. Lincoln was an illiterate man: having had less than a year in school, but he possessed a superb mind, and being endowed with the divine spirit and principles of integrity; these qualities contributed to his wisdom, understanding, and convictions. He had less than a year in school, but four years experience in the White House taught him more than he could have learned in school in a life time. It was there he learned how astute politicians can hide the true facts behind the luster of pretended patriotism, and engulf the freedom and liberties of men in the abyss of monopolistic imperialism.

Well, so much for Mr. Lincoln. Now let's consider this phrase in his declaration. "The money power will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudice of the people." First let's consider all the fine principles that emit from the ten commandments in God's holy law, and this phrase in the Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal." Thoroughly consider and assemble all the fine principles deriving from the above citations, and then turn your attention to the defamatory lambastings that we see in the papers and hear over the radio designed to deceive, create dissention, to corrupt the minds of men, to mislead and drag civilization down from the altar of refinement to the slime pits of degradation, and it's no wonder that the great emancipator trembled for the safety of his country; and that today Wall Street is pointed to with a finger of scorn, and world hate is directed against it, which threatens the destruction of our liberties and the overthrow and subjugation of our country.

The world crisis has simmered down to a political conflict between imperial Republicanism, (grafters) and imperial Communism (liars) the world's two most dangerous political extremists. Both vying for the same objective, "world power." In the event of a world conquest by either faction then Satan shall have won a victory and placed himself where in Isaiah 14th ch., 14th verse, he is quoted as saying "I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most high." Under the laissez - faire (right of unlimited possession) policy of Republicanism, trusts, mergers, and combines of every kind to gain wealth, are legalized, and ultimately if one man could gain the whole world, he would have the right to build a fence around it and shut all the rest of mankind out into open space, and under the nonpossessive policy of Communism, the world would belong to the Kremlin (Moscow). So then in either case, Satan would be exalted high above the clouds. Friends, why not conform to the principles of true democracy that guarantees equal rights to all and special privileges to none? The Republicans have been in power less than a year and a half. Already the unemployment has risen to about five million people. The average worker earned $3600 a year. This shows that the national income has been cut eighteen billion dollars a year. Well, eighteen billion dollars will sumptuously feed the entire United States for 5 years and 9 months. Do you call that prosperity?

Everything Is Run By Politics

Editor Morning World:

When any candidate announces that he or she will be a candidate for any public office where they must be elected to that office by the votes of the people the first thing to be considered is, of course, how or what they are going to do, or say, to induce the people to vote for them. It is the general practice these days to begin to make to the people more or less some promises that haven't been made before — something new and different. Usually they turn out to be only promises that are never carried out. The big idea behind it all is to get votes.

People as a general thing do not like defeat. Generally speaking all people that are holding public office want to stay in that office. It usually takes one term in any public office to catch on to all the tricks and to know how to play the game of politics. That game is how well can you play the game of politics and how well you can convince the people that you are the right person for that particular job. You must be a good salesman and know how to sell your stuff to the people. Politics is a business and it takes money to play the game and this is the reason no poor person can run for office. To succeed in politics you must have workers in the field to pull for you or to root for you as it is commonly called. If you, by chance, are elected then you must turn your attention to the things you must necessarily do to stay in office.

Politics is every where and I might add in all businesses large, or small. Everything is run by politics. If you want a job or position you must first of all get a politician or politicians to endorse you for that job, or position, before you can get it. So after all it pays you to look before you leap and get on the side of the winners. Sometimes it even pays to keep your mouth shut about politics.

People will put the pressure on you. When you get into an office you must learn how to get your hands on some money so you can be able to distribute some out among your supports so they will be able to pick up a few crumbs. What you call a good politician is a good salesman; he must be also a good financier, as well. Because to hold himself in office he must handle some money all along and help his friends and they in turn will work for him and keep him in office. That is the way the trick is played and how to get votes. Votes count and you must have them in this country to stay in office or to win office in the first place.

Watch the politicians how they will chase you down for your vote and influence. They are out now as you know this is election year. Did you ever hear of a political machine being built up? They and the politicians do that all the time, in order to get the votes of the people.

Politics knows no good seasons. It is good year in and year out. People are all in politics now—the politicians keep them well worked up by their sweet promises. What is a promise worth, if not carried out? Can politicians succeed on promises alone? Wouldn't it be better to tell the people the truth about things? The people have come to the place they don't rely on promises too much. We the people want action and something done that will relieve our financial ills. What are we going to do when we have millions of jobless in this country and they are on starvation or near starvation. Then we have other millions that are working on low wages with the cost of living gradually increasing on them until they can hardly live. What are we going to do with them?

Our big boys up in Washington say there is no trouble and that things were never better in the history of this country. Well you know and everyone knows there is no trust to back up that kind of a statement. What are they going to do with this surplus food stored away that was bought with the tax payers money? There are millions of pounds of it. All kinds of good things to eat. There's plenty of food for all the people, but do all the people get it? We destroy as much stuff as we produce each year. Is that playing smart or can you detect some ignorance?

Yours truly,
D. G. CHATHAM

God Stops the Clock

SOMETIMES when I am weary and . . . I have a task to do . . . I say a little prayer to God . . . That I may see it through . . . And then I go on working and . . . The time is growing late . . . And there are deadlines to be met . . . Those things that cannot wait . . . But even as I run around . . . In never-ending hurry . . . I suddenly become aware . . . I did not have to worry . . . Somehow the job is done on time . . . The promise is fulfilled . . . And as the seconds disappear . . . My racing heart is stilled . . . I should have known my little prayer . . . Was one more share of stock . . . And as I turned my thoughts to God . . . He surely stopped the clock.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The long shot at the Geneva conference will be an attempt by the western powers to persuade Soviet Russia to enter upon a long term peace program.

That is not confirmed, at least in those direct terms, by the State Department or any of its intimates, meaning a few ranking Republicans on Capitol Hill. But the Americans and British, admitting the outlook is not encouraging, are prepared to use strong talk to persuade the Communists that loss of thousands of lives and billions of dollars in Indo-China and Korea and their previous failures in Greece and Turkey have not materially advanced the Red cause in the rest of the world.

Stripping away the propaganda claims of both sides, the free nations are convinced they have a chance to convince Foreign Minister Molotov and the other Russians that determined resistance to Communist outbreaks in Asia means only a constant drain on Russia for equipment and supplies, if not for men. The result, the United States and Britain will prophesy, will be eventual defeat for Communism.

It is possible that Soviet representatives may scoff at all free world proposals and announce that the Vietminh will keep on fighting in Indo-China until the French are driven out. That would bring a counter threat of the free nations that they too are prepared to keep the war going in Indo-China until the Communists are defeated or suppressed.

The Soviet representatives, even knowing the Vietminh Communists now have an advantage, would undoubtedly remember that the United States meant what it said in Korea and that the Communists lost over a million men in battle there. Life is cheap in Asia, but it is questionable whether even the Indo-Chinese, whipped to frenzy by their Communist master, regard it as lightly as the representatives of the Kremlin do.

The stumbling block in the path of the negotiations is the stubborn refusal, thus far, of the French to promise to free her possession in southeastern Asia after Communism has been repelled. That has been France's attitude since World War II. The French government has ignored what Great Britian has done in giving India its independence and how the United States helped the Philippine government get back on its feet. France wants her colonies, apparently because she believes that without them she will shrink to the status of a minor power.

To the plain citizen, the diplomatic talk is annoying, particularly when it contains a reiterated suggestion that the United States, already bearing the bulk of the worldwide fight against Communism, may shortly send ground troops there—perhaps a couple of regiments of Marines.

To the Marines, that is old stuff. Thirty years ago they were fighting revolutionists in central America, saving U.S. investments, there.

Few members of Congress think that Indo-China will develop into another Korea. There will be time during this summer to negotiate, to make concessions on both sides, to impress the Communists we do not intend they shall advance further in southeast Asia. In Europe, the United States will be criticized by both sides, if the Geneva conference fails, will go unpraised if anything is accomplished.

But many House and Senate members, publicly declaring we must not send troops to Korea, are also saying that the time has come for some progress to be made in direct dealing with Soviet Russia, whether it concerns military operations, trade or restriction of the H-bomb.

SEN. JAMES D. SPARKS

Sparks Plan

Further substantiating his contention that the legislature needs more time for routine bills, Sparks said that in the regular 60-day session provided under present law "bills with bad features are frequently passed because there is no way, during such a short period, to know the content of all these bills."

Another specification of the amendment would call for a more stern manner of dealing with gubernatorial vetoes. After the regular session legislators would reconvene for a short period ten days after the session to consider vetoed legislation.

"A bill vetoed by the governor has never been passed after veto," Sparks said, " . . . there is no provision in the law whereby the legislature can reconsider such bills." He said the legislature did not have time to review the vetoes. "In most instances the bills are vetoed after the legislature has adjourned."

Other measures Sparks is grooming for or will support in the legislative hopper next month include:

1. A bill to amend the drivers' license law. This measure will not change the $1 a year fee for a driver's license but will require that the license be issued every two years for $2 instead a yearly renewal, as now practiced. He said the change would be a convenience to autoists and lighten the work load at drivers' license bureaus.

2. Legislation to increase hospital and doctor bill allowances for workers hurt in industrial accidents. Under a revision of the Workmen's Compensation law, $2,500 would be provided instead of $1,000, Sparks said. He said his labor legislation would also include provisions for a broader and more effective program of rehabilitating disabled workers. Such a plan, Sparks said, would tend to fit disabled workers on jobs they can hold instead of keeping them on welfare rolls.

3. Support a state-wide stock law to ban livestock from main highways. He said he would not introduce such a bill, as he understands other lawmakers plan to originate the measure.

4. Call for an amendment to the law that provides a share of the state tobacco tax for municipalities. He said the present law provides that the rebate be shared only by municipalities incorporated before 1950. He named Clarks and North Hodge as newly incorporated towns that cannot share in the tobacco tax under the present law.

5. As far as he knows, Sparks said, he would support the budget requests of all state institutions in his district, if the requests are recommended by the departments of education and institutions.

6. During the convention of the La. Police Jury Association here last week Sparks, in an address, said he would offer a bill to create a public expressway authority, whose function would be to build and operate super four-lane expressways at needed points over the state.

He said the function of the expressway authority would be simliar to the New Jersey and Pennsylvania turnpike authorities, established for the purpose of building, where feasible, toll roads, parkways and bridges under public ownership.

"Highway 80 and highway 90 are the only ones having much possibility of immediate development," Sparks said. These two routes are heavily travelled across north and south Louisiana.

Legislature Lukewarm To Grevemberg's Proposal To Probe Crime In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Col. Francis Grevemberg's headline-making bid for a "little Kefauver committee" may find sponsors in the Louisiana House. But the Legislature in recent years has killed similar moves.

The state police superintendent in a New Orleans speech urged creation of the legislative group to probe "close association" of the underworld and "some public officials."

It was Grevemberg's own idea —not the administration's.

He suggested the proposed committee investigate "not only the ramification of the crime syndicate in this state but also the cooperation of certain local officials with the syndidates."

Behind Grevemberg's words are the actions of a man who toppled the slot machine empire in this state.

There has been some reaction to his plea.

Rep. Lester Vetter of Coushatta says he intends to introduce a House resolution for an investigative committee, after conferring with other members and asking the Legislative Council to survey what other states have done.

In Shreveport, Rep. Algie D. Brown says although no one has mentioned the issue to him, he is "thinking about introducing a resolution . . . . I certainly think it would be a good idea."

Both men were unsuccessful in sponsoring similar moves in past sessions.

Brown, about the time the real Kefauver Committee warwhooped in New Orleans with its hearings, was unable to persuade the House to accept his proposal for a "little Kefauver committee," a phrase made popular then. Brown made his move in one of the last of the multiple special sessions under the Earl Long administration.

Vetter's 1953 resolution calling for an investigative committee to look into affairs of state officials and agencies came at a time when a senator had hurled charges against an administration highway official.

The lawmaker takes the view any member because of Legislative immunity can parade charges before a floor microphone.

"It is ridiculous," Vetter contends, "to have to listen to such charges without doing something to see that they are properly documented or giving the officials a chance to clear themselves.

"On the gambling proposition, Col. Grevemberg has implied some local officials have close associations with gamblers. The public should know about this."

Brown's resolution a few years earlier was patterned strictly on the Kefauver idea, designed to encourage lawmakers to investigate gambling and crime.

"Gambling," he says today, "cannot take place without public officials allowing it. Col. Grevemberg, as far as I can see, certainly has stamped out gambling."

"In view of Col. Grevemberg's statements and other events," he says, "such proposals may receive more favorable support now."

In the 1950 regular session, Rep. George Tessier of New Orleans was defeated when he proposed a legislative group to investigate whether public officials were misusing convict labor.

Lawmakers now contend a major factor killing all the measures was fear power would be abused.

In Tessier's words, "Legislators just don't trust each other . . . . there is an underlying fear personalities and politics will wreck the works."

A state law authorizes either House, when it wants, to compel attendance of witnesses or presentation of documents in an investigation "of any matter before them."

Plum Street In West Monroe To Be Blacktopped

Mayor J. Allan Norris, of West Monroe, announced last night that an agreement has been reached with the Department of Highways whereby Plum Street, which connects Natchitoches and Montgomery Streets, will be blacktopped next week.

Norris said a highway department crew has already located and begun work. He said the job would be completed next week.

The city has been in negotiations with the state for the past few months in an effort to have the street hard surfaced. The job will also include "about 100 feet at the end of Montgomery Street," the mayor said.

"This job will greatly benefit persons living in Ransom addition and relieve congestion a straight shot from the paper mill area going out west on Highway 80," Norris said.

He said the street would be hard-surfaced a width of "about 32 feet."

SEN. JAMES D. SPARKS

Further substantiating his contention that the legislature needs more time for routine bills, Sparks said that in the regular 60-day session provided under present law "bills with bad features are frequently passed because there is no way, during such a short period, to know the content of all these bills."

Another specification of the amendment would call for a more stern manner of dealing with gubernatorial vetoes. After the regular session legislators would reconvene for a short period ten days after the session to consider vetoed legislation.

"A bill vetoed by the governor has never been passed after veto," Sparks said, " . . . there is no provision in the law whereby the legislature can reconsider such bills." He said the legislature did not have time to review the vetoes. "In most instances the bills are vetoed after the legislature has adjourned."

Other measures Sparks is grooming for or will support in the legislative hopper next month include:

1. A bill to amend the drivers' license law. This measure will not change the $1 a year fee for a driver's license but will require that the license be issued every two years for $2 instead a yearly renewal, as now practiced. He said the change would be a convenience to autoists and lighten the work load at drivers' license bureaus.

2. Legislation to increase hospital and doctor bill allowances for workers hurt in industrial accidents. Under a revision of the Workmen's Compensation law, $2,500 would be provided instead of $1,000, Sparks said. He said his labor legislation would also include provisions for a broader and more effective program of rehabilitating disabled workers. Such a plan, Sparks said, would tend to fit disabled workers on jobs they can hold instead of keeping them on welfare rolls.

3. Support a state-wide stock law to ban livestock from main highways. He said he would not introduce such a bill, as he understands other lawmakers plan to originate the measure.

4. Call for an amendment to the law that provides a share of the state tobacco tax for municipalities. He said the present law provides that the rebate be shared only by municipalities incorporated before 1950. He named Clarks and North Hodge as newly incorporated towns that cannot share in the tobacco tax under the present law.

5. As far as he knows, Sparks said, he would support the budget requests of all state institutions in his district, if the requests are recommended by the departments of education and institutions.

6. During the convention of the La. Police Jury Association here last week Sparks, in an address, said he would offer a bill to create a public expressway authority, whose function would be to build and operate super four-lane expressways at needed points over the state.

He said the function of the expressway authority would be simiiliar to the New Jersey and Pennsylvania turnpike authorities, established for the purpose of building, where feasible, toll roads, parkways and bridges under public ownership.

"Highway 30 and highway 90 are the only ones having much possibility of immediate development," Sparks said. These two routes are heavily travelled across north and south Louisiana.

Legislature Lukewarm To Grevemberg's Proposal To Probe Crime In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Col. Francis Grevemberg's headline-making bid for a "little Kefauver committee" may find sponsors in the Louisiana House. But the Legislature in recent years has killed similar moves.

The state police superintendent in a New Orleans speech urged creation of the legislative group to probe "close association" of the underworld and "some public officials."

It was Grevemberg's own idea —not the administration's.

He suggested the proposed committee investigate "not only the ramification of the crime syndicate in this state but also the cooperation of certain local officials with the syndidates."

Behind Grevemberg's words are the actions of a man who toppled the slot machine empire in this state.

There has been some reaction to his plea.

Rep. Lester Vetter of Coushatta says he intends to introduce a House resolution for an investigative committee, after conferring with other members and asking the Legislative Council to survey what other states have done.

In Shreveport, Rep. Algie D. Brown says although no one has mentioned the issue to him, he is "thinking about introducing a resolution . . . . I certainly think it would be a good idea."

Both men were unsuccessful in sponsoring similar moves in past sessions.

Brown, about the time the real Kefauver Committee warwhooped in New Orleans with its hearings, was unable to persuade the House to accept his proposal for a "little Kefauver committee," a phrase made popular then. Brown made his move in one of the last of the multiple special sessions under the Earl Long administration.

Bedding Company Burglary Reported

Monroe city detectives Saturday were investigating a burglary of the Supreme Bedding and Manufacturing company which occurred "sometime Friday night." The thief took approximately $30 in currency and $5 in silver, according to a report of the burglary.

Entrance into the office was gained, according to Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert, through a window in the workshop section of the building. From the workshop the thief entered the office and looted the cash box.

Candidates for other offices in Ouachita are: commissioner of finance and utilities, Doyle Holstead and Billy Joe Wafer; commissioner of streets and parks, Larry Barnes and Billy Smith.

Judge, Paul Fleming and Bill Norris; and city marshal, Will Sam Shatzer and Ada Mae Hicks.

The chiefs of the police and fire departments will be appointed.

Competing for posts at Neville High are: commissioner of finance and utilities, Robert Cudd and Elstner Frazer; commissioner of street and parks, Pud Huckaby and Ray Townley; city judge, Philip Ambrose, Rex Dillingham, W. J. Haddad, Alvin Lipson and Johnnie Wendell.

First chief, Mike Boggs, Albert Ellis, Wiley Joe Gates, Palmer Jarrell, Tommy Johnson, Pat Patterson and Salley Smith.

Negro Held On Battery Charge

A Monroe Negro woman is being held in the Monroe city jail after being charged with aggravated battery on her common - law husband late Friday night. The charge was lodged against the woman when officers were called to investigate a cutting scrape.

According to a report made by investigating officers, Detective Sargeant Ralph Graves and Detective J. C. Bryan, Singleton was at the charity hopsital, when officers were notified. Upon investigation they were told that the woman had stabbed Singleton during a family fight.

Small Negro Girl Is Struck By Auto

A small Negro girl received slight bruises Saturday morning when she was knocked down by an automobile in the 600 block of DeSiard Street. The girl was given emergency treatment at the scene of the accident, and later went on to her home at 601 Stone Avenue.

The girl was identified as Ella Mae McWright, aged four.

According to Sgt. J. E. McMullen of the Monroe police department, who investigated the accident, the child reportedly ran into the path of an automobile driven by Robert Thomas, Negro. Thomas's address was given as Willow Lane, just off Buck Jones lane south of Monroe.

According to witnesses the automobile was traveling east approximately 20 miles an hour. No charges were filed in the case.

Damage Suit In Court Here Asks $2,800 For Two

A suit asking for $2,800 in damages was filed in the Ouachita Parish clerk of court office late Friday by a Monroe man. The suit will be heard in Fourth District Court.

Jeff Davis Price, 309 Collier Avenue, Monroe, entered the suit, asking for $300 damages for himself and $2,500 for his small child, David Arthur Price, who suffered injuries.

Defendant in the suit is the Providence Washington Insurance Co. and E. W. Futch, also of Monroe.

In the suit, Price contends that Futch is liable in a wreck which occurred on December 2, 1953. Price contends he was driving his 1941 Chevrolet in a southerly direction on South 14th Street. At the same time Futch was driving his 1950 Ford in an easterly direction on Adams Street, Futch, the suit contends, failed to stop before entering the intersection of Adams and North 14th Streets, where he collided with the Price automobile, which was demolished.

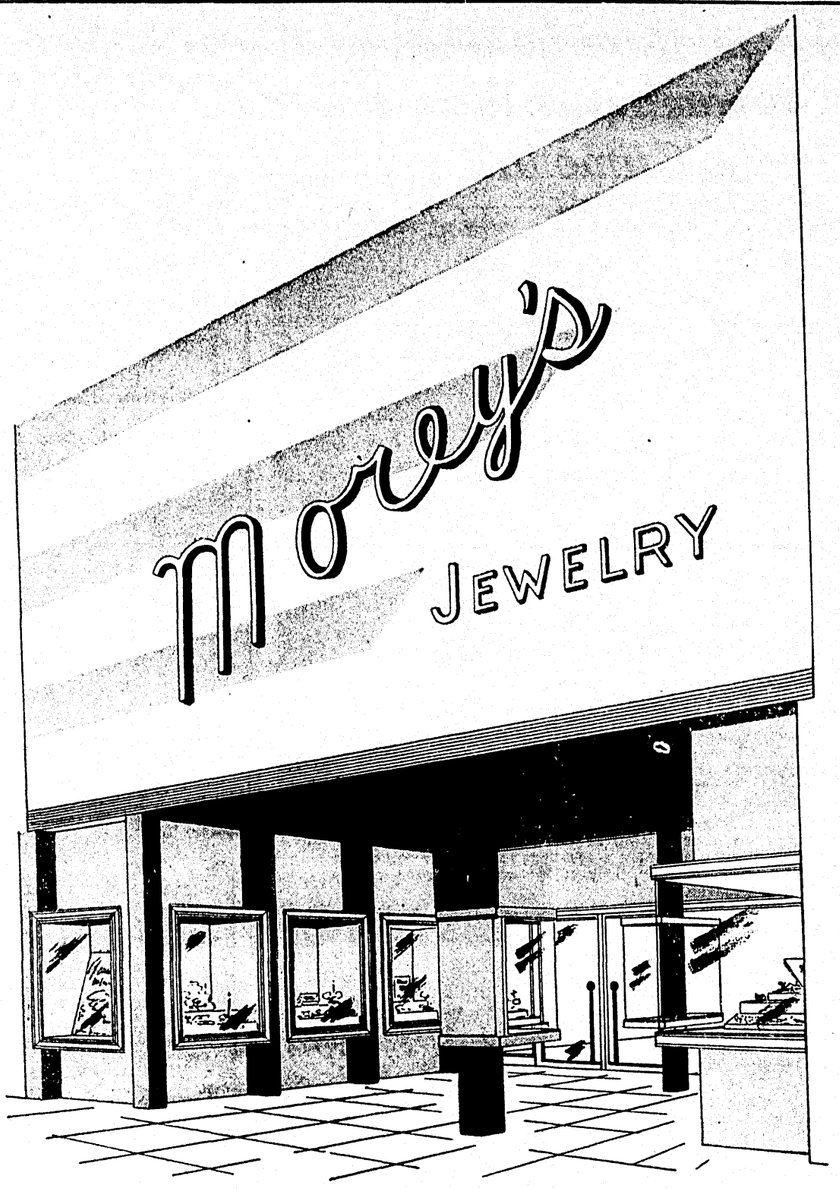
Price is alleging negligence on the part of Futch on the following counts: (1) by running a stop sign and failing to stop his car; (2) by going at a rapid rate of speed; (3) by failing to apply brakes in order to avoid the collision; and (4) by failing to keep the proper look out and watch for traffic ahead.



WILL HAVE MILLION-DOLLAR DISPLAY—When Morey's Jewelry Store opens in Monroe, it will feature as one of the opening-day specialities a display of more than one million dollars in jewelry. Carrying every fine line of nationally advertized jewelry merchandise, the interior of the store will proivde 2,750 square feet of sales area. Air conditioned throughout, the building will be fitted with custom built fixtures of walnut trimmed in bleached birch. Many of the fixtures will be self service units. The store will also have a diamond room allowing the customer to make his selection in private.

MEMPHIS, April 24 (AP) —Attorneys in a strip tease lawsuit today filed a petition to learn the names of the entire membership of a fashionable Cotton Carnival secret society which threw a stag party here last week.

The rare legal maneuver was filed in circuit court by counsel for a young mother who was arrested for doing a strip tease during the downtown hotel party.

Mrs. Shirley Ann Stough, 17, is suing the Spinx Secret Society for $25,000, claiming breach of contract on the ground the stag party was turned into a "public affair."

Mrs. Stough's suit said she was assured the party would be restricted to Spinx members and that she need not fear intervention by police. She forfeited $102 bond after her arrest.

The petition for discovery demands that a list of the names and addresses of every officer and member of the society be turned over to the court, so the plaintiff in the $25,000 suit will know who is liable to the charge.

Mrs. Stough's suit said she was offered $100 to do her act at the party. She accepted, she said, because she needed the money to pay a grocery bill.

State Police Report

Nine persons were arrested and charged with drunk driving by members of the Louisiana state police, Troop F, during the past week according to a report from troop headquarters. The nine persons were part of 31 persons apprehended during the period.

CAPT. VAN H. SHEPARD

Monroe Pilot Bails Out From Mile Up In Air

Plummeting himself in a parachut landing, made from his exploded jet plane 5,500 feet in the air, Capt. Van H. Shepard of Monroe, made a safe bailout near Dayton, Ohio the past week. He landed with only slight bruises and scratches as a result.

When more than a mile high, he encountered engine trouble and called a control tower to make report. But the next instant the engine caught fire and then he ejected himself from the cockpit, but by no means too soon for an explosion resulted almost as soon as he had left the plane.

The captain is son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shepard, 100 South McGuire Avenue, Monroe. He is a graduate of Neville and of Northeast State College.

He was home for a short stay about a year ago.

Local 'Officials' To Be Elected By Neville Students

Students of Ouachita Parish and Neville High Schools will vote on May 3 for student officials to rule the city on student government day. The election will be held throughout the day and is being held in cooperation with the Monroe-West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Contending for the post of mayor from Ouachita Parish High School are Elvis Stout and Bob Nix. A five - way contest is in prospect at Neville High, where Mike Cage, Lester Martin, Alton McCready, Bill McRainey and Skippy Portman will run.

Candidates for other offices in Ouachita are: commissioner of finance and utilities, Doyle Holstead and Billy Joe Wafer; commissioner of streets and parks, Larry Barnes and Billy Smith.

The chiefs of the police and fire departments will be appointed.

Competing for posts at Neville High are: commissioner of finance and utilities, Robert Cudd and Elstner Frazer; commissioner of street and parks, Pud Huckaby and Ray Townley; city judge, Philip Ambrose, Rex Dillingham, W. J. Haddad, Alvin Lipson and Johnnie Wendell.

First chief, Mike Boggs, Albert Ellis, Wiley Joe Gates, Palmer Jarrell, Tommy Johnson, Pat Patterson and Salley Smith.

Negro Held On Battery Charge

A Monroe Negro woman is being held in the Monroe city jail after being charged with aggravated battery on her common - law husband late Friday night. The charge was lodged against the woman when officers were called to investigate a cutting scrape.

According to a report made by investigating officers, Detective Sargeant Ralph Graves and Detective J. C. Bryan, Singleton was at the charity hopsital, when officers were notified. Upon investigation they were told that the woman had stabbed Singleton during a family fight.

Small Negro Girl Is Struck By Auto

A small Negro girl received slight bruises Saturday morning when she was knocked down by an automobile in the 600 block of DeSiard Street. The girl was given emergency treatment at the scene of the accident, and later went on to her home at 601 Stone Avenue.

The girl was identified as Ella Mae McWright, aged four.

According to Sgt. J. E. McMullen of the Monroe police department, who investigated the accident, the child reportedly ran into the path of an automobile driven by Robert Thomas, Negro. Thomas's address was given as Willow Lane, just off Buck Jones lane south of Monroe.

According to witnesses the automobile was traveling east approximately 20 miles an hour. No charges were filed in the case.

Damage Suit In Court Here Asks $2,800 For Two

A suit asking for $2,800 in damages was filed in the Ouachita Parish clerk of court office late Friday by a Monroe man. The suit will be heard in Fourth District Court.

Jeff Davis Price, 309 Collier Avenue, Monroe, entered the suit, asking for $300 damages for himself and $2,500 for his small child, David Arthur Price, who suffered injuries.

Defendant in the suit is the Providence Washington Insurance Co. and E. W. Futch, also of Monroe.

In the suit, Price contends that Futch is liable in a wreck which occurred on December 2, 1953. Price contends he was driving his 1941 Chevrolet in a southerly direction on South 14th Street. At the same time Futch was driving his 1950 Ford in an easterly direction on Adams Street, Futch, the suit contends, failed to stop before entering the intersection of Adams and North 14th Streets, where he collided with the Price automobile, which was demolished.

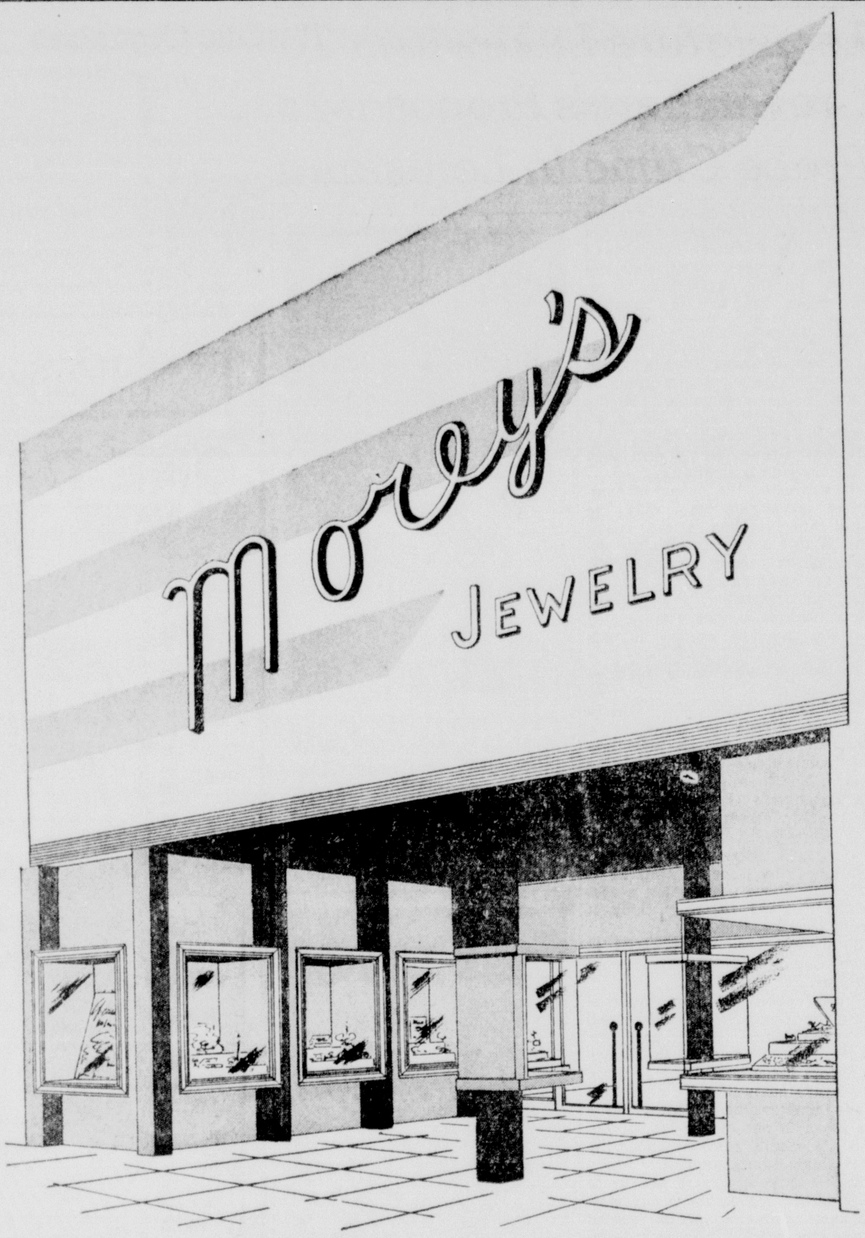
Price is alleging negligence on the part of Futch on the following counts: (1) by running a stop sign and failing to stop his car; (2) by going at a rapid rate of speed; (3) by failing to apply brakes in order to avoid the collision; and (4) by failing to keep the proper look out and watch for traffic ahead.



WILL HAVE MILLION-DOLLAR DISPLAY—When Morey's Jewelry Store opens in Monroe, it will feature as one of the opening-day specialities a display of more than one million dollars in jewelry. Carrying every fine line of nationally advertized jewelry merchandise, the interior of the store will proivde 2,750 square feet of sales area. Air conditioned throughout, the building will be fitted with custom built fixtures of walnut trimmed in bleached birch. Many of the fixtures will be self service units. The store will also have a diamond room allowing the customer to make his selection in private.

MEMPHIS, April 24 (AP) —Attorneys in a strip tease lawsuit today filed a petition to learn the names of the entire membership of a fashionable Cotton Carnival secret society which threw a stag party here last week.

The rare legal maneuver was filed in circuit court by counsel for a young mother who was arrested for doing a strip tease during the downtown hotel party.

Mrs. Shirley Ann Stough, 17, is suing the Spinx Secret Society for $25,000, claiming breach of contract on the ground the stag party was turned into a "public affair."

Mrs. Stough's suit said she was assured the party would be restricted to Spinx members and that she need not fear intervention by police. She forfeited $102 bond after her arrest.

The petition for discovery demands that a list of the names and addresses of every officer and member of the society be turned over to the court, so the plaintiff in the $25,000 suit will know who is liable to the charge.

Mrs. Stough's suit said she was offered $100 to do her act at the party. She accepted, she said, because she needed the money to pay a grocery bill.

CAPT. VAN H. SHEPARD

Monroe Pilot Bails Out From Mile Up In Air

Plummeting himself in a parachut landing, made from his exploded jet plane 5,500 feet in the air, Capt. Van H. Shepard of Monroe, made a safe bailout near Dayton, Ohio the past week. He landed with only slight bruises and scratches as a result.

When more than a mile high, he encountered engine trouble and called a control tower to make report. But the next instant the engine caught fire and then he ejected himself from the cockpit, but by no means too soon for an explosion resulted almost as soon as he had left the plane.

The captain is son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shepard, 100 South McGuire Avenue, Monroe. He is a graduate of Neville and of Northeast State College.

He was home for a short stay about a year ago.

Principal Of Oak Ridge At National Meet

OAK RIDGE, April 24 (Special) —J. P. Causey, principal of Oak Ridge High School is in Lexington, Ky., attending a three day session of a Committee on Preparation Programs for School Administrators.

This group is a part of the Southern States Cooperative Program in Educational Administration, a functioning division for research in Education, financed by the Kellogg Foundation. George Peabody College for Teachers is designated as the Program Center for the Southern Region.

The appointment of Causey to this important work was announced last week by Dr. Truman M. Pierce of Nashville, director of this Southern States Co-operative Program, and C. H. Archer of Princeton, W. Va., committee chairman. Knowledge of the field rather than geographical distribution influenced the selection of personnel.

Causey has conducted classes in School Administration at Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater, Okla., for the past three summers and will continue in that work during the summer of 1954. Last year while there on sabbatical leave preparing for his doctor's degree in the field of Educational Administration, he taught the same classes in the Graduate School and served as a consultant in the field.

UCPA Drive Is Set With Goal Of $45,000

"After several months of intensive working on the possibility of securing educational facilities for cerebral palsied children in northeast Louisiana, the Altrusa Club of Monroe - West Monroe, a service club of executive women, has found the answer to this need and has operated a school since November, 1953.

"The school, located at Selman Field, in a room obtained through the generosity of the parish school authorities, is devoted to teaching cerebral palsy children without cost to the parents. Any child of school age is entitled to attend school after they have been first examined and screened without cost by the medical staff, headed by Dr. Roy Kelly.

"Parents are invited to make an appointment with the medical advisory doctors and have their youngsters examined and registered with United Cerebral Palsy Association. The president of UCPA, J. Y. Pipes, or the secretary, Miss Ann Mickel, will be happy to assist in this procedure and they may be contacted at phone 3-8858.

"The Altrusa Club and the parents have recognized the need for some time for an answer to this long standing need in this area. This school for cerebral palsied children is the culmination of a great amount of hard and tireless work by the Altrusa Club members. They have worked in close cooperation with school authorities, parents and the United Cerebral Palsy Association of northeast Louisiana and the parents feel Altrusans have rendered a great service to some of the youngsters of this area who are attending school for the first time and who were unable to provide for themselves.

"The school has operated very modestly with one special speech teacher and one assistant. Plans are now in the making to enlarge the school facilities and staff for the September school opening. The UCPA drive which will begin on May 1 and continue throughout the month has as a goal $45,000, and funds derived from the drive will enable the school to enlarge its staff for the fall term.

"Speaking in behalf of Altrusa Club, Miss Lillie Glenn, said, "we are happy to have been partially responsible in securing a school for the cerebral palsied children in northeast Louisiana, a need which has existed for some time." Working with the association and parents, Altrusa Club members has sincerely tried to aid in the solution of the handicapped, and the school is one of the paramount aspects.'

"All citizens of the fifth district, northeast Louisiana and the Twin Cities are invited to visit the school, inspect the school and equipment any afternoon. There are now nine children enrolled in the classes taught by Mrs. Robert Brooks, special speech teacher from Ruston, La. and Mrs. C. W. Evans, her assistant."

K. Of C. To Hear Special Speaker

Felix Dugas, chairman of the youth expansion program, Baton Rouge, will discuss the youth program for the State of Louisiana at the weekly meeting of Council No. 1337, Knights of Columbus, Thursday. The meeting will be held in the K. of C. hall beginning at 7:30 p.m., A. F. (Tony) Canizaro, publicity chairman has announced.

All members of the council are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Principal Of Oak Ridge At National Meet

OAK RIDGE, April 24 (Special) —J. P. Causey, principal of Oak Ridge High School is in Lexington, Ky., attending a three day session of a Committee on Preparation Programs for School Administrators.

This group is a part of the Southern States Cooperative Program in Educational Administration, a functioning division for research in Education, financed by the Kellogg Foundation. George Peabody College for Teachers is designated as the Program Center for the Southern Region.

The appointment of Causey to this important work was announced last week by Dr. Truman M. Pierce of Nashville, director of this Southern States Co-operative Program, and C. H. Archer of Princeton, W. Va., committee chairman. Knowledge of the field rather than geographical distribution influenced the selection of personnel.

Causey has conducted classes in School Administration at Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater, Okla., for the past three summers and will continue in that work during the summer of 1954. Last year while there on sabbatical leave preparing for his doctor's degree in the field of Educational Administration, he taught the same classes in the Graduate School and served as a consultant in the field.

UCPA Drive Is Set With Goal Of $45,000

"After several months of intensive working on the possibility of securing educational facilities for cerebral palsied children in northeast Louisiana, the Altrusa Club of Monroe - West Monroe, a service club of executive women, has found the answer to this need and has operated a school since November, 1953.

"The school, located at Selman Field, in a room obtained through the generosity of the parish school authorities, is devoted to teaching cerebral palsy children without cost to the parents. Any child of school age is entitled to attend school after they have been first examined and screened without cost by the medical staff, headed by Dr. Roy Kelly.

"Parents are invited to make an appointment with the medical advisory doctors and have their youngsters examined and registered with United Cerebral Palsy Association. The president of UCPA, J. Y. Pipes, or the secretary, Miss Ann Mickel, will be happy to assist in this procedure and they may be contacted at phone 3-8858.

"The Altrusa Club and the parents have recognized the need for some time for an answer to this long standing need in this area. This school for cerebral palsied children is the culmination of a great amount of hard and tireless work by the Altrusa Club members. They have worked in close cooperation with school authorities, parents and the United Cerebral Palsy Association of northeast Louisiana and the parents feel Altrusans have rendered a great service to some of the youngsters of this area who are attending school for the first time and who were unable to provide for themselves.

"The school has operated very modestly with one special speech teacher and one assistant. Plans are now in the making to enlarge the school facilities and staff for the September school opening. The UCPA drive which will begin on May 1 and continue throughout the month has as a goal $45,000, and funds derived from the drive will enable the school to enlarge its staff for the fall term.

"Speaking in behalf of Altrusa Club, Miss Lillie Glenn, said, "we are happy to have been partially responsible in securing a school for the cerebral palsied children in northeast Louisiana, a need which has existed for some time." Working with the association and parents, Altrusa Club members has sincerely tried to aid in the solution of the handicapped, and the school is one of the paramount aspects.'

"All citizens of the fifth district, northeast Louisiana and the Twin Cities are invited to visit the school, inspect the school and equipment any afternoon. There are now nine children enrolled in the classes taught by Mrs. Robert Brooks, special speech teacher from Ruston, La. and Mrs. C. W. Evans, her assistant."

K. Of C. To Hear Special Speaker

Felix Dugas, chairman of the youth expansion program, Baton Rouge, will discuss the youth program for the State of Louisiana at the weekly meeting of Council No. 1337, Knights of Columbus, Thursday. The meeting will be held in the K. of C. hall beginning at 7:30 p.m., A. F. (Tony) Canizaro, publicity chairman has announced.

All members of the council are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Woman Talks To Jackson Reporter From Gas-Filled Room

Newsman Directs Rescue Of Would-Be Suicide

JACKSON, Miss., April 24 (AP)—When the woman's voice on the other end of the telephone said, "I want to report a death," Joe Penix, newsman on The Jackson Clarion-Ledger, figured it was another routine obituary.

But when she added, "It's my own," Penix couldn't believe his ears.

In a front page story in today's Clarion-Ledger, Penix told how he talked for 45 minutes to a woman in a gas-filled room until police could reach the apartment.

Joe said when he recovered his wits and decided the woman was on the level about her death, he scribbled a note to another reporter who attempted to have the call traced.

The woman told Joe she was Mrs. Elsie Agent, 27-year-old divorcee whose fourth husband recently had left her. She said she was tired of it all because of her troubles and because she had been in ill health.

Her fourth husband, whom she described as "no dam' good but I love him," was last heard from in Corpus Christi, Tex., she said.

Meanwhile, Joe was scribbling furiously, jotting down every scrap of information and passing it to another reporter in an effort to locate her. The telephone, in her apartment, was not in her name.

Joe said he "pleaded, wheedled, cajoled, used logic and commanded her to turn off the gas. But all it accomplished was to keep her talking."

Joe, sensing she just wanted to talk out her last minutes, suggested a minister but she rejected that idea.

"It's too late for that," she said. "I've been doing a lot of praying and I think it will do me some good.

"You know, I don't believe I'll suffer in Hell. I don't believe there is a Hell. We suffer for our deeds here. I've done a lot and suffered a lot and I think I'll go to Heaven.

"Tell them to lay me away in blue. Tell my mother and my husband that I love them."

Then she inadvertently gave Joe the clue he had been waiting for. She told him she had tried suicide before and had to have her stomach pumped out at Baptist Hospital. She even gave Joe the physician's name.

The other reporter grabbed the telephone, located the physician and described the case. He knew immediately who she was and supplied her address.

While the physician was driving over, the reporter notified police who dispatched a squad car.

Abruptly, the woman told Joe, "I think I'm going to just go off to sleep and never wake up. I'm so tired. After tonight, I'm going to have a nice long rest. Even if I go to Hell, I'm going to rest first."

Joe asked about the gas. The woman said she had it on full force. "It's taking a long time, though," she said. "I had it going for 30 minutes before I called you."

Then she held the telephone near the escaping gas so Joe could hear the ominous hiss.

"Please don't hang up yet," Joe pleaded.

"Uh-huh," she said and dropped the telephone.

Two minutes of silence elapsed as Joe waited and gas continued to fill the air-tight room.

Then, Joe could hear the noise of police officers breaking down the door.

The gruff voice of a patrolman told Joe, "Okay, the doc's here and she came out of it."

He said when the woman regained consciousness, she looked at him and said, "just because you're in uniform you don't have to wake up everybody."

After the doctor examined her, she was taken to city jail in protective custody. Early this morning, she was booked for investigation of attempted suicide and released to a sister.

Cerebral Palsy Group Plans For 'Telethon' Show

O. E. Moore, vice-president of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast Louisiana announced Saturday that the association has made tentative plans for a "telethon" to be broadcast over a local television station on the night of May 22-23 and which will probably star several Hollywood luminaries.

"Three stars have volunteered their services," Moore said, "and will most likely appear on the program."

Moore listed the screen stars as Forrest Tucker, Buddy Baer, and Robert Strouse. Strouse is the comedy star who appeared in "Stalag 17" and was nominated for a supporting "Oscar" by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for his role in that film.

The "telethon is planned to go on at 9:30 or 10 p.m. on the night of the 22nd and continue until the following day at noon. Moore said that he would attempt to obtain two other actors or actresses for the show or a well known female personality to sing and dance.

"This year, more than ever, we must try to put across to the public the work that the U.C.P.A. is doing," Moore said. "Cerebral palsy effects the youth of our nation and the need for funds to combat this malady are great."

J. Y. Pipes, president of the association, said, "We are confident that the citizens of the Fifth District will respond generously to this great and worthy cause."

The date for the beginning of the CP drive is set for May 1 and will continue throughout the month. The slogan for this year's drive is "Help Turn a Hopeless Life into a Hopeful One."

Samuel Rubin, Sr. has been named chairman of the drive along with Robert C. Downing who is chairman of advance gifts.

Kennedy-Lawford Wedding Attracts Bobby-Sox Crowd

NEW YORK, April 24—UP—Patricia Kennedy, daughter of millionaire Joseph P. Kennedy, married actor Peter Lawford Saturday in a wedding attended by 250 socialites and movie figures and 50 neighborhood housewives who slipped into church hours before the ceremony.

"Isn't he gorgeous," a girl shrieked as she and others pushed Lawford's bride aside to get closer to him.

The fans knocked the bride's cap and veil askew and then ran a block across Manhattan after the limousine carrying the couple to their reception at the Hotel Plaza.

According to police speeders in Monroe are decreasing in number since radar was put into operation here last Wednesday.

Saturday afternoon police spent 25 minutes checking vehicles on South Second street, during which 207 vehicles passed through the radar beam. Only four of those clocked were stopped by police for exceeding the speed limit. The equipment was then moved to South Grand street, where, during the next half hour, 147 vehicles passed through the invisible beam. Nine of the motorists were halted by police for exceeding the speed limit.

A Monroe police official remarked that the radar equipment already is well on the way to achieving its purpose, the reducing of the number of speeders in the city. "The radar," he said, "can be moved quickly, and with ease, from one location to another. Thus, motorists never know when they may be clocked by the electronic equipment, which records their speed on a graph."

He pointed out that most of the residents have been very cooperative, and are observing the speed limits. "However," he continued, "we still have quite a few drivers who seem to disregard the speed limits, either negligently or willfully, but they can almost be sure of being caught sooner or later. And they can be sure of being fined, since the graph is acceptable in court as evidence of their violation."

Piano Recital To Represent 3 High Schools

Three high schools of the Twin Cities will be represented in a piano recital to be given by the Music Department of Northeast State. The feature is scheduled Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on the campus and is open to the public.

Participating in the joint recital will be DeJuana McCormick of West Monroe High School, Terri Fields, Ouachita Parish, and Philip Ambrose, Neville High. The three are seniors and pupils of Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton of the Northeast State music faculty.

The young pianists have been active in musical organizations throughout their high school training and have received special recognition for achievements in music.

Friday evening's program comprises the following numbers:

Concerto in A minor — Op. 54 (Robert Schuman) by Philip Ambrose.

Orchestral parts on the second piano will be played by Mrs. Albritton in presenting Concerto in D major, Concerto in F major and Concerto in A minor-Op 54.

Rhee Predicts Geneva Talks To End In Failure

SEOUL, Sunday, April 25 (AP) — President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea can accept only one solution at the Geneva conference, starting tomorrow—withdraw Communist troops from North Korea, then hold a nationwide spring election under U.N. supervision.

He doesn't expect the Communists ever to agree to this, thinks they must be driven out by force.

He counts on the United States joining with South Korea in walking out of the Geneva conference if after the conference has wrestled with the Korean question for 90 days there has been no progress toward unification.

But South Korea will, however, fight any move to link the South Korean and Indochinese questions in a barter deal.

"Communism has never yielded a square inch of soil anywhere except as the result of armed force and there is not the slightest hint that there is, or ever will be, any change in the policy," Rhee said.

"The Soviet is bent upon world conquest and will never willingly sacrifice its hold on such a strategically useful territory as Korea."

Rhee expressed confidence that South Korea's "allies will stand behind us in the event of further hostility."

But he said if South Korea were abandoned, it could only try to fight on alone since "every Korean prefers the choice of death to that of continued division."

Rhee warned against any "fake withdrawal" of Communist troops from North Korea. He said this might be tried in order to lure U.N. troops into leaving South Korea and opening the way for a new attack.

APPEAR IN RECITAL—DeJuana McCormick and Philip Ambrose discuss plans for a musical feature scheduled Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on the Northeast State campus. The two, along with Terri Fields, all students of Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton of the college faculty, will be presented in piano recital which is open to the public. Northeast State Newspaper Rated As 'First Class'

The Pow Wow, Northeast State newspaper, received a "First Class" rating by Associated Collegiate Press, it was announced Saturday by Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, director of publications at the college.

Scoring was done by the critical service of ACP which judges college and university newspapers, yearbooks and magazines throughout the United States.

Decision of the award was based on an analysis of all issues of the newspaper published during the first semester of the current school year under the editorship of Shelby Morse, journalism major of Winnsboro.

During the years that the Pow Wow was published as a junior college newspaper it had All-American ratings for twenty consecutive times, a record unequaled by any junior college in the nation. Now the publication has stepped into competition with senior colleges.

Scoring was done this year on all phases of newspaper work, with attention also given to department pages.

Treatment of news copy, which received an "excellent" rating, won the following opinion of the judges: "You do a good job of handling copy with an eye toward maximum news values." News sources, balance and creativeness were termed "very good."

Sports rated among the highest scores in department pages. Both coverage and writing won "excellent," and the opinion, "You handle sports news well."

Editorials and editorial page features scored "very good." Features, including speech and interview stories also were termed "very good."

Wins Essay On Employment For Handicapped

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — Shirley Kreidler, of Trenton, N. J., today was announced as first place winner in the 1954 essay contest conducted by the President's committee on employment of the physically handicapped.

Miss Kreidler, a student at Trenton Central High School, wrote about a visit to a factory in her home town to win first prize of $1,000.

President Eisenhower will present the awards to Miss Kreidler and other winners at White House ceremonies next Friday as part of the April 23-30 exposition and parade of progress on rehabilitation and employment of the physically handicapped.

The Disabled American Veterans (DAV) provided the prize money and also is paying transportation and expenses of the winners to Washington.

M'Carthy-Army Row Dropped By NBC Television

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP) —The NBC television network said today it would no longer provide live coverage of the McCarthy-Army hearings in Washington. Other networks, however, will continue their radio and TV broadcasts.

An NBC spokesman who asked that he not be identified by name, said the television network did not wish to lose further revenue from commercial programs.

He said it "cost us a lot of money" to drop the commercial programs this week so as to give full live coverage several hours a day to the hearings.

"We have a great deal to lose," he added, and said the "good will of advertisers" also was involved.

"After all, they pay our salaries," said the spokesman.

He declined to give any figure as to what the network lost as a result of carrying the hearings two days this week. They are to be resumed Monday.

In the future, the NBC television network plans to present filmed highlights each evening.

The NBC radio network will continue live coverage, though the entire hearings each day may not be carried.

ABC radio and television will continue live coverage, though the entire hearings each day may not be carried.

Ike Flies Back To Capital Today After Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower today studied confidential data sent to him by Secretary of State Dulles on the Geneva conference on Indo-China and Koriea opening Monday.

Paris dispatches from Dulles reached the President at the Little White House at the Augusta National Golf Club as he neared the end of a work-and-play vacation which began April 13.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington tomorrow night, and the chief executive faces a full calendar Monday.

On that day's docket are the regular weekly conferences with Republican congressional leaders; meetings with Secretary of Defense Wilson, Defense Mobilization Chief Arthur Flemming and key economic advisers; and a conference and dinner meeting with state governors called to Washington to discuss drought, dust storm and highway problems.

The President also will go to Constitution Hall in the capital Monday for an informal talk at the annual convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The Dulles report to Eisenhower today dealt with the meeting the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty nations held in Paris yesterday, as well as the Geneva meetings starting Monday.

James C. Hagefty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower is "in touch with the secretary of state every day" whenever Dulles attends such meetings, and added that confidential data on both the NATO and Geneva conferences had been received by the President.

When the Paris NATO meeting ended yesterday, the foreign ministers issued a communique saying Soviet communism still aims at world domination and is continuing to build military strength.

Eisenhower cleaned up his work early this morning and then got in a round of golf with fellow members at the club.

Checks Stolen Here Retrieved By Police

Monroe detective captain H. B. Johnson yesterday retrieved a metal box containing $1,064.05 in waterlogged, but legible, checks from Mush Bayou. The checks were part of the loot taken in a recent burglary of the Wright Bendel Clinic.

Captain Johnson said George Dyer, who was apprehended and charged with the theft, showed him (Johnson) where the box containing the checks had been thrown after the cash had been removed. Yesterday Johnson and Dyer's brother went to the bayou and recovered the box.

"Please don't hang up yet," Joe pleaded.

"Uh-huh," she said and dropped the telephone.

Two minutes of silence elapsed as Joe waited and gas continued to fill the air-tight room.

Then, Joe could hear the noise of police officers breaking down the door.

The gruff voice of a patrolman told Joe, "Okay, the doc's here and she came out of it."

He said when the woman regained consciousness, she looked at him and said, "just because you're in uniform you don't have to wake up everybody."

After the doctor examined her, she was taken to city jail in protective custody. Early this morning, she was booked for investigation of attempted suicide and released to a sister.

Cerebral Palsy Group Plans For 'Telethon' Show

O. E. Moore, vice-president of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast Louisiana announced Saturday that the association has made tentative plans for a "telethon" to be broadcast over a local television station on the night of May 22-23 and which will probably star several Hollywood luminaries.

"Three stars have volunteered their services," Moore said, "and will most likely appear on the program."

Moore listed the screen stars as Forrest Tucker, Buddy Baer, and Robert Strouse. Strouse is the comedy star who appeared in "Stalag 17" and was nominated for a supporting "Oscar" by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for his role in that film.

The "telethon is planned to go on at 9:30 or 10 p.m. on the night of the 22nd and continue until the following day at noon. Moore said that he would attempt to obtain two other actors or actresses for the show or a well known female personality to sing and dance.

"This year, more than ever, we must try to put across to the public the work that the U.C.P.A. is doing," Moore said. "Cerebral palsy effects the youth of our nation and the need for funds to combat this malady are great."

J. Y. Pipes, president of the association, said, "We are confident that the citizens of the Fifth District will respond generously to this great and worthy cause."

The date for the beginning of the CP drive is set for May 1 and will continue throughout the month. The slogan for this year's drive is "Help Turn a Hopeless Life into a Hopeful One."

Samuel Rubin, Sr. has been named chairman of the drive along with Robert C. Downing who is chairman of advance gifts.

Demeter Frat Holds Initiation Ceremony

New members admitted to the national honorary agricultural fraternity were: John Hicks, Charles McCallum, C. J. Ballowe, Harry McKay, Johnny Barnes, Guy Pardue, Roy Fore, John Ensminger, Heyzie Schunfarber and Paul Brooks.

The banquet followed at the Trianon Restaurant. The principal address of the meeting was given by John A. Birdsong of Royal Feed and Seed Store. His speech dealt with the ways of advancement through specialization.

A feature of the banquet was the presentation of thirteen certificates of honorary membership to: Bryan King, W. E. Roan, John A. Birdsong, Everette Zeagler, B. H. Zeagler, E. H. Allen, W. A. Allen, J. G. Hammons, Gary Wimberly, James A. Noe, T. H. Caldwell, J. O. Willett and M. L. Johnson.

Kennedy-Lawford Wedding Attracts Bobby-Sox Crowd

NEW YORK, April 24—UP—Patricia Kennedy, daughter of millionaire Joseph P. Kennedy, married actor Peter Lawford Saturday in a wedding attended by 250 socialites and movie figures and 50 neighborhood housewives who slipped into church hours before the ceremony.

"Isn't he gorgeous," a girl shrieked as she and others pushed Lawford's bride aside to get closer to him.

The fans knocked the bride's cap and veil askew and then ran a block across Manhattan after the limousine carrying the couple to their reception at the Hotel Plaza.

According to police speeders in Monroe are decreasing in number since radar was put into operation here last Wednesday.

Saturday afternoon police spent 25 minutes checking vehicles on South Second street, during which 207 vehicles passed through the radar beam. Only four of those clocked were stopped by police for exceeding the speed limit. The equipment was then moved to South Grand street, where, during the next half hour, 147 vehicles passed through the invisible beam. Nine of the motorists were halted by police for exceeding the speed limit.

A Monroe police official remarked that the radar equipment already is well on the way to achieving its purpose, the reducing of the number of speeders in the city. "The radar," he said, "can be moved quickly, and with ease, from one location to another. Thus, motorists never know when they may be clocked by the electronic equipment, which records their speed on a graph."

He pointed out that most of the residents have been very cooperative, and are observing the speed limits. "However," he continued, "we still have quite a few drivers who seem to disregard the speed limits, either negligently or willfully, but they can almost be sure of being caught sooner or later. And they can be sure of being fined, since the graph is acceptable in court as evidence of their violation."

Rhee Predicts Geneva Talks To End In Failure

SEOUL, Sunday, April 25 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea can accept only one solution at the Geneva conference, starting tomorrow—withdraw Communist troops from North Korea, then hold a nationwide spring election under U.N. supervision.

He doesn't expect the Communists ever to agree to this, thinks they must be driven out by force.

He counts on the United States joining with South Korea in walking out of the Geneva conference if after the conference has wrestled with the Korean question for 90 days there has been no progress toward unification.

But South Korea will, however, fight any move to link the South Korean and Indochinese questions in a barter deal.

"Communism has never yielded a square inch of soil anywhere except as the result of armed force and there is not the slightest hint that there is, or ever will be, any change in the policy," Rhee said.

"The Soviet is bent upon world conquest and will never willingly sacrifice its hold on such a strategically useful territory as Korea."

Rhee expressed confidence that South Korea's "allies will stand behind us in the event of further hostility."

But he said if South Korea were abandoned, it could only try to fight on alone since "every Korean prefers the choice of death to that of continued division."

Rhee warned against any "fake withdrawal" of Communist troops from North Korea. He said this might be tried in order to lure U.N. troops into leaving South Korea and opening the way for a new attack.

Piano Recital To Represent 3 High Schools

Three high schools of the Twin Cities will be represented in a piano recital to be given by the Music Department of Northeast State. The feature is scheduled Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on the campus and is open to the public.

Participating in the joint recital will be DeJuana McCormick of West Monroe High School, Terri Fields, Ouachita Parish, and Philip Ambrose, Neville High. The three are seniors and pupils of Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton of the Northeast State music faculty.

The young pianists have been active in musical organizations throughout their high school training and have received special recognition for achievements in music.

Friday evening's program comprises the following numbers:

Concerto in A minor — Op. 54 (Robert Schuman) by Philip Ambrose.

Orchestral parts on the second piano will be played by Mrs. Albritton in presenting Concerto in D major, Concerto in F major and Concerto in A minor-Op 54.

APPEAR IN RECITAL—DeJuana McCormick and Philip Ambrose discuss plans for a musical feature scheduled Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on the Northeast State campus. The two, along with Terri Fields, all students of Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton of the college faculty, will be presented in piano recital which is open to the public. Northeast State Newspaper Rated As 'First Class'

The Pow Wow, Northeast State newspaper, received a "First Class" rating by Associated Collegiate Press, it was announced Saturday by Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, director of publications at the college.

Scoring was done by the critical service of ACP which judges college and university newspapers, yearbooks and magazines throughout the United States.

Decision of the award was based on an analysis of all issues of the newspaper published during the first semester of the current school year under the editorship of Shelby Morse, journalism major of Winnsboro.

During the years that the Pow Wow was published as a junior college newspaper it had All-American ratings for twenty consecutive times, a record unequaled by any junior college in the nation. Now the publication has stepped into competition with senior colleges.

Scoring was done this year on all phases of newspaper work, with attention also given to department pages.

Treatment of news copy, which received an "excellent" rating, won the following opinion of the judges: "You do a good job of handling copy with an eye toward maximum news values." News sources, balance and creativeness were termed "very good."

Sports rated among the highest scores in department pages. Both coverage and writing won "excellent," and the opinion, "You handle sports news well."

Editorials and editorial page features scored "very good." Features, including speech and interview stories also were termed "very good."

Wins Essay On Employment For Handicapped

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Shirley Kreidler, of Trenton, N. J., today was announced as first place winner in the 1954 essay contest conducted by the President's committee on employment of the physically handicapped.

Miss Kreidler, a student at Trenton Central High School, wrote about a visit to a factory in her home town to win first prize of $1,000.

President Eisenhower will present the awards to Miss Kreidler and other winners at White House ceremonies next Friday as part of the April 23-30 exposition and parade of progress on rehabilitation and employment of the physically handicapped.

The Disabled American Veterans (DAV) provided the prize money and also is paying transportation and expenses of the winners to Washington.

M'Carthy-Army Row Dropped By NBC Television

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The NBC television network said today it would no longer provide live coverage of the McCarthy-Army hearings in Washington. Other networks, however, will continue their radio and TV broadcasts.

An NBC spokesman who asked that he not be identified by name, said the television network did not wish to lose further revenue from commercial programs.

He said it "cost us a lot of money" to drop the commercial programs this week so as to give full live coverage several hours a day to the hearings.

"We have a great deal to lose," he added, and said the "good will of advertisers" also was involved.

"After all, they pay our salaries," said the spokesman.

He declined to give any figure as to what the network lost as a result of carrying the hearings two days this week. They are to be resumed Monday.

In the future, the NBC television network plans to present filmed highlights each evening.

The NBC radio network will continue live coverage, though the entire hearings each day may not be carried.

ABC radio and television will continue live coverage, though the entire hearings each day may not be carried.

Ike Flies Back To Capital Today After Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower today studied confidential data sent to him by Secretary of State Dulles on the Geneva conference on Indo-China and Koriea opening Monday.

Paris dispatches from Dulles reached the President at the Little White House at the Augusta National Golf Club as he neared the end of a work-and-play vacation which began April 13.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington tomorrow night, and the chief executive faces a full calendar Monday.

On that day's docket are the regular weekly conferences with Republican congressional leaders; meetings with Secretary of Defense Wilson, Defense Mobilization Chief Arthur Flemming and key economic advisers; and a conference and dinner meeting with state governors called to Washington to discuss drought, dust storm and highway problems.

The President also will go to Constitution Hall in the capital Monday for an informal talk at the annual convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The Dulles report to Eisenhower today dealt with the meeting the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty nations held in Paris yesterday, as well as the Geneva meetings starting Monday.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower is "in touch with the secretary of state every day" whenever Dulles attends such meetings, and added that confidential data on both the NATO and Geneva conferences had been received by the President.

When the Paris NATO meeting ended yesterday, the foreign ministers issued a communique saying Soviet communism still aims at world domination and is continuing to build military strength.

Eisenhower cleaned up his work early this morning and then got in a round of golf with fellow members at the club.

Checks Stolen Here Retrieved By Police

Monroe detective captain H. B. Johnson yesterday retrieved a metal box containing $1,064.05 in waterlogged, but legible, checks from Mush Bayou. The checks were part of the loot taken in a recent burglary of the Wright Bendel Clinic.

Captain Johnson said George Dyer, who was apprehended and charged with the theft, showed him (Johnson) where the box containing the checks had been thrown after the cash had been removed. Yesterday Johnson and Dyer's brother went to the bayou and recovered the box.

J. Craig Smith New President Of Cotton Institute

NEW ORLEANS, April 24 (AP)—The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute today urged that the U. S. "introduce realism into its foreign trade policy" and insist that other nations match "its 16 years of trade liberalization."

At the closing session of its three day meeting here today, the institute also elected new officers and heard House Speaker Joseph W. Martin warn against economic "gloom and doom peddlers."

New officers elected included J. Craig Smith of Sylacauga, Ala., president; A. K. Winger of Albemarle, N. C., first vice president; F. E. Grier of Greenwood, S.C., second vice president; Robert C. Jackson of Washington, D.C., executive vice president; and F. S. Love of Charlotte, N.C., secretary.

In its recommendations on the U.S. foreign trade policy, the institute urged the administration to withhold "further tariff concessions from those countries" which have not granted equal concessions to this country.

The institute also asked that:

1. The U.S. "cooperate actively" to reestablish currency convertibility in those countries that are prepared for it.

2. Tariff concessions be generalized only to those countries that give "the most - favored - nation" treatment to the U.S.

In his talk, Martin rapped the "merchants of pessimism" who have over-emphasized "the unfavorable factors which do unquestionably exist in the economy."

Martin said the nation is undergoing a "transition from 14 years of war" and predicted that "by the time this Congress adjourns next summer, the main structure of the administration program will be complete."

"I predict the people of America will receive it with resounding approval" he added.

The institute also approved resolutions opposing a proposal that would enable foreign industry to "undersell American-made textile products," and asked for a tax program that would "permit taxpayers to elect depreciation of productive equipment on the basis of its useful life as determined by them."

Sam Rayburn To Seek Reelection

BONHAM, Tex., April 24—UP—House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn announced Saturday through his office here that he would seek re-election to the fourth congressional district for his 22nd term.

Rayburn was first elected to Congress in 1912 and has won each two years since then. His only announced opponent thus far is A. G. McRae of Bonham, a former employe of the Texas Power & Light Co.

Bill To Correct Tax Abuses On Butane Readied

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 24—UP—A bill designed to correct widespread abuses of the present state taxes on butane, propane and diesel fuel will be considered at the regular session of the legislature in May, Harry Huber, of Lake Charles, president of the Louisiana Oil Marketers Association, predicted today.

Huber explained that the present system of tax collection for these fuels opens the door to many abuses and in some cases the tax on fuels used in vehicles on the highways is never received by the state.

Tax experts report that the present system of tax collections for these fuels is bringing the state approximately $55,000 per month, whereas between $115,000 and $120,000 should be coming into state funds, based on actual sales of these fuels, Huber said.

An improvement in the collection system would add upward of $600,000 annually to state revenues with no change in the present tax rate of 7 cents per gallon on these fuels, Huber said.

"The present law pertaining to these fuels provides for collection of these taxes by the user-dealer, in most cases the little service station or retailer," Huber said. "Hundreds of little businesses have been given the responsibility of collecting the tax and in turn paying it to the state. The result has been extreme difficulty in administration of tax collections."

A tentative bill, as now drafted, would plug up these loopholes by providing that the wholesale distributor would collect the tax and in turn pay collections to the state. These distributors would be licensed and bonded.

Tax experts report that the present system of tax collections for these fuels is bringing the state approximately $55,000 per month, whereas between $115,000 and $120,000 should be coming into state funds, based on actual sales of these fuels, Huber said.

An improvement in the collection system would add upward of $600,000 annually to state revenues with no change in the present tax rate of 7 cents per gallon on these fuels, Huber said.

"The present law pertaining to these fuels provides for collection of these taxes by the user-dealer, in most cases the little service station or retailer," Huber said. "Hundreds of little businesses have been given the responsibility of collecting the tax and in turn paying it to the state. The result has been extreme difficulty in administration of tax collections."

A tentative bill, as now drafted, would plug up these loopholes by providing that the wholesale distributor would collect the tax and in turn pay collections to the state. These distributors would be licensed and bonded.

Man Who Hanged Self Found To Have $100,000

NYACK, N.Y., April 24 (AP)—The secret hoard of a small candy store owner who hanged himself Wednesday climbed to more than $100,000 today, with no claimants—yet.

A safe deposit box rented by the dead man, Raymond Jones, at the Nyack Bank and Trust Co., yielded $10,000 in government bonds and $10,000 in public utility stocks.

Rockland County Treasurer Salvatore J. Cianimino opened the box after police earlier had found $83,174 stuffed in cigar boxes in the tiny West Nyack store and in three bank accounts.

Cianimino said no will had been found, and no clues turned up as to why the 50-year-old bachelor and veteran of World War II killed himself. Authorities said Jones had no known relatives.

Telephone calls, inquiring about Jones, have started to come in from all sections of the country, Cianimino said. He added no one was claiming relationship with Jones yet but said "it won't be long."

It was children, curious about why the store was closed, who found the body, hanging from a stairway railing around back.

Man With Knife Buried In Brain Has Headache

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP)—A victim of a Skid Row pool hall attack was brought to Emergency Hospital last night with a three-inch knife blade driven into his head.

The skull of the victim was cut open and the knife blade removed by hospital surgeons who reported the operation "successful."

He was brought to the hospital with only the knife handle protruding from a wound above his left eye. He was conscious and able to talk and see and move without difficulty.

Identifying himself only as Eddie Jennings, 40, he complained only of a slight headache. But, he told doctors, "I'd like to get this knife out of my head."

Doctors found the knife had pierced the skull case and come to rest against the carotid artery, the main vessel bringing blood to the brain.

Atomic-Powered Planes Foreseen In Ten Years

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 24 (AP)—Within 10 years bombers powered by atomic energy will be flying and will lead not too much later to supersonic airliners carrying passengers coast to coast in less than two hours.

That's the prediction today of Hall L. Hibbard, vice president in charge of engineering for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. He foresees the airliners flying two to three times the speed of sound or from 1,300 to 2,000 m.p.h.

The Air Force has announced that design development contracts for A-powered planes have been awarded to both Consolidated-Vultee and Boeing, but no construction contracts have been given.

Hibbard told the California wing of the Air Force Assn. the powerful A-planes will look little different than advanced types using modern piston and jet engines and told of a new concept of divided shielding to provide antiradiation safeguards.

Head Of Gannett Newspaper Chain Succumbs In N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP) —Guy P. Gannett, who operated a group of newspapers and radio stations in Maine, died in Doctors' Hospital here tonight of a heart ailment. He was 72.

Gannett was taken to the hospital two days ago when he suffered an attack while attending sessions of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

He was stricken Thursday morning in his hotel room. A slight improvement in his condition was reported yesterday but tonight he took a turn for the worse and died shortly before 8 p.m.

Gannett acquired four dailies and a Sunday newspaper between 1921 and 1929. Later, he entered the radio and television fields.

The Guy Gannett Publishing Co., of which he was president and principal owner, puts out the Portland, Maine, Press Herald (morning), Evening Express and Sunday Telegram; the daily Kennebec Journal (morning) at Augusta, Maine, and the Waterville, Maine, morning Sentinel.

Gannett also was president and chief owner of the Guy Gannett Broadcasting Services which operates radio station WGAN and television station WGAN-TV, both in Portland.

Husband Of Slain Woman Succumbs

NEW ORLEANS, April 24—UP—Montgomery Evans III, a banker's son whose estranged wife was killed by a Negro handyman in Connecticut last year, was found dead Saturday in his room at an exclusive downtown apartment house.

Evans, 56, son of a Norristown, Pa., banker, apparently died "from natural causes," the Orleans parish coroner's office said. An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

Evans' wife, Penny Coates Evans, 30, was killed by William Davis in her Westport Home Jan. 26, 1953, during a drinking bout that ended in an argument over money. Davis is serving a life sentence.

Evans came here last September and spent his time writing. He fell down on a street several days ago, but appeared to be uninjured.

In his room, officers found parts of a manuscript titled "Around the World with Thirst." Earlier, Evans had written a book called "Prodigal Son."

Republicans Of State Say Party Is Dwindling

BATON ROUGE, April 24 (AP) — A group of about 30 Louisiana Republicans blamed themselves, congressional leadership and national committeeman John Minor Wisdom for dwindling GOP registration in the state.

"Every day we're losing instead of gaining members," said Mrs. Violet B. Allen of New Orleans, national Republican committeewoman for Louisiana. "We've got to find out why and do some thing about it."

Harrison G. Bagwell, unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor two years ago, blamed Wisdom for lack of organization in the state and said Republican leaders in Congress were "sacrificing a two-party system in the South to win support of southern Democrats for Eisenhower's program."

Wisdom and Bagwell had a political falling out shortly after the Presidential election, although both had worked together to seat the Louisiana Eisenhower delegation at the Republican National Convention in a battle with the state's old guard Taft faction.

Bagwell said he called the meeting to "determine where we go from here. This is not an official meeting of any kind and I have no official status, but we are meeting as interested Republicans."

He urged the party to take a stand on statewide issues like welfare, the stock law, bond proposals and the 10-year industrial tax exemption, and suggested forming a public relations committee to make known party views at the coming session of the state Legislature.

The former gubernatorial candidate accused Wisdom of trying to build "a personal following instead of a two-party system" and also of limiting organizational efforts to New Orleans.

M'Carthy Plans Test Cases On 5th Amendment

MILWAUKEE, April 24 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told a group of newspaper women today he proposes to start a number of test contempt cases against witnesses who invoked Fifth Amendment immunity to questions about espionage activity after they denied being espionage agents.

The Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution provides that a person may not be required to give evidence which might tend to self-incrimination.

A number of witnesses before McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee have invoked Fifth Amendment privilege in refusing to answer questions.

McCarthy in a 45-minute off-the-cuff luncheon session with some 60 members of the Wisconsin Women's Press Club cited Harry Hyman as an example.

McCarthy said, "Take, for example a man like Harry Hyman, who comes before the committee. He is under oath, and he volunteers the information that he is not an espionage agent."

McCarthy said his position is "that once a witness has answered a question to the effect that he was not an espionage agent, that then he has waived the Fifth Amendment privilege insofar as the entire area of espionage is concerned, and that, therefore, when you question a man about specific acts of espionage, and they refuse to answer, that he should be cited for contempt on each different count.

"Now, I propose to make a number of test cases on this," McCarthy declared, and added "I have reason to believe the Senate committee will go along with me. I have discussed it with both Democrats and Republicans on my committee. I have discussed it with a number of senators from both sides of the aisle, and if we can narrow it down, the Fifth Amendment, in this fashion, it will mean we can decimate the Communist movement, oh, I think, much more badly then it has been decimated since it became active in this country."

The Wisconsin senator said he hoped to begin these test cases "once we get through with this red minnow burlesque we are engaged in now." He was referring to the subcommittee's present hearings into his dispute with top Army offcials icluding claims he exercised undue pressure to obtain a commission for G. David Schine, an unpaid committee consultant until his induction into the Army as a private.

Plans Are Made For Observance

OAK GROVE, April 24 (Special) —Plans were well underway here today for staging an Armed Forces Day parade May 15, it was reported by army Recruiting Sergeant S. L. Harrison of Oak Grove.

Groundwork for the event, which will be jointly sponsored by Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion organizations of Bastrop and Oak Grove, was laid Friday night at a meeting here of representatives of those groups.

Also attending the meeting were persons from Delhi and Winnsboro, as well as the VFW Ladies Auxiliary from Bastrop. Mayor Donald Fiske of Oak Grove greeted the visitors.

It was suggested at the meeting by Commander Harvey Philley of the American Legion at Oak Grove, and VFW officials, that Charles Cox, popular resident here, be nominated as chairman of the Armed Forces Day committee from West Carroll Parish.

Missing Children Are Found Asleep

RIVERSIDE, N. M., April 24 —UP— Forty policemen, firemen and volunteer searchers returned from an all-night search of the Rio Grande near here Saturday to find three missing children they feared had drowned sound asleep in an abandoned house near their home.

Said weary State Police Trooper Martin Vigil, who had directed the night-long search: "This isn't the first time we have turned out to look for those kids. Last time we found them asleep in a movie theater."

HOW TO CHOOSE A Power Mower!
★ SIZE OF YOUR LAWN
Determines the size of your mower. Don't take anything less than an 18" mower. CONSIDER THE HORSEPOWER AND NUMBER OF CYCLES IN ENGINE.
★ TYPE OF LAWN
Is it hilly, level, full of trees, shrubs and flower beds? Should you have rotary or reel blades? Gasoline or electric?
★ BRAND OF MOWER
★ PRICE
Cost is important but don't consider the price alone. You know price and value are two different things.
★ SERVICE
What seems like a good buy today may be a headache tomorrow without proper service. Shop all over town . . . investigate thoroughly for the best mower . . . at the best price and where service is available. That investigation will lead you to Howard Griffin.

State Funeral Directors Meet Here Tomorrow

The Louisiana State Funeral Director's Association will begin their three-day convention here tomorrow, according to Thomas Mulhearn, convention chairman.

Featured speaker for the convention will be Howard C. Raether, executive secretary for the National Funeral director's Association of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with which organization the state association is affiliated.

Registration for the convention begins tomorrow at the Virginia Hotel headquarters. A cocktail party will be held tomorrow night and business sessions will begin on Tuesday. Also planned is a barbecue Tuesday night and a dinner dance and banquet Wednesday night. The barbecue will take place at Bernstein Park.

Entertainment for the ladies accompanying their husbands will consist of a luncheon Tuesday and a style show and boat excursion on Wednesday.

Plans Are Made For Observance

OAK GROVE, April 24 (Special) —Plans were well underway here today for staging an Armed Forces Day parade May 15, it was reported by army Recruiting Sergeant S. L. Harrison of Oak Grove.

Groundwork for the event, which will be jointly sponsored by Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion organizations of Bastrop and Oak Grove, was laid Friday night at a meeting here of representatives of those groups.

Also attending the meeting were persons from Delhi and Winnsboro, as well as the VFW Ladies Auxiliary from Bastrop. Mayor Donald Fiske of Oak Grove greeted the visitors.

It was suggested at the meeting by Commander Harvey Philley of the American Legion at Oak Grove, and VFW officials, that Charles Cox, popular resident here, be nominated as chairman of the Armed Forces Day committee from West Carroll Parish.

Missing Children Are Found Asleep

RIVERSIDE, N. M., April 24 —UP— Forty policemen, firemen and volunteer searchers returned from an all-night search of the Rio Grande near here Saturday to find three missing children they feared had drowned sound asleep in an abandoned house near their home.

Said weary State Police Trooper Martin Vigil, who had directed the night-long search: "This isn't the first time we have turned out to look for those kids. Last time we found them asleep in a movie theater."

HOW TO CHOOSE A Power Mower!

★ SIZE OF YOUR LAWN
Determines the size of your mower. Don't take anything less than an 18" mower. CONSIDER THE HORSEPOWER AND NUMBER OF CYCLES IN ENGINE.

★ TYPE OF LAWN
Is it hilly, level, full of trees, shrubs and flower beds? Should you have rotary or reel blades? Gasoline or electric?

★ BRAND OF MOWER

★ PRICE
Cost is important but don't consider the price alone. You know price and value are two different things.

★ SERVICE
What seems like a good buy today may be a headache tomorrow without proper service. Shop all over town . . . investigate thoroughly for the best mower . . . at the best price and where service is available. That investigation will lead you to Howard Griffin.

Cotton States Primed For 53rd Season

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Cotton States League games will be played at the same old stand in Monroe this year, but there the resemblance ends. Everything else is new—club owners, manager, players, even the name of the club has been changed to Twin Cities Sports to include West Monroe, and the owners frown upon use of "Monroe Sports" in tagging their ball club.

The first thing the 330 new stockholders did after taking over the franchise from Shreveport owners was to hire Edward Marvin Head, whose home is in West Monroe, as field manager and general manager, taking over jobs held respectively by Charley Harrington and Paul Manasseh under the Shreveport regime.

Head came to the Sports after two years as manager of the Mobile Bears, a manager since 1947 in the Brooklyn Dodger system, and beginning his sixteenth season in organized baseball that began with Abbeville in the Evangeline League and ended as an active player with Brooklyn.

Head's biggest job is building a club to improve on the Sports' 1953 last place finish. We can see where he has made improvements, but he says the job isn't done.

"We've still got a lot of work to do before we have a solid ball club," Head explains. "We may have to go along with some of the players we have for the first few weeks of the season until we can find the help we need."

The biggest search of late has been for a first baseman and a lefthanded hitting outfielder. The recent purchase of C. J. Fontana, a Monroe product, from the Cleveland organization could answer both problems. Fontana, developed as a first baseman in high school and Legion Junior ball here, has played only the outfield in pro ball for the last three seasons. He's ready to play first if that's where Ed needs him, but if another first sacker can be found, C. J. wants to take to the outfield.

Others looking good for the infield are "Buddy" Martin at second, Herman Herzog at shortstop, and Dave Waters at third. Martin and Herzog are rookies, and Waters hit .296 in 81 games with Birmingham of the Southern Association last year before being sent to Norfolk of the Piedmont League for the remainder of the season.

The catching appears set with Sam Chetta, who played in the Three-I League and Western Association, and Howard "Dutch" Falatic, who caught for the now defunct Natchez team of the Cotton States last year.

Billy Halley, of Farmerville, who pitched with Greenwood two seasons ago, looks like the No. 1 pitcher at present. Other pitchers are Ernie Jordan, Lake Providence, formerly with Great Falls, Mont.; Russell Faulk, Winnsboro, who was with Monroe briefly last season; Ed Masoner, a rookie from Baton Rouge; Nick Agnos, Chicago, who played with Janesville, Wis., and Danville, Ill.; Barnes Hayes, a Farmerville rookie; Joe McBreen, Philadelphia, who had a 15-4 record at Barksdale Field last year; Sam Adkisson, briefly with Greenville in the Cotton States before entering service in 1950; and Paul Cothran, rookie from Memphis.

Heading the outfield list at present are Paul Flores, purchased from Clovis, N. M., where he was a third baseman in the West Texas-New Mexico League; and a trio of rookies, Charles Forbes of Millington, Tenn.; Jimmy Phillips of Okay, Ark.; and Amos Chrisco, Stella, Ark., the latter also an infielder who was an all-state shortstop for Arkansas semi-pro ball last season.

The 1954 season gets its official start Tuesday night with the Sports at El Dorado, Hot Springs at Pine Bluff, and Meridian at Greenville. The clubs swap sites for the second "openers" Thursday night.

With all the clubs showing alterations its difficult to figure their strength but we look for a finish in this order—Pine Bluff, Meridian, Twin Cities, Greenville, El Dorado, and Hot Springs. If that hitting power being shown by the Sports in spring work stands up and the pitching comes through, the Sports could be the club out in front.

Jack Curtis In Main; Chief In Semi-Final

The wrestling fans will be able to make choices and comparisons Tuesday night at Kallio's Arena, when the two most popular grapplers in recent years appear in the feature and semi-final matches.

Jack Curtis, former light heavyweight champion, and all-time fanfavorite on the Monroe mat programs, takes on the Alaska Wolf Man in the main match, slated for the best of three falls, with a 90-minute time limit.

It has been many months since the elder Curtis has appeared here, and he goes up against a rugged opponent in his inaugural. The Wolf has won his last two matches at the arena, decisively beating Pat "Big Boy" Cronin two weeks ago and pairing with Millie Stafford to win a mixed tag tussle last week. The bewhiskered lad is a burly wrestler, with a muscular build and a total disregard for rules. A few Curtis slugs and question-mark holds should slow him down pronto.

Dusek, who disposed of big Charro Aztec with ease in last week's semi, will find himself facing an entirely different type of opponent this week. Usually a scientific wrestler, it should be a battle between Dusek's strength and the Chief's chops and hammerlocks.

Trice Tames Yanks On 6 Singles As A's Win, 1-0

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (AP)—Bob Trice, 25-year-old rookie righthander today shut out the New York Yankees with 6 singles as the Athletics won a 1-0 thriller on Joe DeMaestri's fifth inning home run off Harry Byrd.

Eddie Joost, the only playing manager in the majors, made his first appearance of the season at third base for the Athletics, who opened a three-game series with the Yanks.

Joost, 37, apparently had no choice but to play. Both his available third basemen are on the injured list—Pete Suder with a pulled leg muscle and rookie Jimmy Finigan with a chipped finger.

He permitted only two Yankees to reach third base—one was ex-Mackman Eddie Robinson, who singled in the fifth and another time when Bill Skowron ran for Robinson after the first baseman walked in the seventh. It was Trice's second straight victory.

Little Leaguers Start Workouts Next Saturday

The Northside League conducts its tryouts first with a morning session beginning at 10 o'clock, and the Southside League will hold its tryouts beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Northside loop is open to all boys eight to twelve years old living north of DeSiard Street and east of Powell Avenue to Texas Avenue. The Southside takes its talent from the area south of DeSiard, and west of Powell and south of the Texas Avenue extension.

NEED MANAGER

One Northside club in Little League baseball needs a manager, and Jack Hesketh, secretary of Little League here, last night said any man interested in handling a team is invited to apply to the board of directors by registering at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Registration of boys is still in progress at the Monroe Recreation Center, and all boys are required to show their birth certificates or a certified statement of birth upon registration.

All Little League boys of last year who are still eligible also must have their certificates. They can turn them in to their managers when practice starts.

Merrins, Parker Head Favorites In College Golf

ATHENS, Ga., April 24 (AP)—Eddie Merrins, a stubby shotmaker from Louisiana State, and Arnold Palmer, big gun of the Wake Forest team, head a fast field entered in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament starting Thursday.

Merrins captured the title last year with a two-under par 286 for the 72 holes, nudging out Hillman Robbins of Memphis State and Stan Mosel of North Texas State by one stroke.

Palmer's game is sharper than ever. He has been shooting regularly in the middle and high 60s.

Entries from 26 colleges and universities already have been received from the tournament, rated second only to the National Inter-collegiate in college golf.

North Texas State, which walked off with the team championship the past three years, will be back trying for its fourth title.

The Southeastern Conference individual and team championships are decided during the tournament. Merrins holds the individual crown and he and his L.S.U. mates own the conference team championship.

Entries have been received from North Carolina, Wake Forest, Kentucky, Rollins, Florida State, Alabama, Southwestern (Memphis), Presbyterian, Duke, North Texas, Miami, L.S.U., Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Spring Hill (Mobile), Florida, Sewanee, Clemson, Memphis State, Auburn, Tennessee, Tulane, Mercer, Georgia, Georgetown and Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia.

Correlation Wins Wood Memorial To Return $6.70

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Correlation, California-bred Derby favorite, easily won the $112,750 Wood Memorial Stake at Jamaica today as the 4-5 favorite, Fisherman, finished second.

High Gun was third. War Piper, the early pace maker, finished fourth.

This was the east's major preview for the Kentucky Derby to be run in Louisville next Saturday and all four of the top finishers are eligible for the big race.

Correlation went off as the second choice at 2-1 and paid $6.70, $2.80 and $2.60. Fisherman paid $2.50 and $2.20. High Gun returned $3.70. The time for the mile and an eighth was 1:50 compared to the track record of 1:49 1-5.

Correlation, owned by Robert S. Lytle, was running very easily a the end. Fisherman, the C. V. Whitney hope, started badly and was in last place going down the back stretch. But the Phalanx colt circled the field on the bend for home. Fisherman was easily the second best but did not threaten the winner.

High Gun, owned by the King Ranch, ran with the pace until the quarter pole and closed with enough speed to pass War Piper.

All horses carried 126 pounds, the Derby weight, and of the eight starters only Ogden Phipps' Privacy is not eligible for the Derby. The other starters were Next Page, Palm Tree and Mel Leavitt.

Association Of Softball Umps Will Organize

Organization of an association of softball umpires, inspired by the need of officials for Monroe's summer softball program is expected to be completed at a meeting of umpires and prospective umpires next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Earl Alpha, veteran of several seasons as a softball umpire here, was named last week as chairman of the group at a preliminary organizational meeting.

Jack Hesketh, recreation director, said all men interested in umpiring softball games here are invited to attend the Wednesday meeting. The association of umps will strive for better understanding of the rules and uniform interpretation.

Winnipeg's Bombers Obtain Evan Slonac

Tuesday Openers At Greenville, El Dorado, Pine Bluff

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As would be expected in class C baseball, managers of all six Cotton States League clubs still will be looking for players when the season opens Tuesday night.

Some may be waiting even after the first two or three weeks of the race because the needed help won't arrive until teams of higher classifications cut their rosters.

Already, however, the circuit has more than the normal share of new faces.

Teams most nearly set for the season openers appear to be El Dorado, Greenville and Pine Bluff.

The El Dorado Oilers will be built around more than a dozen holdovers from 1953, including pitchers Clyde Baldwin, Chuck Slaber, Bill Brightwell and Bob Brown and dependable outfielder Pel Austin.

Many of Greenville's players are familiar to the league but new to their home town. The club was moved to Greenville from Jackson by owner Willis Hudlin since the close of the '53 campaign.

Greenville's pitching staff includes Paul Jones (15-8), Harold Renn (11-6), and Maurice Kelly (10-10) from Jackson. Also from Jackson came infielders Dick Eaton and Bob Adams and outfielder Banks McDowell.

Their tie-up with the Baltimore Orioles has given the Pine Bluff Judges virtually a complete turnover in personnel, but manager Frank Lucchesi figures his club this year is stronger than last season's third-placer.

Aside from Lucchesi, in centerfield, and pitcher Archie Moore, all of the Judges are newcomers. The top hitter in spring exhibitions has been first baseman Clifford Mansfield, who batted .302 for Jesup in the class D Georgia State League last year.

"We can go," said Lucchesi, "if our rookie pitching can hold up and if we run the way I think we will."

Meridian's Millers, the defending champions, are bemoaning the loss of nearly all of their 1953 mainstays.

However, some of Manager Tommy Davis' new hands promise to keep the Millers from dropping far down the standings—if any at all.

Jack Maupin, a former star at Meridian who was made a free agent by Beaumont of the Texas League, comes back to replace the brilliant Dolph Regelsky at shortstop. The Millers also have picked up hard-hitting Vernon Shetler, Hot Springs' 1953 manager, to fill the outfield gap left by the departure of Anse Moore.

There doesn't appear to be a replacement yet for Bobby Harrison, the league's top hurler for the past two seasons in which he totaled 43 victories.

The Hot Springs Bathers will go into the battling under the new management of Paul Dean and with a limited agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals that is due to revamp their lineup.

Dean is looking for a number of arrivals from higher ranking Cardinal camps just before the opener and still others in weeks to come.

The Bather mound staff is fortified by holdovers Ken Seifert (15-11) and Al Ronay (12-12).

One of the new pitchers is Al Long, who won 12 games and lost none with an Army team in Japan last year.

All of the 1954 Monroe Sports are newcomers to that city and most of them are class C rookies.

The few seasoned hands include catcher Howard Falatic, from the defunct Natchez team; pitcher Billy Halley, who was with Greenwood two seasons ago; and Sam Adkisson, who pitched for Greenville in 1950 and is back from military service.

New manager Ed Head says:

"We've still got a lot of work to do before we have a solid ball club. We may have to go along with several of the players we have for the first few weeks of the season until we can get the help we need."

Bengal Tennis Team Defeats Loyola, 4-1

BATON ROUGE, April 24 (AP)—Louisiana State University scored a 4-1 tennis triumph over Loyola today in a meet cut short by rain.

Paul Young (LSU) beat George Frilot 6-3, 6-3.

Ronnie Fenasci (LSU) beat Tony Fernandez 10-8, 6-4.

Erskine Hurls 3-Hitter As Dodgers Blank Bucs

PITTSBURGH, April 24 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers shutout the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 today behind the three-hit pitching of Carl Erskine.

It was Erskine's first victory of the season. He struck out eight and walked three.

Erskine, a 20-game winner last year, permitted only one Pirate to reach second base. He faced only 32 batters.

Wall 7 Strokes Ahead Of Field In Nevada Event

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 24 (AP)—Mild mannered Art Wall, Jr. continued to wreck par in the third round of play in the $35,00 Tournament of Champions today and threatened to make it a runaway when the 72-hole desert classic winds up tomorrow.

The 30-year-old professional from Pocono Manor, Pa., toured the wind swept Desert Inn Country Club course in 70, two strokes under par, posted a 54-hole total of 205 and grabbed a lead of seven shots over his nearest rival.

Physicians Approve Babe For Competition

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 24 (AP)—Babe Zaharias has an OK from her physicians to continue in golf but the famed woman athlete, who returned to the game after an operation for cancer, said today she wouldn't resume her links participation "until I feel like playing again."

She had her first annual checkup from the operation this week, first being examined by Dr. W. E. Tatum, the family physician here, then by Dr. Robert Moore of Galveston, who performed the operation.

The physicians pronounced her in "excellent condition."

Barney Poole Ready For 16th Grid Year

Poole, a defensive end, has been playing high school, college and professional football for 15 years. He's been in the National Football League for four seasons and had played in the now defunct All-America Conference.

Lucia is a rookie halfback from the University of Louisville.

Morehouse Has Hahn For Free Exhibition Date

BASTROP, La., April 24 (Special) — Paul Hahn, termed by many golfing experts as "the world's greatest trick shot artist," will be in Bastrop for a free exhibition next Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at the Morehouse Country Club, it was announced by Milo Mattinson, club pro.

Members of Morehouse club are making it possible for Hahn to come here without a gallery fee, and "the public is invited to see Hahn as our guests," Mattinson said.

Hahn, whose most difficult shot is to drive a golf ball from the mouth of an assistant, performs in preliminaries for such headline golf attractions as the Masters, Celebrities, Bing Crosby, and numerous other tournaments across the nation.

Detroit Measures Cleveland, 6 To 3, On Boone's Clout

DETROIT, April 24 (AP) — Ray Boone slammed a three-run homer in the fifth inning, knocking out Hal Newhouser and ruining Hal's first comeback bid, as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Cleveland Indians 6-3 today before 25,445 fans in Briggs Stadium.

White Sox Blast Orioles, 14 To 4; Bickford Victim

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox hammered out a 14-4 victory over Baltimore before 9,038 fans today to spoil Vern Bickford's first start in the American League. Big Bob Keegan was tapped for seven of the Orioles' nine hits but won his second victory in as many starts, blanking them until the eighth inning. He had to have help from Al Sima in the ninth, however.

Cotton States Primed For 53rd Season

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Cotton States League games will be played at the same old stand in Monroe this year, but there the resemblance ends. Everything else is new—club owners, manager, players, even the name of the club has been changed to Twin Cities Sports to include West Monroe, and the owners frown upon use of "Monroe Sports" in tagging their ball club.

The first thing the 330 new stockholders did after taking over the franchise from Shreveport owners was to hire Edward Marvin Head, whose home is in West Monroe, as field manager and general manager, taking over jobs held respectively by Charley Harrington and Paul Manasseh under the Shreveport regime.

Head came to the Sports after two years as manager of the Mobile Bears, a manager since 1947 in the Brooklyn Dodger system, and beginning his sixteenth season in organized baseball that began with Abbeville in the Evangeline League and ended as an active player with Brooklyn.

Head's biggest job is building a club to improve on the Sports' 1953 last place finish. We can see where he has made improvements, but he says the job isn't done.

"We've still got a lot of work to do before we have a solid ball club," Head explains. "We may have to go along with some of the players we have for the first few weeks of the season until we can find the help we need."

The biggest search of late has been for a first baseman and a lefthanded hitting outfielder. The recent purchase of C. J. Fontana, a Monroe product, from the Cleveland organization could answer both problems. Fontana, developed as a first baseman in high school and Legion Junior ball here, has played only the outfield in pro ball for the last three seasons. He's ready to play first if that's where Ed needs him, but if another first sacker can be found, C. J. wants to take to the outfield.

Others looking good for the infield are "Buddy" Martin at second, Herman Herzog at shortstop, and Dave Waters at third. Martin and Herzog are rookies, and Waters hit .296 in 81 games with Birmingham of the Southern Association last year before being sent to Norfolk of the Piedmont League for the remainder of the season.

The catching appears set with Sam Chetta, who played in the Three-I League and Western Association, and Howard "Dutch" Falatic, who caught for the now defunct Natchez team of the Cotton States last year.

Billy Halley, of Farmerville, who pitched with Greenwood two seasons ago, looks like the No. 1 pitcher at present. Other pitchers are Ernie Jordan, Lake Providence, formerly with Great Falls, Mont.; Russell Faulk, Winnsboro, who was with Monroe briefly last season; Ed Masoner, a rookie from Baton Rouge; Nick Agnos, Chicago, who played with Janesville, Wis., and Danville, Ill.; Barnes Hayes, a Farmerville rookie; Joe McBreen, Philadelphia, who had a 15-4 record at Barksdale Field last year; Sam Adkisson, briefly with Greenville in the Cotton States before entering service in 1950; and Paul Cothran, rookie from Memphis.

Heading the outfield list at present are Paul Flores, purchased from Clovis, N. M., where he was a third baseman in the West Texas-New Mexico League; and a trio of rookies, Charles Forbes of Millington, Tenn.; Jimmy Phillips of Okay, Ark.; and Amos Chrisco, Stella, Ark., the latter also an infielder who was an all-state shortstop for Arkansas semi-pro ball last season.

The 1954 season gets its official start Tuesday night with the Sports at El Dorado, Hot Springs at Pine Bluff, and Meridian at Greenville. The clubs swap sites for the second "openers" Thursday night.

With all the clubs showing alterations its difficult to figure their strength but we look for a finish in this order—Pine Bluff, Meridian, Twin Cities, Greenville, El Dorado, and Hot Springs. If that hitting power being shown by the Sports in spring work stands up and the pitching comes through, the Sports could be the club out in front.

Jack Curtis In Main; Chief In Semi-Final

The wrestling fans will be able to make choices and comparisons Tuesday night at Kallio's Arena, when the two most popular grapplers in recent years appear in the feature and semi-final matches.

Jack Curtis, former light heavyweight champion, and all-time fanfavorite on the Monroe mat programs, takes on the Alaska Wolf Man in the main match, slated for the best of three falls, with a 90-minute time limit.

It has been many months since the elder Curtis has appeared here, and he goes up against a rugged opponent in his inaugural. The Wolf has won his last two matches at the arena, decisively beating Pat "Big Boy" Cronin two weeks ago and pairing with Millie Stafford to win a mixed tag tussle last week. The bewhiskered lad is a burly wrestler, with a muscular build and a total disregard for rules. A few Curtis slugs and question-mark holds should slow him down pronto.

Dusek, who disposed of big Charro Aztec with ease in last week's semi, will find himself facing an entirely different type of opponent this week. Usually a scientific wrestler, it should be a battle between Dusek's strength and the Chief's chops and hammerlocks.

Trice Tames Yanks On 6 Singles As A's Win, 1-0

Eddie Joost, the only playing manager in the majors, made his first appearance of the season at third base for the Athletics, who opened a three-game series with the Yanks.

Joost, 37, apparently had no choice but to play. Both his available third basemen are on the injured list—Pete Suder with a pulled leg muscle and rookie Jimmy Finigan with a chipped finger.

He permitted only two Yankees to reach third base—one was ex-Mackman Eddie Robinson, who singled in the fifth and another time when Bill Skowron ran for Robinson after the first baseman walked in the seventh. It was Trice's second straight victory.

Little Leaguers Start Workouts Next Saturday

The Northside League conducts its tryouts first with a morning session beginning at 10 o'clock, and the Southside League will hold its tryouts beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Northside loop is open to all boys eight to twelve years old living north of DeSiard Street and east of Powell Avenue to Texas Avenue. The Southside takes its talent from the area south of DeSiard, and west of Powell and south of the Texas Avenue extension.

Registration of boys is still in progress at the Monroe Recreation Center, and all boys are required to show their birth certificates or a certified statement of birth upon registration.

All Little League boys of last year who are still eligible also must have their certificates. They can turn them in to their managers when practice starts.

NEED MANAGER

One Northside club in Little League baseball needs a manager, and Jack Hesketh, secretary of Little League here, last night said any man interested in handling a team is invited to apply to the board of directors by registering at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Merrins, Parker Head Favorites In College Golf

ATHENS, Ga., April 24 (AP)—Eddie Merrins, a stubby shotmaker from Louisiana State, and Arnold Palmer, big gun of the Wake Forest team, head a fast field entered in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament starting Thursday.

Merrins captured the title last year with a two-under par 286 for the 72 holes, nudging out Hillman Robbins of Memphis State and Stan Mosel of North Texas State by one stroke.

Palmer's game is sharper than ever. He has been shooting regularly in the middle and high 60s.

Entries from 26 colleges and universities already have been received from the tournament, rated second only to the National Inter-collegiate in college golf.

North Texas State, which walked off with the team championship the past three years, will be back trying for its fourth title.

The Southeastern Conference individual and team championships are decided during the tournament. Merrins holds the individual crown and he and his L.S.U. mates own the conference team championship.

Entries have been received from North Carolina, Wake Forest, Kentucky, Rollins, Florida State, Alabama, Southwestern (Memphis), Presbyterian, Duke, North Texas, Miami, L.S.U., Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Spring Hill (Mobile), Florida, Sewanee, Clemson, Memphis State, Auburn, Tennessee, Tulane, Mercer, Georgia, Georgetown and Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia.

Correlation Wins Wood Memorial To Return $6.70

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Correlation, California-bred Derby favorite, easily won the $112,750 Wood Memorial Stake at Jamaica today as the 4-5 favorite, Fisherman, finished second.

High Gun was third. War Piper, the early pace maker, finished fourth.

This was the east's major preview for the Kentucky Derby to be run in Louisville next Saturday and all four of the top finishers are eligible for the big race.

Correlation went off as the second choice at 2-1 and paid $6.70, $2.80 and $2.60. Fisherman paid $2.50 and $2.20. High Gun returned $3.70. The time for the mile and an eighth was 1:50 compared to the track record of 1:49 1-5.

Correlation, owned by Robert S. Lytle, was running very easily at the end. Fisherman, the C. V. Whitney hope, started badly and was in last place going down the back stretch. But the Phalanx colt circled the field on the bend for home. Fisherman was easily the second best but did not threaten the winner.

High Gun, owned by the King Ranch, ran with the pace until the quarter pole and closed with enough speed to pass War Piper.

All horses carried 126 pounds, the Derby weight, and of the eight starters only Ogden Phipps' Privacy is not eligible for the Derby. The other starters were Next Page, Palm Tree and Mel Leavitt.

Association Of Softball Umps Will Organize

Organization of an association of softball umpires, inspired by the need of officials for Monroe's summer softball program is expected to be completed at a meeting of umpires and prospective umpires next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Earl Alpha, veteran of several seasons as a softball umpire here, was named last week as chairman of the group at a preliminary organizational meeting.

Jack Hesketh, recreation director, said all men interested in umpiring softball games here are invited to attend the Wednesday meeting. The association of umps will strive for better understanding of the rules and uniform interpretation.

Winnipeg's Bombers Obtain Evan Slonac

Tuesday Openers At Greenville, El Dorado, Pine Bluff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As would be expected in class C baseball, managers of all six Cotton States League clubs still will be looking for players when the season opens Tuesday night.

Some may be waiting even after the first two or three weeks of the race because the needed help won't arrive until teams of higher classifications cut their rosters.

Already, however, the circuit has more than the normal share of new faces.

Teams most nearly set for the season openers appear to be El Dorado, Greenville and Pine Bluff.

The El Dorado Oilers will be built around more than a dozen holdovers from 1953, including pitchers Clyde Baldwin, Chuck Slaber, Bill Brightwell and Bob Brown and dependable outfielder Pel Austin.

Many of Greenville's players are familiar to the league but new to their home town. The club was moved to Greenville from Jackson by owner Willis Hudlin since the close of the '53 campaign.

Greenville's pitching staff includes Paul Jones (15-8), Harold Renn (11-6), and Maurice Kelly (10-10) from Jackson. Also from Jackson came infielders Dick Eaton and Bob Adams and outfielder Banks McDowell.

Their tie-up with the Baltimore Orioles has given the Pine Bluff Judges virtually a complete turnover in personnel, but manager Frank Lucchesi figures his club this year is stronger than last season's third-placer.

Aside from Lucchesi, in centerfield, and pitcher Archie Moore, all of the Judges are newcomers. The top hitter in spring exhibitions has been first baseman Clifford Mansfield, who batted .302 for Jesup in the class D Georgia State League last year.

"We can go," said Lucchesi, "if our rookie pitching can hold up and if we run the way I think we will."

Meridian's Millers, the defending champions, are bemoaning the loss of nearly all of their 1953 mainstays.

However, some of Manager Tommy Davis' new hands promise to keep the Millers from dropping far down the standings—if any at all.

Jack Maupin, a former star at Meridian who was made a free agent by Beaumont of the Texas League, comes back to replace the brilliant Dolph Regelsky at shortstop. The Millers also have picked up hard-hitting Vernon Shetler, Hot Springs' 1953 manager, to fill the outfield gap left by the departure of Anse Moore.

There doesn't appear to be a replacement yet for Bobby Harrison, the league's top hurler for the past two seasons in which he totaled 43 victories.

The Hot Springs Bathers will go into the battling under the new management of Paul Dean and with a limited agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals that is due to revamp their lineup.

Dean is looking for a number of arrivals from higher ranking Cardinal camps just before the opener and still others in weeks to come.

The Bather mound staff is fortified by holdovers Ken Seifert (15-11) and Al Ronay (12-12).

One of the new pitchers is Al Long, who won 12 games and lost none with an Army team in Japan last year.

All of the 1954 Monroe Sports are newcomers to that city and most of them are class C rookies.

The few seasoned hands include catcher Howard Falatic, from the defunct Natchez team; pitcher Billy Halley, who was with Greenwood two seasons ago; and Sam Adkisson, who pitched for Greenville in 1950 and is back from military service.

New manager Ed Head says:

"We've still got a lot of work to do before we have a solid ball club. We may have to go along with several of the players we have for the first few weeks of the season until we can get the help we need."

Bengal Tennis Team Defeats Loyola, 4-1

BATON ROUGE, April 24 (AP)—Louisiana State University scored a 4-1 tennis triumph over Loyola today in a meet cut short by rain.

Paul Young (LSU) beat George Frilot 6-3, 6-3.

Ronnie Fenasci (LSU) beat Tony Fernandez 10-8, 6-4.

Erskine Hurls 3-Hitter As Dodgers Blank Bucs

It was Erskine's first victory of the season. He struck out eight and walked three.

Cal Hogue was the losing pitcher.

Erskine, a 20-game winner last year, permitted only one Pirate to reach second base. He faced only 32 batters.

Physicians Approve Babe For Competition

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 24 (AP)—Babe Zaharias has an OK from her physicians to continue in golf but the famed woman athlete, who returned to the game after an operation for cancer, said today she wouldn't resume her links participation "until I feel like playing again."

She had her first annual checkup from the operation this week, first being examined by Dr. W. E. Tatum, the family physician here, then by Dr. Robert Moore of Galveston, who performed the operation.

The physicians pronounced her in "excellent condition."

Barney Poole Ready For 16th Grid Year

Poole, a defensive end, has been playing high school, college and professional football for 15 years. He's been in the National Football League for four seasons and had played in the now defunct All-America Conference.

Lucia is a rookie halfback from the University of Louisville.

Morehouse Has Hahn For Free Exhibition Date

BASTROP, La., April 24 (Special) — Paul Hahn, termed by many golfing experts as "the world's greatest trick shot artist," will be in Bastrop for a free exhibition next Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at the Morehouse Country Club, it was announced by Milo Mattinson, club pro.

Members of Morehouse club are making it possible for Hahn to come here without a gallery fee, and "the public is invited to see Hahn as our guests," Mattinson said.

Hahn, whose most difficult shot is to drive a golf ball from the mouth of an assistant, performs in preliminaries for such headline golf attractions as the Masters, Celebrities, Bing Crosby, and numerous other tournaments across the nation.

White Sox Blast Orioles, 14 To 4; Bickford Victim

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox hammered out a 14-4 victory over Baltimore before 9,038 fans today to spoil Vern Bickford's first start in the American League. Big Bob Keegan was tapped for seven of the Orioles' nine hits but won his second victory in as many starts, blanking them until the eighth inning. He had to have help from Al Sima in the ninth, however.

Jordan Hurls No-Hitter At M'Neese For 8-5 Win

J. B. Nolan Slugs Long Homer For Game's Big Hit

By TED HECKATHORN

The old saw says the third time is a charm. The Northeast State baseballers are no exception to the rule, for, after dropping two Gulf States Conference games here this week, rebounded to whip McNeese College here yesterday afternoon, 8-5, behind the no-hit pitching of freshman Joe Jordan.

The blonde righthander, who shut out the Cowboys in a Lake Charles tussle April 3, proved to be their nemesis again. He struck out 11, and though five runs scored against him, he was responsible for none of them.

He and rightfielder J. B. Nolan were the leading stickmen for the Tribe, with Jordan getting two, including a double, in two trips, driving in two runs, and scoring one himself. Nolan stepped into a Ken Ezell pitch in the eighth inning, with mate Clyde Thompson on board, and sent it sailing high over the McNeese leftfielder's head, good for a stand-up, two-run homer. The blow, which carried by air and land almost to College Avenue, was one of the, if not THE, hardest balls hit this season at the local diamond.

Mark Boatright, Cam Detore, and Clyde Thompson were all charged with errors that were unavoidable. Mark was almost knocked down by a bad hop that he almost stopped in time to nail the runner; Detore chased a long fly far over his head and then had it fall out of his glove; and third-sacker Thompson made an unbelievable stop at third for the fielding gem of the day, only to throw it wide to first in his haste.

The Indian tallies came from a walk to Gerald Hare, an error, and a Jordan single in the second; a hit batsman, stolen base and Jordan's double, plus a walk and single by Detore in the third; five walks and two wild pitches in the seventh, and Nolan's four-bagger in the eighth.

All the McNeese tallies came on walks or errors. They tied it up at 2-3 in the top of the seventh, only to see the victors score their three in the same frame and two more in the next, while the best the Cowboys could do off Jordan was single marker from an error and a long fly in the ninth.

The major periods begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods are of somewhat shorter duration.

Byrd, Ruston, Start, Plain Dealing Win Track Titles

RUSTON, La., April 24 (Special) — Byrd of Shreveport, Ruston, Plain Dealing, and Start won district titles at the annual North Louisiana Rally Association's track and field events at Louisiana Tech here today with Ruston and Start having hard fights from Jonesboro-Hodge and Louisiana Training Institute of Monroe respectively to land their division crowns.

Byrd led Class AA with 92 points followed by Haynesville with 58, Fair Park of Shreveport 47½, Bastrop 45½, Bossier City 34, and West Monroe 21.

Ruston tallied 78 points to shade Jonesboro-Hodge, with 76, in Class A. Trailing were Tallulah 51½, Homer 30, Neville of Monroe 27½, Lake Providence 26, and Farmerville 8.

Class B went to Plain Dealing with 97, followed by Holly Ridge 69, Arcadia 44, and Mangham 5.

Start nosed out L. T. I. for Class C, 78 to 75½. Other points were Grayson 51½, Ogden 26, Venton 25, Blenville 15, Elm Grove and Bryceland 7 each, and Dubach 1.

Senators Tumble Before Red Hose By 6 To 1 Count

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox defeated Washington, 6-1, tonight but suffered a severe jolt when Pitcher Mel Parnell sustained a fractured bone in his left forearm when hit by a pitched ball. The crack lefthander, a 21-game winner last year, will be lost to the Red Sox for several weeks.

Tony DeMarco Cops Eleventh Win In Row

BOSTON, April 24 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, improving young Boston welterweight, scored his 11th straight boxing victory tonight with an unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles in a nationally televised bout in Boston Garden. DeMarco weighed 145½, Chavez 141.

The 23-year-old DeMarco—who has lost only four of his 30 pro fights—got all the action he could handle from the 31-year old California battler as they slugged through most of the bout.

Set Up District Legion Baseball Program Today

The American Legion Junior baseball program for the Fifth District of Louisiana will be set up here this afternoon at 2 o'clock at a meeting of post representatives from throughout northeast Louisiana. The meeting is billed for L. B. Faulk Post's Legion Home with Bob McNeely, West Monroe, beginning his third season as district commissioner, presiding.

McNeely has indicated all clubs that played last year will be back, plus three new additions—Jonesboro, Delhi, and West Monroe. Clubs returning are Monroe's defending champions, Farmerville, Ruston, Bastrop, Rayville, and Winnsboro.

Haddix In 6-Hit Style As Cards Tag Braves, 7-3

ST. LOUIS, April 24 (AP)—Southpaw Harvey Haddix went the route for the first time this year, holding Milwaukee to six hits and scoring three runs as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Braves tonight, 7-3.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 24 (AP)—Navy rode to its 22nd straight crew victory today, defeating Syracuse by almost 2½ lengths over a mile-and-three-quarter Severn river course.

Tech Overpowers Southwesterners By Score Of 10-5

RUSTON, La., April 24 (AP)—Two seventh inning homers powered Louisiana Tech to a 10-5 Gulf States Conference baseball victory over Southwestern Louisiana today.

With the score tied 5-5, pitcher Milford Andrews hit a bases-empty home run in the bottom of the seventh to push Tech ahead. Tech got two more runs when Bill Williams homered to score Leamond Best who had doubled.

Tech added two more in the ninth on two walks, a hit batsman and a single by first baseman Billy Till.

SLI's big inning was the sixth when three runs scored on two walks, a single by Don Alonzo and Frank Gearen's double.

how to RELAX without wrinkling

Time was when a man who had a summertime dinner date either had to dash home after 5:00 to change his wrinkled suit or spend the day cautiously avoiding comfortable chairs. Now the VIRACLE* tropical by Hart Schaffner & Marx has come to his rescue.

A blend of 55% Dacron and 45% worsted†, this porous and unusually lightweight summer suit virtually refuses to wrinkle even on the muggiest days. Trouser creases stay sharp even through rain. And thanks to Dacron strength, the Viracle wears and wears. Prove it this summer. Choose your Viracle today.

Jordan Hurls No-Hitter At M'Neese For 8-5 Win

J. B. Nolan Slugs Long Homer For Game's Big Hit

By TED HECKATHORN

The old saw says the third time is a charm. The Northeast State baseballers are no exception to the rule, for, after dropping two Gulf States Conference games here this week, rebounded to whip McNeese College here yesterday afternoon, 8-5, behind the no-hit pitching of freshman Joe Jordan.

The blonde righthander, who shut out the Cowboys in a Lake Charles tussle April 3, proved to be their nemesis again. He struck out 11, and though five runs scored against him, he was responsible for none of them.

He and rightfielder J. B. Nolan were the leading stickmen for the Tribe, with Jordan getting two, including a double, in two trips, driving in two runs, and scoring one himself. Nolan stepped into a Ken Ezell pitch in the eighth inning, with mate Clyde Thompson on board, and sent it sailing high over the McNeese leftfielder's head, good for a stand-up, two-run homer. The blow, which carried by air and land almost to College Avenue, was one of the, if not THE, hardest balls hit this season at the local diamond.

Mark Boatright, Cam Detore, and Clyde Thompson were all charged with errors that were unavoidable. Mark was almost knocked down by a bad hop that he almost stopped in time to nail the runner; Detore chased a long fly far over his head and then had it fall out of his glove; and third-sacker Thompson made an unbelievable stop at third for the fielding gem of the day, only to throw it wide to first in his haste.

The Indian tallies came from a walk to Gerald Hare, an error, and a Jordan single in the second; a hit batsman, stolen base and Jordan's double, plus a walk and single by Detore in the third; five walks and two wild pitches in the seventh, and Nolan's four-bagger in the eighth.

All the McNeese tallies came on walks or errors. They tied it up at 3-3 in the top of the seventh, only to see the victors score their three in the same frame and two more in the next, while the best the Cowboys could do off Jordan was single marker from an error and a long fly in the ninth.

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox defeated Washington, 6-1, tonight but suffered a severe jolt when Pitcher Mel Parnell sustained a fractured bone in his left forearm when hit by a pitched ball. The crack lefthander, a 21-game winner last year, will be lost to the Red Sox for several weeks.

Tony DeMarco Cops Eleventh Win In Row

BOSTON, April 24 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, improving young Boston welterweight, scored his 11th straight boxing victory tonight with an unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles in a nationally televised bout in Boston Garden. DeMarco weighed 145½, Chavez 141.

The 23-year-old DeMarco—who has lost only four of his 30 pro fights—got all the action he could handle from the 31-year old California battler as they slugged through most of the bout.

Set Up District Legion Baseball Program Today

The American Legion Junior baseball program for the Fifth District of Louisiana will be set up here this afternoon at 2 o'clock at a meeting of post representatives from throughout northeast Louisiana. The meeting is billed for L. B. Faulk Post's Legion Home with Bob McNeely, West Monroe, beginning his third season as district commissioner, presiding.

McNeely has indicated all clubs that played last year will be back, plus three new additions—Jonesboro, Delhi, and West Monroe. Clubs returning are Monroe's defending champions, Farmerville, Ruston, Bastrop, Rayville, and Winnsboro.

Haddix In 6-Hit Style As Cards Tag Braves, 7-3

ST. LOUIS, April 24 (AP)—Southpaw Harvey Haddix went the route for the first time this year, holding Milwaukee to six hits and scoring three runs as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Braves tonight, 7-3.

how to RELAX without wrinkling

Time was when a man who had a summertime dinner date either had to dash home after 5:00 to change his wrinkled suit or spend the day cautiously avoiding comfortable chairs. Now the VIRACLE* tropical by Hart Schaffner & Marx has come to his rescue.

A blend of 55% Dacron and 45% worsted†, this porous and unusually lightweight summer suit virtually refuses to wrinkle even on the muggiest days. Trouser creases stay sharp even through rain. And thanks to Dacron strength, the Viracle wears and wears. Prove it this summer. Choose your Viracle today.

Collegiate Singers Due For Appearance Here

The University of Arkansas Collegiate Singers will appear in a program and concert in Monroe April 28. Directed by Herrold E. Headley, assistant professor of music, the group will arrive here at 10 a.m. and will make a number of appearances, the last of which will be a concert at Neville auditorium, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

This will be the second annual tour for the Collegiate Singers and will cover the period of April 25-30. At the end of the tour the singers will have appeared in most of the large cities in Arkansas, in addition to the appearance they will make here.

The program for Wednesday in Monroe, sponsored by the Neville senior class, will include a greeting at the Monroe city hall and welcome given the guests by Mayor Coon at 10 a.m.

At 12:15 p.m. lunch will be served in the Neville School cafeteria. A short assembly program will be given at 1:05 p.m. and there will be a TV program at 5 p.m. over local station.

At 5:30 p.m. there will be a water-skiing party at Bayou DeSiard, followed by picnic supper.

The main program will be presented at Neville auditorium at 8:15 p.m. with coffee hour at the close of the program.

The guests will remain in Monroe overnight in homes of Neville students and will leave Thursday morning for Camden, Ark.

During this school year, the Collegiate Singers have been heard on a national radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting Company system, and they also sang on the Marjorie Lawrence TV show in Little Rock. Several concerts have been given in Fayetteville.

Pittsburgh Boy Suffocated In Old Ice Box

Deputy Coroner Fred Wiehagen, who issued a verdict of death by suffocation, said an investigation is under way.

The victim's mother said she opened the door of the ice box as she walked past it in search of her son. The boy's body tumbled at her feet. She said she was thinking of previous "ice box" deaths when she opened the door.

The child's death, according to latest available unofficial figures, brings to 84 the number of children suffocated in ice boxes in the United States and Canada since 1945.

The box in which the Graham boy suffocated was stored for future use. His parents theorized he went into the basment to look for a model airplane that his father had just completed. He had been missing about three hours when found.

Collegiate Singers Due For Appearance Here

The University of Arkansas Collegiate Singers will appear in a program and concert in Monroe April 28. Directed by Herrold E. Headley, assistant professor of music, the group will arrive here at 10 a.m. and will make a number of appearances, the last of which will be a concert at Neville auditorium, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

This will be the second annual tour for the Collegiate Singers and will cover the period of April 25-30. At the end of the tour the singers will have appeared in most of the large cities in Arkansas, in addition to the appearance they will make here.

The program for Wednesday in Monroe, sponsored by the Neville senior class, will include a greeting at the Monroe city hall and welcome given the guests by Mayor Coon at 10 a.m.

At 12:15 p.m. lunch will be served in the Neville School cafeteria. A short assembly program will be given at 1:05 p.m. and there will be a TV program at 5 p.m. over local station.

At 5:30 p.m. there will be a water-skiing party at Bayou DeSiard, followed by picnic supper.

The main program will be presented at Neville auditorium at 8:15 p.m. with coffee hour at the close of the program.

The guests will remain in Monroe overnight in homes of Neville students and will leave Thursday morning for Camden, Ark.

During this school year, the Collegiate Singers have been heard on a national radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting Company system, and they also sang on the Marjorie Lawrence TV show in Little Rock. Several concerts have been given in Fayetteville.

Pittsburgh Boy Suffocated In Old Ice Box

Deputy Coroner Fred Wiehagen, who issued a verdict of death by suffocation, said an investigation is under way.

The victim's mother said she opened the door of the ice box as she walked past it in search of her son. The boy's body tumbled at her feet. She said she was thinking of previous "ice box" deaths when she opened the door.

The child's death, according to latest available unofficial figures, brings to 84 the number of children suffocated in ice boxes in the United States and Canada since 1945.

The box in which the Graham boy suffocated was stored for future use. His parents theorized he went into the basment to look for a model airplane that his father had just completed. He had been missing about three hours when found.

TRUCK CONTRACTORS WANTED
To Learn Long Distance Moving
Old established carrier has openings for men over 25, owning or able to purchase and personally drive acceptable equipment. Excellent earnings on year 'round long-term contract in an essential industry unaffected by business fluctuations, strikes, lay-overs, etc. Write stating age, experience briefly. Greyvan Lines, Inc. (affiliated with Greyhound Lines) 57 West Grand Ave., Chicago 10, Ill.

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN
HAS an employer ever asked you the question, "How many years of experience do you have?" We do not think that is a fair question to ask a young man who has just started out in life, or perhaps just returned from service. Therefore we are training our men to become experts in the business. If you are interested in a good salary, good working conditions, and good security with a profitable future, apply 610 Louisville Ave. room 304 Friday afternoon.

OPPORTUNITY
MONROE
AND NEARBY TOWNS
I HAVE a good business to offer to a man or woman, if you have $1,000 to invest without cramping and can qualify for the proper management of such a business.
FOR your investment you receive all equipment necessary for the operation of the business. You control your hours of employment in this business. You employ every hour of effort profitably.
EVERYONE—Men, women and children—buys U. S. postage stamps. Merchants, hotels, etc., spend real money to serve their customers with stamps. As a consequence, they welcome stamp dispenser service.
THE BEST—The Federal dispenser is the only one designed for indoor and outdoor use. You keep them serviced with stamps from week to week. You own the equipment. It is your business. With employment of ordinary horse sense, you can service 100 machines and have one-half of every working day for playing.
IF YOU ARE GENUINELY INTERESTED PLEASE REPLY AT ONCE ONLY IF YOU HAVE NECESSARY CAPITAL AND IF YOU ARE READY TO START NOW. Write at once, giving address, phone number and a few facts about yourself, also state best time to call.

MUST SELL at once. Owner called to service. Well-known Louisville Avenue Coffee Shop with living quarters. Ph. 9346.

COMPLETE laundry and dry cleaning plant for sale. Ph. Mr. DeLoach at 2-2810, 3-8213.

CASH INCOME
A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY
We are looking for reliable parties, men or women, who want to own and operate a chain of RCA licensed-operated radios or coin-operated television sets. These are set up in hotel or motor court rooms for the benefit of transient guests, and operate one-half, one or two hours for 25c. These quarters add up to a HANDSOME PROFIT for you, year after year after year. We will secure locations for you and set you up in business.
This can be handled in your SPARE TIME—collections need be made once a month or, at the most every two weeks. If you are not employed on Saturday, it can be handled in a few hours every second or third Saturday, it can be built into a full-time business that pays FULL-TIME INCOME.
Physical condition or education is of no great importance. No selling or soliciting—no waiting to build up the bbusiness. It pays you a profit the first day.
This is not a "GET RICH QUICK" business, but it will give you a STEADY, PROFITABLE income for the rest of your life. No RENT or overhead. No inventory problems. No filling of machine. Just collections of quarters and payment of small commissions to the hotel or motor court owner. Each quarter collected is profit.
A minimum CASH investment of $875 to $3590 is all that is required, which is secured by equipment. NO RISK of losing your investment as long as people listen to the radio and watch television.
If you can qualify and have the necessary cash and a sincere desire for financial security, then write at once for appointment with our authorized distributor. Please give age, address and phone to Box No. 455 % News-Star.

TRUCK CONTRACTORS WANTED
To Learn Long Distance Moving
Old established carrier has openings for men over 25, owning or able to purchase and personally drive acceptable equipment. Excellent earnings on year 'round long-term contract in an essential industry unaffected by business fluctuations, strikes, lay-overs, etc. Write stating age, experience briefly. Greyvan Lines, Inc. (affiliated with Greyhound Lines) 57 West Grand Ave., Chicago 10, Ill.

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN
HAS an employer ever asked you the question, "How many years of experience do you have?" We do not think that is a fair question to ask a young man who has just started out in life, or perhaps just returned from service. Therefore we are training our men to become experts in the business. If you are interested in a good salary, good working conditions, and good security with a profitable future, apply 610 Louisville Ave. room 204 Friday afternoon.

EMPLOYMENT

Help Wanted, Male (31)

ACTUAL JOBS open in U. S., So. Am., Europe. To $15,000. Travel paid. Write Employment Information Center, Room 268, 316 Stuart St., Boston.

$150 PER WEEK
DO YOU QUALIFY?
1. Ability and willingness to meet the public and work hard.
2. Between ages of 20 and 45.
3. Own a late model car.
4. Willingness to travel North Louisiana.

WE WANT THREE MEN
Who Meet The Above Qualifications

THE MEN selected will be thoroughly trained in the fundamentals of salesmanship. These men will call only on qualified prospects furnished them by us. Earnings are well above the average, with our men now making from $100 up to $200 per week. In addition to the weekly earnings we pay a semi-annual bonus. In many instances the annual income from bonus checks alone is more than the average person earns during the course of a year.

IF YOU ARE dissatisfied with your present income or position this top-flight proposition merits your sincere consideration.

Interview by appointment only. Phone Mr. Wade at the Virginia Hotel from 1:00 p.m. to 3 p.m. or 5:00 to 7:00 p. m. Saturday. From 10:00 to 12:00 a. m. or from 2:00 till 4:00 p. m. Sunday.

Please do not tie up the line with questions. If our offer is not worth a personal visit and an hour of your time you are not the man we want.

CAN USE TWO men to do special work. Apply 605 Jackson Street.

A JOB for 2 men. Pleasant work. Good pay. An opportunity to get into the selling field. Call 2-4446 mornings.

MONROE
AND NEARBY TOWNS
I HAVE a good business to offer to a man or woman, if you have $1,000 to invest without cramping and can qualify for the proper management of such a business.
FOR your investment you receive all equipment necessary for the operation of the business. You control your hours of employment in this business. You employ every hour of effort profitably.
EVERYONE—Men, women and children—buys U. S. postage stamps. Merchants, hotels, etc., spend real money to serve their customers with stamps. As a consequence, they welcome stamp dispenser service.
THE BEST—The Federal dispenser is the only one designed for indoor and outdoor use. You keep them serviced with stamps from week to week. You own the equipment. It is your business. With employment of ordinary horse sense, you can service 100 machines and have one-half of every working day for play.
IF YOU ARE GENUINELY INTERESTED PLEASE REPLY AT ONCE ONLY IF YOU HAVE NECESSARY CAPITAL AND IF YOU ARE READY TO START NOW. Write at once, giving address, phone number and a few facts about yourself, also state best time to call.

MUST SELL at once. Owner called to service. Well-known Louisville Avenue Coffee Shop with living quarters. Ph. 9346.

COMPLETE laundry and dry cleaning plant for sale. Ph. Mr. DeLoach at 2-2810, 3-8213.

CASH INCOME
A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY
We are looking for reliable parties, men or women, who want to own and operate a chain of RCA licensed-operated radios or coin-operated television sets. These are set up in hotel or motor court rooms for the benefit of transient guests, and operate one-half, one or two hours for 25c. These quarters add up to a HANDSOME PROFIT for you, year after year after year. We will secure locations for you and set you up in business.
This can be handled in your SPARE TIME—collections need be made once a month or, at the most every two weeks. If you are not employed on Saturday, it can be handled in a few hours every second or third Saturday, it can be built into a full-time business that pays FULL-TIME INCOME.
Physical condition or education is of no great importance. No selling or soliciting—no waiting to build up the bbusiness. It pays you a profit the first day.
This is not a "GET RICH QUICK" business, but it will give you a STEADY, PROFITABLE income for the rest of your life. No RENT or overhead. No inventory problems. No filling of machine. Just collections of quarters and payment of small commissions to the hotel or motor court owner. Each quarter collected is profit.
A minimum CASH investment of $875 to $3590 is all that is required, which is secured by equipment. NO RISK of losing your investment as long as people listen to the radio and watch television.
If you can qualify and have the necessary cash and a sincere desire for financial security, then write at once for appointment with our authorized distributor. Please give age, address and phone to Box No. 455 % News-Star.

MY GOSH . . .
. . . the man's gonna' give it away in spite of what the FHA says it's worth! Here's a sensible buy in one of the southside's best locations at 103 GRAYLING LANE that combines many a pleasing feature among its 1036 sq. feet of living area . . . both bedrooms are 12'x13'; living room has a real fireplace at well as a floor furnace; back yard is fenced and affords nice privacy; oak floors throughout; there's a 42" attic fan and washer plumbing, and it's on a paved street with sidewalks. It's priced at $600 less than the FHA appraised value with only $900 down. It's a steal and won't last long, so call today for appointment.

MY GOSH...
. . . the man's gonna' give it away in spite of what the FHA says it's worth! Here's a sensible buy in one of the southside's best locations at 103 GRAYLING LANE that combines many a pleasing feature among its 1036 sq. feet of living area . . . both bedrooms are 12'x13'; living room has a real fireplace as well as a floor furnace; back yard is fenced and affords nice privacy; oak floors throughout; there's a 42" attic fan and washer plumbing, and it's on a paved street with sidewalks. It's priced at $600 less than the FHA appraised value with only $900 down. It's a steal and won't last long, so call today for appointment.

TALK about good looks and well-cared for property . . . this one takes the cake! From the glistening hardwood floors to the built - in bookcases on each side of the fireplace in the living room . . . it's a good buy! This one contains: 2 bedrooms, side screened porch, attic fan, garage with overhead door, and large store room, and many another unique feature. It's selling for $800 less than the FHA appraised value with only $920 down, including closing costs. Wanta' "peep!"

405 Columbia

IT'S ONLY 6 months and still smells new, and it's on an 80x170 foot lot at that! The 1038 sq. feet of living area of this one are "plum loaded" with appealing features: there are 2 unusually large bedrooms . . . kitchen has vent-a-hood, nice cabinet space . . . it has a 36 inch attic fan with timer switch . . . 3 panel-ray heaters provide plenty of heat, and the bath has shower. $1550 down makes this happy move.

Sandel Drive

WEST

Blair Street

DRIVE BY and see this five room (2) bedroom and (den) home just six months old! It's a corner location, 3 blocks to a grade school, storeroom with washer plumbing, 42" automatic shutter fan, four wall heaters, shower and carport. It's yours for $1,353 down and assuming payments of $58.89 a month. Just off Highway 80 (Butler's Subdivision) . . . so, drive by . . . then, call us.

Restful Home Road

WHAT FAMILY wouldn't take a shine to this attractive home that has five and a half large rooms. Among the many features you'll find natural woodwork throughout, disappearing stair to the attic, metal overhead door in the garage, central heating, tension joint windows, 48" attic fan, 9 x 23 den, and there's a neat attractive chicken house in back. Oh, we forgot to mention the large lot with trees (150 x 250) . . . all this (and trees, too) for $2,200 down! Be sure to take the family to see this . . . it's right off White's Ferry Road.

308 Riverbend

IF YOU'RE wishing prices were lower . . . here's one that is. This owner wants a quick sale and has reduced his price to $8,650 to facilitate the matter. With 5 rooms, glistening oak floors, floor furnace, 42" attic fan, utility porch, modern colors throughout and many other outstanding features. We think you'll like this home just fine . . . and $865 down, plus closing costs, is all it takes! And, if you're a G. I. . . . it's just $432 down, plus closing costs. Let us help you start a home of your own . . . call now!

105 Stix

ARE YOU the lady that wants a separate dining room? Well, here it is, complete with glistening oak floors. Here are other features that compliment this home: four large trees on the lot, bath has huge linen closet, store room in back of the garage, 42" attic fan, floor furnace and many others! And here's good news for eligible G. I.'s . . . $600 down plus closing costs and you have a home! Call for an appointment today!

506 & 510 Cryer

BRAND spanking new and right across the street from Millsaps School, and one block from the new high school. If you need a house with room . . . here you are, for it has three large bedrooms and large living room and dining area. The nicest thing about this house is the down payment . . . $700 down, and you pay rent until the rest of the down payment is made! Don't let us fail to mention the carport, three panel rays, 42" attic fan, storage room in back of carport, wonderful closet space . . . you have to see this home to appreciate it. . . so, give us a buzz today for an appointment.

1005 Meadowbrook

"LOOKS GOOD on paper" . . . how many times have you said that about an ad? Well, here's one that looks as good as the ad says it does. It's a five room (2 bedroom & den) house right by an artificial lake! The kitchen has glass sliding door cabinets, wood block floors in the living room and dining area, both bedrooms have sliding door closets with built-in bureau drawers, modernistic false fireplace with mirror . . . and in the paneled den, there's a built in gun case and closet. The patio is topped off with a huge tree that shades the house all day. $2600 down makes the move . . and you can have immediate possession . . . phone us for a showing.

2710 North 8th

ATTENTION, G.I.'s! Here's a 100% G.I. loan on a three bedroom home! Take a look at this well arranged home! It has a separate garage; the attic is roomy enough for a den to be constructed; 42" attic fan; floor furnace; vent-a-hood; metal awning over kitchen door; and last, but not least, the house is located on a corner lot. So....for the lucky G. I. who is looking for a three bedroom home with 100% G.I. loan...look no further, for here you are! Give us a ring...we'll be glad to show it.

322 Stewart

THERE'S a nice breezeway on back of this three bedroom home....and, I just happen to think, summer's on its way but fast! This is just one of the many features.... here're more: The house is located on a corner lot; the hall is lined with floor-to-ceiling cabinets; there are four metal awnings on the outside; and a bath and a half bath. This is a house you have to see....it takes just $1300 down and we'll sign it over to you. Don't delay....call us today.

1411 Park Ave.

IT'S NOT necessarily a home for a small family . . . but the 11 rooms and 5 bedrooms and 3 baths are custom tailored for a large one. There's a spacious living room and separate dining room, 2 bedrooms, roomy kitchen with dishwasher and sunporch downstairs, plus 3 bedrooms and a sunporch upstairs. All of the above is on a 75 x 240 foot corner lot in one of Monroe's best north side neighborhoods. Call for appointment to see today!

1511 N. 7th.

YOU'D NEVER expect to find a home of this caliber on the northside, so reasonably priced, but we've "got the goods" Among the 1140 sq. feet of this unusual buy are: 2 roomy bedrooms; separate living and dining room; well-arranged kitchen; side screened porch, there's a garage. It's on a corner lot, and priced at only $10,750. This one's well worth your time to look at.

708 Adcock

IF YOU'VE a "bashful budget," (we all do at times), here's a sensible buy in a 2-bedroom home on a 50x150 foot lot. Only $853 down and monthly notes of only $37, buys this bargain, with its aluminum tension screens, its metal venetian blinds, and its other features galore. You can get almost immediate occupancy, so call for a look today

SOUTH

1500 Alabama

SEEMS LIKE a steal to me but you can make your own decision with these facts: natural woodwork throughout; oak floors; bath has shower, there's a floor furnace and also an attic fan; excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; venetian blinds; and $926 down with monthly notes of only $47 makes this move. We'd be tickled "to death" to show you this one.

307 Georgia

IF YOU'RE a G. I., only $350 down buys all 936 sq. feet of this one, as well as: monthly payments of only $44; copper plumbing; washer plumbing in kitchen; hardwood foors; asbestos siding; the total price is only $7000. Why not take a look at this bargain today?

1610 S. 4th

IT'S EVER so vacant, but it shouldn't be, when $650 down is all it takes to make the move and enjoy such features as: 852 sq. feet of living area; natural woodwork throughout; 42" attic fan and panelray heat; hardwood floors; copper plumbing and washer plumbing in kitchen. It's located just two blocks from the Plum Street School with FHA financing available. We've the key. Want it?

4103 Lee Courts

WE'VE MADE this one so easy to buy that if you like it, you'll have no excuse not to buy, for all it takes on FHA is $900 down or if you are a G. I. . . . only $500 down makes the move! This unusually good buy has "oodles" of features among its 1129 sq. feet of living area: 3 bedrooms, central heating; attic fan; natural woodwork throughout; screened back porch, garage with covered walk-way, and it's on 120x150' lot. Why not see it today?

805 South 6th

IF YOU'RE lookin' for a big home (1368 sq. feet) on a roomy lot (75x150) close to a grammar school (it's just 2 blocks to Plum St. Grammar) . . . take a few minutes today, and let us show you this distinctive home with 2 large bedrooms (both with sliding door closets) and a pine - paneled den. The living room has wall-to-wall carpeting; has carport and storage; pine - paneled kitchen and dining area and other sensible features. It's already financed.

TALK about good looks and well-cared for property . . . this one takes the cake! From the glistening hardwood floors to the built - in bookcases on each side of the fireplace in the living room . . . it's a good buy! This one contains: 2 bedrooms, side screened porch, attic fan, garage with overhead door, and large store room, and many another unique feature. It's selling for $800 less than the FHA appraised value with only $920 down, including closing costs. Wanta' "peep!"

405 Columbia

IT'S ONLY 6 months and still smells new, and it's on an 80x170 foot lot at that! The 1038 sq. feet of living area of this one are "plum loaded" with appealing features: there are 2 unusually large bedrooms . . . kitchen has vent-a-hood, nice cabinet space . . . it has a 36 inch attic fan with timer switch . . . 3 panel-ray heaters provide plenty of heat, and the bath has shower. $1550 down makes this happy move.

Sandel Drive

WEST
Blair Street

DRIVE BY and see this five room (2) bedroom and den) home just six months old! It's a corner location, 3 blocks to a grade school, storeroom with washer plumbing, 42" automatic shutter fan, four wall heaters, shower and carport. It's yours for $1,353 down and assuming payments of $58.89 a month. Just off Highway 80 (Butler's Subdivision) . . . so, drive by . . . then, call us.

Restful Home Road

WHAT FAMILY wouldn't take a shine to this attractive home that has five and a half large rooms. Among the many features you'll find natural woodwork throughout, disappearing stair to the attic, metal overhead door in the garage, central heating, tension joint windows, 42" attic fan, 9 x 23 den, and there's a neat attractive chicken house in back. Oh, we forgot to mention the large lot with trees (150 x 250) . . . all this (and trees, too) for $2,200 down! Be sure to take the family to see this . . . it's right off White's Ferry Road.

308 Riverbend

IF YOU'RE wishing prices were lower . . . here's one that is. This owner wants a quick sale and has reduced his price to $8,650 to facilitate the matter. With 5 rooms, glistening oak floors, floor furnace, 42" attic fan, utility porch, modern colors throughout and many other outstanding features. We think you'll like this home just fine . . . and $865 down, plus closing costs, is all it takes! And, if you're a G. I. . . . it's just $432 down, plus closing costs. Let us help you start a home of your own . . . call now!

105 Stix

ARE YOU the lady that wants a separate dining room? Well, here it is, complete with glistening oak floors. Here are other features that compliment this home: four large trees on the lot, bath has huge linen closet, store room in back of the garage, 42" attic fan, floor furnace and many others! And here's good news for eligible G. I.'s . . . $600 down plus closing costs and you have a home! Call for an appointment today!

506 & 510 Cryer

BRAND spanking new and right across the street from Millsaps School, and one block from the new high school. If you need a house with room . . . here you are, for it has three large bedrooms and large living room and dining area. The nicest thing about this house is the down payment . . . $700 down, and you pay rent until the rest of the down payment is made! Don't let us fail to mention the carport, three panel rays, 42" attic fan, storage room in back of carport, wonderful closet space . . . you have to see this home to appreciate it . . . so, give us a buzz today for an appointment.

1005 Meadowbrook

"LOOKS GOOD on paper" . . . how many times have you said that about an ad? Well, here's one that looks as good as the ad says it does. It's a five room (2 bedroom & den) house right by an artificial lake! The kitchen has glass sliding door cabinets, wood block floors in the living room and dining area, both bedrooms have sliding door closets with built-in bureau drawers, modernistic false fireplace with mirror . . . and in the paneled den, there's a built in gun case and closet. The patio is topped off with a huge tree that shades the house all day. $2600 down makes the move . . . and you can have immediate possession . . . phone us for a showing.

2710 North 8th

ATTENTION, G.I's! Here's a 100% G.I. loan on a three bedroom home! Take a look at this well arranged home! It has a separate garage; the attic is roomy enough for a den to be constructed; 42" attic fan; floor furnace; vent-a-hood; metal awning over kitchen door; and last, but not least, the house is located on a corner lot. So....for the lucky G. I. who is looking for a three bedroom home with 100% G.I. loan...look no further, for here you are! Give us a ring...we'll be glad to show it.

322 Stewart

THERE'S a nice breezeway on back of this three bedroom home....and, I just happen to think, summer's on its way but fast! ! This is just one of the many features.... here're more: The house is located on a corner lot; the hall is lined with floor-to-ceiling cabinets; there are four metal awnings on the outside; and a bath and a half bath. This is a house you have to see....it takes just $1300 down and we'll sign it over to you. Don't delay....call us today.

IT'S NOT necessarily a home for a small family . . . but the 11 rooms and 5 bedrooms and 3 baths are custom tailored for a large one. There's a spacious living room and separate dining room, 2 bedrooms, roomy kitchen with dishwasher and sunporch downstairs, plus 3 bedrooms and a sunporch upstairs. All of the above is on a 75 x 240 foot corner lot in one of Monroe's best north side neighborhoods. Call for appointment to see today!

1511 N. 7th.

YOU'D NEVER expect to find a home of this caliber on the northside, so reasonably priced, but we've "got the goods" Among the 1140 sq. feet of this unusual buy are: 2 roomy bedrooms; separate living and dining room; well-arranged kitchen; side screened porch, there's a garage. It's on a corner lot, and priced at only $10,750. This one's well worth your time to look at.

708 Adcock

IF YOU'VE a "bashful budget," (we all do at times), here's a sensible buy in a 2-bedroom home on a 50x150 foot lot. Only $853 down and monthly notes of only $37, buys this bargain, with its aluminum tension screens, its metal venetian blinds, and its other features galore. You can get almost immediate occupancy, so call for a look today

SOUTH
1500 Alabama

SEEMS LIKE a steal to me but you can make your own decision with these facts: natural woodwork throughout; oak floors; bath has shower, there's a floor furnace and also an attic fan; excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; venetian blinds; and $926 down with monthly notes of only $47 makes this move. We'd be tickled "to death" to show you this one.

307 Georgia

IF YOU'RE a G. I., only $350 down buys all 936 sq. feet of this one, as well as: monthly payments of only $44; copper plumbing; washer plumbing in kitchen; hardwood floors; asbestos siding; the total price is only $7000. Why not take a look at this bargain today?

1610 S. 4th

IT'S EVER so vacant, but it shouldn't be, when $650 down is all it takes to make the move and enjoy such features as: 852 sq. feet of living area; natural woodwork throughout; 42" attic fan and panel-ray heat; hardwood floors; copper plumbing and washer plumbing in kitchen. It's located just two blocks from the Plum Street School with FHA financing available. We've the key. Want it?

4103 Lee Courts

WE'VE MADE this one so easy to buy that if you like it, you'll have no excuse not to buy, for all it takes on FHA is $900 down or if you are a G. I. . . . only $500 down makes the move! This unusually good buy has "oodles" of features among its 1129 sq. feet of living area: 3 bedrooms, central heating; attic fan; natural woodwork throughout; screened back porch, garage with covered walk-way, and it's on 120x150' lot. Why not see it today?

805 South 6th

IF YOU'RE lookin' for a big home (1368 sq. feet) on a roomy lot (75x150) close to a grammar school (it's just 2 blocks to Plum St. Grammar) . . . take a few minutes today, and let us show you this distinctive home with 2 large bedrooms (both with sliding door closets) and a pine - paneled den. The living room has wall-to-wall carpeting; has carport and storage; pine - paneled kitchen and dining area and other sensible features. It's already financed.

Weather Bureau To Speed Reports On Air Hazards

WASHINGTON, April 24—UP—Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) disclosed Saturday tha the Weather Bureau is eliminating a lag in weather reports which Brooks said may have been responsible for a fatal air crash near Shreveport Jan. 10.

The 12 persons killed in the accident included airline executive Thomas E. Braniff.

F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau, wrote Brooks that teletypewriter distribution of aviation forecasts was such that forecasts for northern Louisiana were not transmitted on the circuit available in southern Louisiana. The plane, carrying Braniff, president of Braniff Airways, Inc., was flying from southern to northern Louisiana when it apparently "iced up" and crashed.

The pilot of Braniff's plane had been notified, however, by authorities at Shreveport of possible icing conditions in the area.

Reichelderfer also reported that the pilot of another plane experienced "severe icing" when he landed at Shreveport at 5:25 p. m. that day. But Reichelderfer said the pilot failed to give authorities an immediate report on the icing until after he had gone to his hotel. Meanwhile, at 5:49 p. m. the plane with Braniff crashed.

"If this report of severe icing had been reported promptly," Reichelderfer said, "it would have been communicated immediately to the other aircraft in the area."

Reichelderfer said that the teletypewriter circuits are being given greater distribution and speed.

But he emphasized that reports from pilots themselves are important.

"Although the icing condition was forecast," he said, "it often takes actual reports of the existence of potentially hazardous conditions of this kind to impress pilots with the severity of the situation."

U. S. Supervision Of Union Ballots Would Cost Much

WASHINGTON, April 24—UP—A price tag of $1.25 million a year was hung Saturday on President Eisenhower's proposal that the government supervise a secret vote of workers in case of a strike.

Chairman Guy Farmer of the National Labor Relations Board gave that estimate in testimony made public Saturday night by a House Appropriations subcommittee.

He said his agency estimated it would cost 50 cents per eligible voter to conduct the elections and estimated there would be 2.5 million such eligible voters each year.

The president did not specify in his labor message whether the proposed balloting would be taken prior to, or after a strike.

Nationwide Program Of Dispersing Plants To Protect Against Nuclear Bombs Is Urged By U. S. C-Of-C

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — Policy leaders of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today urged on industry a nationwide program of plant dispersion and protection against atomic and hydrogen bomb assault.

The Chamber is expected to approve the resolution at the close of its three-day annual meeting opening here tomorrow. Several thousand delegates, representing 1,600,000 businessmen, began assembling today.

The committee on policy, headed by Clem D. Johnston of Roanoke, Va., was ready with a resolution calling on industrial firms to:

1. Duplicate vital records and plans and store them in safe caches for possible use in rebuilding bombed-out defense plants.

2. Develop plans for dispersal of workers, protection of machinery, prompt evacuation, and the transfer of munitions production from damaged plants to undamaged ones.

3. Screen employes to prevent Communist agents or sympathizers from committing sabotage or obtaining secret data on weapons.

This resolution was one of more than 30 proposed positions on domestic and foreign policy awaiting action. Johnston's committee planned an all-day, closed session tomorrow to prepare additional recommendations, including one on federal tax policy.

At Monday's opening session in Constitution Hall President Eisenhower will greet the delegates and Secretary of Defense Wilson will report on the defense program.

The policy proposals would put the Chamber on record as:

1. Reaffirming support of the United Nations and such regional pacts as the North Atlantic and proposed Asiatic Alliance, and favoring ratification of the European Defense Community.

The declaration holds it to be of "utmost importance" that Communist efforts in Southeast Asia be thwarted, and supports "a program of assistance to non-Communistic forces in Indo-China."

2. Calling for a flexible farm price support policy, to be used only in emergencies. It should protect farmers against "undue" price drops, the resolution states, but should not encourage "unmanageable surpluses."

3. Urging on the building industry an intensive "fix-up" program of homes and other buildings, to conserve property values and help stabilize the construction industry.

4. Calling for a balanced budget as the "normal procedure" of government, and for systematic reduction of federal spending to permit "equally systematic reduction in federal taxes."

5. Endorsing the policy of maintaining U. S. leadership in atomic development, commending the government for its proposal of an international program for peaceful utilization of atomic power—but recommending that the sharing of atomic information be considered "only with adequate safeguards of our national security."

6. Recommending that the Taft-Hartley Act be amended to forbid all strikes or picketing to compel recognition of a labor union.

7. Strengthening the Taft-Hartley Law and federal agency regulations to "expose and eliminate Communists holding office in labor unions and governmental agencies."

Bodies Of Six Students, Three Teachers Found

VIENNA, Austria, April 24—UP—Six students and three teachers of a party of 13 were found frozen to death Saturday on an Alpine mountainside.

The bodies of the remaining four students were not found.

The group disappeared April 15 during an Easter week-end vacation on Mt. Dachstein. There was little hope any would be found alive, but a force of more than 500 policemen and civilian volunteers swarmed over the mountainside for days while relatives of the missing climbers watched through binoculars from the valley below.

The bodies of the three teachers, one a woman, were found huddled together under more than two feet of snow on the east slope of the 9,000-foot mountain. The six boys were found later buried in a group about 150 feet away.

Miss Irma Jean Noble, a student of Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, La., is attending the national meeting of Associated Women Students on the campus of Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill., this week. As an officer on the Northwestern Council of A. W. S., she is representing her college at the national meeting. She was also a delegate to the future state teachers' convention recently held on the L. S. U. campus in Baton Rouge, April second and third. She is president of her local chapter.

Miss Noble, a Winnsboro High School graduate, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Noble, is a major in the upper elementary field of education and in her junior year. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority. She has recently been elected co-ed vice president of the student body at Northwestern for next year.

Welcome Branch Book Club Hears Book Review

Welcome Branch Book Club heard a book review, at the April meeting given by Mrs. F. H. Peterson, "Adventures in Two Worlds" by A. J. Cronin.

Adventures in Two Worlds is a biography written by A. J. Cronin who tells of his work in Scotland with the famed Dr. Cameron and how he became famous after working with Dr. Cameron for many years.

Mrs. Morris Miller gave a very interesting report of the district meeting in Monroe March 21. She stated that 12 members of Welcome Branch attended and blue ribbons were awarded the year book and press book, also exhibits in art work by Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. A. J. Speer.

Mrs. Zell Smith, delegate to the state convention, gave a very interesting report of the meeting in Shreveport. She said that the goal of $5,000 for the restoration of Independence Hall was reached and many more donations were coming in each day.

Mrs. Chapman, national president of G. F. W. C. gave an address at the evening session. She stated that 100 million children had been aided by the U. N. and W. H. O.

Mrs. Smith stated that the club's year book had been awarded the blue ribbon at the state meeting and the press book a red ribbon award. Many awards for art work were given.

At the business meeting, the president, Mrs. Dollar asked for the election of one new member on the library board. Mrs. James Horton was elected.

Mrs. Frank Smith was welcomed into the club as a new member. It was announced that Mrs. Thomas Jett would hold a reception for the new president of 5th district, Mrs. Claude Grimes, at her home on April 30 at 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. All members were cordially invited.

After the meeting delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. James Eppinetter, Mrs. James Horton and Mrs. Ralph Cain.

Members present were Mrs. L. F. Bewick, Mrs. Ralph Cain, Mrs. J. N. Coon, Mrs. R. H. Dollar, Mrs. James Eppinetter, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. D. R. Hamilton, Mrs. J. A. Hicks, Mrs. James Horton, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. Morris Miller, Mrs. B. E. McWilliams, Mrs. Leola Nixon, Mrs. J. H. Peterson, Mrs. H. E. Phost, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. Cyril Yancy, Mrs. Frank Smith and one guest, Mrs. Norton.

The last meeting of the year will be at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club with a luncheon by members, Mrs. George Phebus will have charge of the reservations.

PLATE IS HARD

WATERVILLE, Me. (UP) — One manufacturer is producing a "paper" plate made of chemical pulp which the company claims is hard to distinguish from china. The plate is white with a smooth finish and will resist "average pressure" from a carving knife, the company says.

Annual Spring Luncheon Of Colonial Dames Tuesday

The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America in the State of Louisiana, Monroe Committee, had its annual Spring luncheon at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club private dining room Tuesday, April 20.

Pink roses and Confederate jasmine in silver bowls were used on the luncheon table, and magnolias in bloom and bud completed the decorations.

Mrs. Elmer Slagle, chairman, presided over the luncheon and welcomed guests from the Shreveport and Alexandria committees. Mrs. Casper Kramer of Alexandria extended an invitation to all Louisiana Dames for the Alexandria luncheon on Saturday and Mrs. Robert Chandler of Shreveport told of the regional meeting for Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Oklahoma to be held in Shreveport in May.

Mrs. Dorf Bean, new chairman of the Shreveport committee, and Mrs. David Garrett, the new chairman of the Monroe committee, were presented at this time.

Attending were: Mrs. Robert Chandler, Mrs. Dorf Bean, Mrs. James H. Cooper, Mrs. Robert Dixey, Mrs. Donald Dickson of Shreveport; Mrs. Casper Kramer, Mrs. J. C. Blackman, Miss Ruth Overton, Mrs. Hamilton Robertson, Mrs. Coates Stuckey, Mrs. O. L. Aubin, of Alexandria; Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. Bradley Waelder, Mrs. Guy Stubbs, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. James R. Wooten, Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Alan Sholars, Mrs. King Stubbs, Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mrs. George M. Snellings, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Leigh, Mrs. Stanley Blower, Mrs. Gordon Wright of Monroe.

Morning Coffee

Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. John Theus, and Mrs. King Stubbs entertained the Monroe Colonial Dames and their guests from Alexandria and Shreveport at a lovely coffee hour in the home of Mrs. Stubbs preceding the luncheon.

FOOT REST

Dr William M. Scholl says the average homemaker covers an average of nine miles during a normal day. As the day progresses, circulation becomes sluggish, the feet and legs often swell, become painful and are less capable of doing their job.

The doctor claims it therefore is important for the housewife to get off her feet whenever possible The ideal position is to sit with the legs extended and the feet elevated above the hips.

Add a bit of grated orange peel to the butter to give extra zest to your gingerbread and molasses cookies.

PLATE IS HARD

WATERVILLE, Me. (UP) — One manufacturer is producing a "paper" plate made of chemical pulp which the company claims is hard to distinguish from china. The plate is white with a smooth finish and will resist "average pressure" from a carving knife, the company says.

Annual Spring Luncheon Of Colonial Dames Tuesday

The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America in the State of Louisiana, Monroe Committee, had its annual Spring luncheon at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club private dining room Tuesday, April 20.

Pink roses and Confederate jasmine in silver bowls were used on the luncheon table, and magnolias in bloom and bud completed the decorations.

Mrs. Elmer Slagle, chairman, presided over the luncheon and welcomed guests from the Shreveport and Alexandria committees. Mrs. Casper Kramer of Alexandria extended an invitation to all Louisiana Dames for the Alexandria luncheon on Saturday and Mrs. Robert Chandler of Shreveport told of the regional meeting for Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Oklahoma to be held in Shreveport in May.

Mrs. Dorf Bean, new chairman of the Shreveport committee, and Mrs. David Garrett, the new chairman of the Monroe committee, were presented at this time.

Attending were: Mrs. Robert Chandler, Mrs. Dorf Bean, Mrs. James H. Cooper, Mrs. Robert Dixey, Mrs. Donald Dickson of Shreveport; Mrs. Casper Kramer, Mrs. J. C. Blackman, Miss Ruth Overton, Mrs. Hamilton Robertson, Mrs. Coates Stuckey, Mrs. O. L. Aubin, of Alexandria; Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. Bradley Waelder, Mrs. Guy Stubbs, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. James R. Wooten, Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Alan Sholars, Mrs. King Stubbs, Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mrs. George M. Snellings, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Leigh, Mrs. Stanley Blower, Mrs. Gordon Wright of Monroe.

Morning Coffee

Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. John Theus, and Mrs. King Stubbs entertained the Monroe Colonial Dames and their guests from Alexandria and Shreveport at a lovely coffee hour in the home of Mrs. Stubbs preceding the luncheon.

FOOT REST

Dr William M. Scholl says the average homemaker covers an average of nine miles during a normal day. As the day progresses, circulation becomes sluggish, the feet and legs often swell, become painful and are less capable of doing their job.

The doctor claims it therefore is important for the housewife to get off her feet whenever possible The ideal position is to sit with the legs extended and the feet elevated above the hips.

NON-FATTENING SPUDS

The Women's Institute branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has brought out a booklet called "Potatoes Every Day," which stresses what nutritionists have been saying for some years without too much success: "potatoes are not fattening."

Most persons on diets still shun potatoes, but a potato is not more fattening than one slice of bread, or one large apple, or one large orange. It is about one-third as fattening as one piece of cake, or a slice of pie.

If you wish to preserve food value in potatoes, bake, boil, or steam them in their jackets. Prepare them just before mealtime, cook just until done and serve immediately.

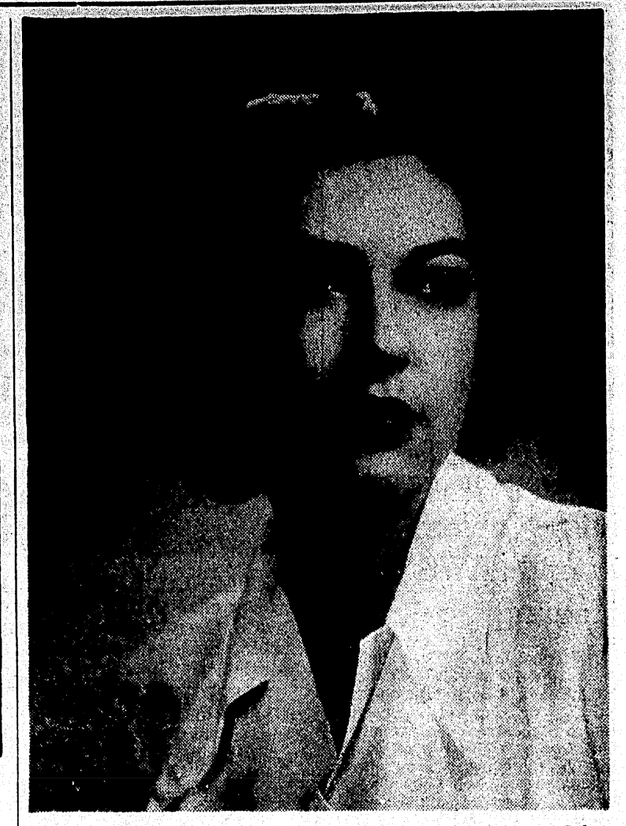
MISS MARY ALICE TURNER'S engagement to Lionel Crowell of West Monroe is announced today by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Black. The wedding will take place at the College Place Baptist Church on May 29 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD—Mrs. Walter Millard Mitchell announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Ann, to Mr. James Fender Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson D. Doyle of Pine Bluff, Arkansas. Miss Mitchell is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and of Louisiana State University where she was chapter president of Chi Omega sorority. She received her Master of Arts degree from Yale University last June and at present is a member of the faculty of North Haven High School, North Haven, Connecticut. Mr. Doyle is also a graduate of Louisiana State University where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He is now a graduate student in Columbia University, New York City. The wedding will be solemnized in Dwight Chapel, New Haven Connecticut, May 15, 1954.



MISS MARTHA GRAY PRENTICE'S engagement to John Robert Wagner, son of Mr. W. H. Wagner and the late Mrs. W. H. Wagner of New Orleans, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer David Prentice of this city. The wedding will be an event of May 29 at the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. James T. Horton officiating.

News From The Public Library

Someone once said that choosing reading material by consulting the best seller list was just the same as choosing music by listening only to those numbers on the "hit parade." However, continued listing on a best seller list is evidence that a number of people have found the book interesting or worthwhile and have recommended it to their friends. Let's take a look at the best seller list for March. First on the list for the months of March and February was "Not As A Stranger" by Morton Thompson. This is a powerful novel teeming with the authentic flavor of the consulting room and the operating theatre. It is the story of a young doctor who is so dedicated to his profession that he overlooks his need for human fellowship and affection. It is well-written and makes utterly absorbing reading. Second on the best seller list also for March and February was 'Sayonara" by James A. Michener. This is a story of the occupation troops in Japan. It is a tender love story and shows a wonderful understanding of an alien people.

Third on the list is "Lord Vanity" by Samuel Shellabarger, a historical novel with an eighteenth century setting. "The High and the Mighty" by Ernest K. Gann is fourth on the list and has been on the best seller list for eleven months. This is a truly good novel that rose to its position of popularity on its own merits and without extensive pushing from the publishers.

The fifth book on the list is one that every adult American should read. It is "Tomorrow" by Phillip Wylie. This is the story of two communities, just across the river from one another. One had a Civil Defense organization and the other did not. This is the story of what happened when disaster struck the two cities. Reading this book should make every man and woman in the Twin Cities call up the Civil Defense office and register for the next basic course in Civil Defense which begins on the second Monday night in May. I am taking the course now and I realize how valuable it is.

Sixth on the list is "Away All Boats" by Kenneth Dodson, a powerful sea story, which is a newcomer to the list this month as is the 8th book on the list "The Night of the Hunter" by David Grubb. Seventh on the list is "The Lady of Arlington" by Harnett T. Kane, which has been on the list for six months. The ninth choice "Battle Cry" by Leon M. Uris has been on the list for eleven months. It is a powerful war story and has a great appeal. Tenth on the list is "Rainbow on the Road" by Esther Forbes. This is a story with a setting in America during the early years of its history.

Now to turn to the non-fiction on the list. We find heading the list "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Norman Vincent Peale. This book has been a best seller for 17 months. Fourth on the list is "Life Is Worth Living" by Fulton J. Sheen, which has been on the list five months. Those are the only two books on the list that have been there longer than two months and they are both books of self-help for a troubled world.

The second book in the non-fiction list is "But We Were Born Free" by Elmer Davis, a book which asks us to take stock of our American liberties. "The Second Tree from the Corner" by E. B. White is a very humorous book and is third on the list. The fifth title is "The Conquest of Everest" by Sir John Hunt, a fascinating book of travel and mountain climbing. The sixth title is "The Man Who Never Was" by E. E. Montagu, a story of a daring hoax, perpetrated during World War II by the British secret service. "Seven Years in Tibet" by Heinrich Harrer is the 7th title and the 8th title is "Ambassador's Report" by Chester Bowles. "The Mind Alive" by the Overstreets is ninth on the list and "Forty Plus and Fancy Free" by Emily Kimbrough is 10th. The last book is a very funny account of the adventures of a group of grandmothers on a European tour.

If you want to read the popular book, choose one from the best seller list and ask for it at your library.

Girl Scout News

It's been a long time since we've heard of troops earning the Foot Traveler Badge. Could it be, as we sometimes hear, that people just don't walk any more? Troop 23 is the exception, apparently, because the girls have decided to do 100 miles of walking in six months. The girls walked all the way from St. Matthew's to Forsythe Park for a picnic one pretty day recently and they're walking to school and music lessons and keeping count of the mileage—guess they ought to have speedometers.

Helen Hofler and Elaine Herr are the leaders of these active girls.

Troop 6, Brownies, of Plum Street School had a picnic and an Easter egg hunt last week at Bernstein park and had lots of fun. Mrs. Claude Carter and Mrs. W. H. Chambliss and Mrs. R. H. Clark hid the eggs.

Troop 1, an almost brand-new troop of Brownies, had an egg hunt for their meeting, too. At a previous meeting the girls had learned to make some-mores, that chocolate-marshmallow - graham cracker combination dear to all Scouts —and they don't burn them either, on account of the fire hazard. The Charles Casons loaned their big yard for the affair and Mrs. A. V. Frost, Mrs. Louise Tolar, and Mrs. Margie Ensminger were in charge of the troop.

Troop 39 had an unusual trip not long ago. They went out on the Winnsboro Road to collect palmetto to make into mats and baskets. Of course, when a troop goes anywhere, it has fun as well as accomplishing something. These girls explored the by-paths, as well as bringing back a good supply of palmetto. Last we heard they were stripping the dried fronds and reading directions for using them. Mrs. Leon Noland is leader of this group.

Last week we were supposed to give you the names of Intermediates who qualified for the '54 Club in the cookie sale. Here they are: Becky Vance, Louise Lester, Amy Hood, Linda McCormick, Carolyn Gallaspy, Frances Ruth Phillips, Barbara Neyland, Mary Lou Clay, Lynne Lewis, Frances Louise Yeldell, Ruth Johnston, Peggy Pierce, Clair Solomon, Sandra Thompson, Suzanne Smith, Lester Ann Dollar, Mary Clare Hanson, Tavie Kenny, Lyvonne McCormick, Tommy Sue Whitfield, Ruth Walker, Faye Ann Hogard, Sandra Tarleton, Jimmie Sue Hibbard, Rose Ann Cascio, Judy Williams, Ronnie Hervey, Carolyn Herr, Nancy Martin, Harriet Hays, Delores Calderone, Marguerite Van Fossen, Mary Jane Young, Mary Jo Strausser, Patsy Riser, Beth Lewis, Judy Wilhite, Sarah Shaughnessy, Veronica Wilds, Cecie Wood, Rosalie Varino, Joan Battaglia, Gail Dyer, Virginia Conti, Elissa Lonzano, Diane Macknick, Rosemary Masters, Mary Louise Thomas, Nancy Clare Noland, Ava Carter, Joan Williams, Margaret Hencey, Sue George, Della Marie Stanley, Brenda Cobb, Dianne King, Jan West, Nancy Wilson, Charlene Cascio, Alma Faulk, Linda Bird, Sue Hill, Jean Slaughter, Sandra Lea, Peggy Dollar and Ruthie Boner.

Overnights at Pine Wood for these girls will be May 14 and May 26, according to letters sent out last week.

Yesterday was the big trip to Wawbansee, Shreveport's established camp, where our girls will camp in August. We'll no doubt have details on the trip by next Sunday.

MRS. JACK P. FACUNDUS

Young Couple Exchange Vows In Miami Church

Miss Elsie Ann Simonds of Miami, Florida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Simonds, became the bride of Jack Pevey Facundus, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bruce Facundus of Monroe, La., at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 11, in the Miami Temple Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Miami, with Elder Dwight P. Herbert performing the ceremony.

Music was presented by Wilbur Rilea, soloist, and Mrs. Katharyn Crowder, organist. Mr. Rilea sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "A Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was fashioned with full skirt of candlelight satin ending in a chapel train. The fitted bodice was Chantilly lace with long sleeves and illusion yoke with standing lace collar. Her fingertip veil of illusion was draped from a bandeau of lace and lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid. For something old she carried a white satin handpainted fan, which her maternal grandmother used at her wedding over 60 years ago.

Mrs. Charles Morgan, matron of honor, wore pink taffeta with overskirt of matching tulle. Her bouquet was of dark rose colored carnations. Mrs. Jack Harold, brides, matron wore turquoise blue taffeta combined with tulle and carried yellow carnations. Miss Eileen Watkins, bridesmaid, was dressed in yellow taffeta and tulle and her flowers were blue carnations. Sherrill Anne Bucalo was flowergirl.

The bridegroom's cousin, Lea Facundus, Jr. of Monroe, La., was the groom's best man. Derwood Facundus and David Henrikson were groomsmen. Jack Harold, Ed Brice, Dick Harris and Rodney Dorsett were ushers.

There was a reception at Miami Junior Academy, 3100 NW 18th Avenue, after the ceremony.

Mrs. Facundus was graduated from Collegedale Academy, Collegedale, Tenn., and studied for a year at Southern Missionary College, majoring in nursing and secretarial courses. She received her degree from the Walsh School of Business Science.

37th Anniversary Celebrated By Altrusa Club

Altrusa's ideals of patriotism, service and efficiency flamed high among members when they met on Thursday evening at the Rendezvous to celebrate their 37th anniversary of the founding of Altrusa and to hear an outstanding address by Miss Ann Mickel on "Women Go To Work at Any Age," in conjunction with Founders' Fund Vocational Aid Project which is also observed during the month of April.

Guests were greeted at the entrance hall by Mrs. Erlene Adams and Mrs. Jewel Durham, hostesses on this occasion.

This was a spring bonnet affair with large bouquets of mixed spring flowers interspersed with glowing white candles extending the full length of the dinner table. Centering the head table was an unusually attractive arrangement of tulips, lilacs, narcissus and gladioli in a white Easter basket.

On an adjoining table was placed the large birthday cake shaped in the form of an "Easter Bonnet." Surrounding the cake were 37 candles and tiny nests filled with Easter eggs.

The following members were in attendance: Mrs. Gordie Phillips, Miss Mary Benoit, Dr. Katherine Foster, Miss Agatha Burkett, Miss Mary Lee Frost, Mrs. Louise Klam, Miss Hilda Ann Hair, Miss Bernice McCoy, Miss Yvonne Brett, Miss Lillie Glenn, Mrs. Abbie Leckie, Mrs. Jewel Durham, Mrs. Erlene Adams and Miss Ann Mickel.

MISS CLYDIA LORENA DARTEZ is the fiancee of Travis Lee DeFreese son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lee DeFreese of West Monroe. The wedding is planned for May 30 at McGuire Methodist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ned Dartez of Detroit Michigan.

MISS CORA ELIZABETH DURBIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lanius Durbin of Waterproof, will become the bride of Harry Noe Theriot of Port Allen on May 1. The wedding will be solemnized at the St. Francis Assissi Church in Waterproof.

Al Cassady Joins Hewitt's

Hewitt's School of Music is proud to announce that Al Cassady has joined us in our band instrument department as instructor.

Mr. Cassady was born near Cincinnati, Ohio, and received his musical training at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

He was with Bert Farber for some time before joining the Air Force band at Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio, as director.

He organized the marching band at Wright Patterson Field in Dayton, Ohio. He organized his own band and traveled the midwest for seven years playing at resorts and clubs. Also directed his own band at Glenn Rendezvous, Newport, Kentucky for more than one year.

Being an accomplished musician, Mr. Cassady plays such instruments as sax, trombone and bass fiddle, as well as all marching band instruments. He will specialize in assisting bandmasters by coaching and tutoring musicians who desire to excel in their instruments.

MRS. JACK P. FACUNDUS

Young Couple Exchange Vows In Miami Church

Miss Elsie Ann Simonds of Miami, Florida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Simonds, became the bride of Jack Pevey Facundus, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bruce Facundus of Monroe, La., at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 11, in the Miami Temple Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Miami, with Elder Dwight P. Herbert performing the ceremony.

Music was presented by Wilbur Riles, soloist, and Mrs. Katharyn Crowder, organist. Mr. Riles sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "A Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was fashioned with full skirt of candlelight satin ending in a chapel train. The fitted bodice was Chantilly lace with long sleeves and illusion yoke with standing lace collar. Her fingertip veil of illusion was draped from a bandeau of lace and lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid. For something old she carried a white satin handpainted fan, which her maternal grandmother used at her wedding over 60 years ago.

Mrs. Charles Morgan, matron of honor, wore pink taffeta with overskirt of matching tulle. Her bouquet was of dark rose colored carnations. Mrs. Jack Harold, brides, matron wore turquoise blue taffeta combined with tulle and carried yellow carnations. Miss Eileen Watkins, bridesmaid, was dressed in yellow taffeta and tulle and her flowers were blue carnations. Sherrill Anne Bucalo was flowergirl.

The bridegroom's cousin, Lea Facundus, Jr. of Monroe, La., was the groom's best man. Derwood Facundus and David Henrikson were groomsmen. Jack Harold, Ed Brice, Dick Harris and Rodney Dorsett were ushers.

There was a reception at Miami Junior Academy, 3100 NW 18th Avenue, after the ceremony.

Mrs. Facundus was graduated from Collegedale Academy, Collegedale, Tenn., and studied for a year at Southern Missionary College, majoring in nursing and secretarial courses. She received her degree from the Walsh School of Business Science.

National Home Demonstration Week

In Louisiana Home Demonstration Club members will celebrate the ninth annual National Home Demonstration Week, May 2-8, under the banner of "Faith in Our World."

This great national movement began in 1913 when a handful of women wanted to learn to can tomatoes. Can you imagine a world without information on food preservation? Not even a bulletin—well, that was the woman's world of 1913. Today in Louisiana new methods and better solutions to old problems are carried to homemakers through home demonstration organizations by the home demonstration agents connected with the Agricultural Extension program of the land grant college, Louisiana State University.

In Ouachita Parish there are 22 Home Demonstration Clubs with approximately 800 members. These clubs will celebrate National Home Demonstration Week. Home demonstration club work offers many opportunities for women to pool their efforts and work together and become more enlightened on many subjects that can lead to a finer home life, wider community service, and greater world understanding. If you are not a member of this great work, this is the time to join it. Join the Home Demonstration Club nearest you.

In celebrating National Home Demonstration Week, Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council will be hostess of a garden party at the home of Mrs. A. T. Stout, May 7th from 3-5 p.m. All Home Demonstration Club members are invited. Guest of honor will be the retired Home Demonstration agent, Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, and past presidents of the council, Mrs. J. B. Filhoil, Sr., Mrs. Alma Hale, Mrs. C. R. Alexander, Mrs. E. W. Earl, Mrs. C. B. Hammett, Mrs. Robert Cann, Mrs. T. G. Johnson, Mrs. J. S. Sims, Mrs. Hilton Owens, Mrs. J. R. Frantom, and Mrs. A. T. Stout.

See you next Sunday.

Mrs. Baker Is Honored

CHOUDRANT — Mrs. Huel Baker was introduced at the regular meeting held at the Masonic Hall Tuesday evening by Worthy Matron Lois Britt.

Mrs. Baker was recently re-elected district deputy grand matron of District No. 5, Order of the Eastern Star.

St. Francis Auxiliary Tour Includes Four Lovely Homes

The St. Francis Auxiliary conducted a tour of some of Monroe's most outstanding homes on Tuesday afternoon, April 20. This was the first time that many of these homes were open to the public, and it was indeed a pleasure to view such lovely houses and their furnishings.

Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Sigmund Masur, and Mrs. Charles Mitchell graciously invited guests to see and enjoy their treasured belongings. Receiving with Mrs. Layton in her home were: Mrs. E. M. Clark of Mer Rouge, and Mmes. J. H. Trousdale, Guy Stubbs, C. P. Gray, Sr., Armand McHenry, Sr., Bruce Frizzell, Stanley Blower, H. G. McDonald, David Garrett, C. D. Oakley, Thomas Leigh, and Miss Carol Layton.

Of particular interest in the Layton home was the collection of original Audubon prints and the beautiful pieces of Meissen china.

The second home of the tour was that of Mrs. Sigmund Masur's on South Grand. Artistic arrangements of roses and iris were in profusion throughout the entire home. Those assisting Mrs. Masur were: Mmes. Jack Masur, Louis Masur, Jr., Herbert Rosenhein, F. H. Shipp, Edna Shaughnessy, W.H. McFadden, Stanley Mintz, William Bendel, Jr., Murray Hudson.

Upon arrival at the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell, the guests were welcomed with true southern hospitality by "Mammy Etta," a servant who has been with the family for 30 years.

Assisting with the courtesies in the O'Kelly - Mitchell home were: Mmes. H. V. Collins, R. L. Wood, Sr., Stanley Hodges, D. M. Moore, Sr., H. F. Madison, Darwin Nichols, George Guerriero, Charles Wilds, Jr., T. John, and Miss Gail and Dianne Dyer, grand-nieces of Mrs. Mitchell.

The history of the house and the valuable heirlooms were related and shown to the public by the hostesses. The tour was climaxed at a tea held in the garden of Mrs. Henry Guerriero's home on Speed Avenue. The garden was a lovely picture with yellow iris, day lilies, and pansies in bloom. It formed a perfect setting for the tea table, centered with an arrangement of day lilies. Baskets of greenery and yellow flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the garden. Serving with Mrs. Guerriero were: Mmes. Jack T. Jackson, B. H. Rivers, W. J. Riley, Sr., R. D. Kellogg, John Allen, J. T. Harris, Eckhart Wheeler, D. I. Hirsch, C. P. Gray, Jr., M. J. Carbone, Howard Greene, Wayne Gray, and Robert Wheeler, a visitor of Chicago. More than 300 guests called during the afternoon.

Hot water, in laundering, makes such fibers as cottons and linens more pliable than they usually are. It opens the pores of the fiber and lets the soap enter so that it can effectively reach deep-down soil. By "hot" water we mean 140F. or above.

Mrs. Baker Is Honored

Mrs. Baker was recently reelected district deputy grand matron of District No. 5, Order of the Eastern Star.

St. Francis Auxiliary Tour Includes Four Lovely Homes

The St. Francis Auxiliary conducted a tour of some of Monroe's most outstanding homes on Tuesday afternoon, April 20. This was the first time that many of these homes were open to the public, and it was indeed a pleasure to view such lovely houses and their furnishings.

Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Sigmund Masur, and Mrs. Charles Mitchell graciously invited guests to see and enjoy their treasured belongings. Receiving with Mrs. Layton in her home were: Mrs. E. M. Clark of Mer Rouge, and Mmes. J. H. Trousdale, Guy Stubbs, C. P. Gray, Sr., Armand McHenry, Sr., Bruce Frizzell, Stanley Blower, H. G. McDonald, David Garrett, C. D. Oakley, Thomas Leigh, and Miss Carol Layton.

Of particular interest in the Layton home was the collection of original Audubon prints and the beautiful pieces of Meissen china.

The second home of the tour was that of Mrs. Sigmund Masur's on South Grand. Artistic arrangements of roses and iris were in profusion throughout the entire home. Those assisting Mrs. Masur were: Mmes. Jack Masur, Louis Masur, Jr., Herbert Rosenhein, F. H. Shipp, Edna Shaughnessy, W.H. McFadden, Stanley Mintz, William Bendel, Jr., Murray Hudson.

Upon arrival at the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell, the guests were welcomed with true southern hospitality by "Mammy Etta," a servant who has been with the family for 30 years.

Assisting with the courtesies in the O'Kelly - Mitchell home were: Mmes. H. V. Collins, R. L. Wood, Sr., Stanley Hodges, D. M. Moore, Sr., H. F. Madison, Darwin Nichols, George Guerriero, Charles Wilds, Jr., T. John, and Miss Gail and Dianne Dyer, grand-nieces of Mrs. Mitchell.

The history of the house and the valuable heirlooms were related and shown to the public by the hostesses. The tour was climaxed at a tea held in the garden of Mrs. Henry Guerriero's home on Speed Avenue. The garden was a lovely picture with yellow iris, day lilies, and pansies in bloom. It formed a perfect setting for the tea table, centered with an arrangement of day lilies. Baskets of greenery and yellow flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the garden. Serving with Mrs. Guerriero were: Mmes. Jack T. Jackson, B. H. Rivers, W. J. Riley, Sr., R. D. Kellogg, John Allen, J. T. Harris, Eckhart Wheeler, D. I. Hirsch, C. P. Gray, Jr., M. J. Carbone, Howard Greene, Wayne Gray, and Robert Wheeler, a visitor of Chicago. More than 300 guests called during the afternoon.

Hot water, in laundering, makes such fibers as cottons and linens more pliable than they usually are. It opens the pores of the fiber and lets the soap enter so that it can effectively reach deep-down soil. By "hot" water we mean 140F. or above.

Joyce Wells' Wedding Plans Are Announced

Miss Mary Joyce Wells' engagement to Vernon James Martin of Longview, Tex., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Talco, Tex., is announced today by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Mark A. Wells of Wisner.

The wedding will be an event of May 1 at eight o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church in Wisner. The bride's father, Rev. Wells, will officiate.

Ushers will be Paul Morgan and Rupert Scott.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Wells and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Malone.

She graduated from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

A metal sponge that's recommended for scouring pots and pans can also be put to good use peeling carrots and potatoes. It makes the job easier and quicker—and thriftier, since you're not likely to cut too deep. Rinse the vegetables thoroughly after peeling.

If you have difficulty keeping your hands steady when manicuring your nails, try one of the plastic hand holders that are made especially for this purpose. They are available at notions counters.

The best towels are those whose loops are long and close together.

Symphony Has Strong String Section

A strong and proficient string section is basically essential in the organization of an orchestra. Under the able leadership of Eloy Fominaya, concertmaster, the string section of the Twin Cities Symphony has shown outstanding development during the past year. Mr. Fominaya, assistant professor of music at Northeast State College, came to Monroe February, 1953 from Dallas, having studied music in the east and north. He came to the south to teach at Baylor University, and he has been active in string and orchestral music in the south for the past few years.

Since his coming to Monroe the string music department at the college has developed to the extent that interest and enrollment of students of string instruments has increased beyond all expectation. In addition to college students, Mr. Fominaya has students in violin from five parishes in northeast Louisiana, showing that the interest is not limited to the Twin Cities.

A string group of approximately 20 performers meets regularly at the college and promises to be the beginning of the development of a string orchestra at Northeast State College.

This increased interest in string music has come largely as a result of the growing influence and importance of the Twin Cities Symphony.

Anyone interested in the American orchestral scene is well aware of the great activity in the community orchestra field in the last few years. We may be inclined to think that here is something that is absolutely unique, and congratulate ourselves upon pioneering in a new and significant musical development. If so, it may come as a surprise to learn that we have a tradition for community orchestras that stretches backward in our national history for over 200 years. Actually, the first documented "orchestra" concert in this country was given in Charleston, S. C. in 1731, the year before the births of George Washington and Joseph Haydn. The next year we have notices of concerts in Boston, and from that time on to the beginning of the 19th century, orchestra concerts were given with increasing regularity in all the larger population centers of the country.

These early orchestras were made up of the people of the community, including both "professors" (professionals) and "gentlemen" of the town. Here the pattern for our present community orchestras was formed. In these early days there were no women in the orchestras, except in the Moravian settlement at Bethlehem, Pa. There women played violin, cello and flute. As might be suspected however, the women and men players were strictly segregated. This early orchestra is probably the only one ever to exist with two violin, cello and flute sections!

SALT CLEANSER

MISS ANNE LOUISE RIZZO is betrothed to Jerry Roy Johnson, U. S. Marine Corps. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rizzo and Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, both of this city. The wedding will be solemnized early in May at St. Matthews Catholic Church.

A simple rack hung on the back of a high chair is a good place to keep a soapy washcloth and hair brush. Then you'll waste no time restoring your baby's neatness after meals.

Richland Parish Is Beautiful Land Of Rich Black Soil

By MRS. ORA BENNETT

In 1788, Don Juan Filhoil, who was commandant of Fort Miro, a Spanish settlement (now Monroe), reported to his government that the Ouachita Country was a vast extent of territory, inhabited by two hundred individuals. He is also reported to have stated that the commerce of the country did not exceed six or seven pots of bear oil, two thousand deer skins or five hundred beaver pelts.

Also relayed to the Spanish government was "The prairie lands east of the river do not seem natural. They have everything you can ask, and in truth, lack only cultivation." The river to which he referred was the Ouachita, naturally. Richland Parish, which is a part of the old Ouachita Country and which, of course is a portion of the lands "east of the river", truly lives up to the expectations, as well as to its name "Rich Land."

The parish was established in 1868 from parts of Ouachita, Morehouse, Franklin and Carroll parishes, after a vigorous fight in the General Assembly of Louisiana, where the Democrats declared their opposition to its creation because Mr. John Ray, Republican leader in this area, was the man who introduced the bill to create the new parish. The Democrats looked upon the move as a purely political one, but were unsuccesstul against Mr. Ray and those who were persuaded by his reasoning. The bill was introduced in the fall of 1868 and the parish really came into existence in 1869.

When one hears the name Richland Parish, he probably thinks at once—good fishing, profitable farming, industry, excellent educational set-ups, and thriving towns—just progress in general. Truly, it is a beautiful flat land of rich black soil — 368,640 acres — furnishing homes to approximately 27,000 people.

Scenic Spots

Measuring up to its reputation, Richland does afford almost unlimited choice of summer fishing sites, including scenic spots like Crew Lake, Lake LaFourche and Clear Lake. Then there are three picturesque streams, spanned on travel routes by handsome bridges. These — Big Creek, Bayou Macon and Boeuf river, wander around and off into dense swamps, affording at intervals the fisherman's paradise. Too, these excellent water bodies furnish innumerable tons of water for irrigation projects undertaken, especially in the past two years, by Richland's progressive farmers.

Hunters and trappers seek parts of Richland's swamp mazes when the seasons arrive for their favorite sports, although the area is not so well known for hunting as for fishing.

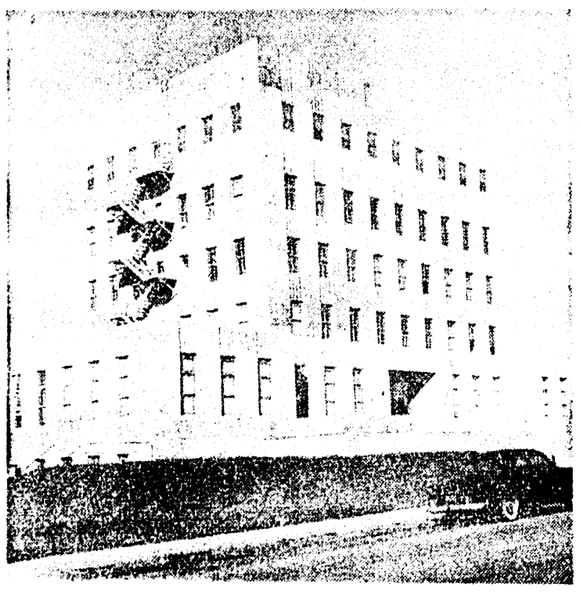
Numbers of drainage canals and ditches have been dug to prevent devastating overflows and crop loss such as those suffered in the overflow of 1927 when very few knolls were spared from water coverage. One Rayville lady has recounted to the writer many times how people, even though expectant of a flood, were caught unawares at noonday and plates and food swept off the table to float around in water.

Specifically, Richland is an agricultural center. Today there are many acres producing cotton, corn, soy beans, oats, cane, some rice and many vegetables. These and their vast production attest to the fact that the Spaniards were correct in surmising that the land east of the river "lacked only cultivation." Crop variation and rotation as well as diversification are advocated by the agriculturists of the parish, making swine and cattle production as well as the dairy industry show profitable results.

Livestock Show

The Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show, held at Delhi each year in March, gives added impetus to the agricultural spirit of the people especially to the FFA and 4-H Club groups which exhibit and sell cattle and livestock. The home offices of the Louisiana Delta Council and the Tensas Levee Board, which are helping to further the causes of farmers and promote work in the Delta farmlands, are found in Richland parish. Too, Richland is fortunate in having one of the outstanding FSA farm projects in the state.

Richland can boast of its very active extension department, having cooperative county farm agents, their assistants and fellow workers for the common good of all.



RICHLAND PARISH COURTHOUSE —The last word in modern and complete building is depicted in the view of the Richland parish courthouse shown above on the cite that has housed three courthouses since the parish was created in 1868. The new building was dedicated in 1953.

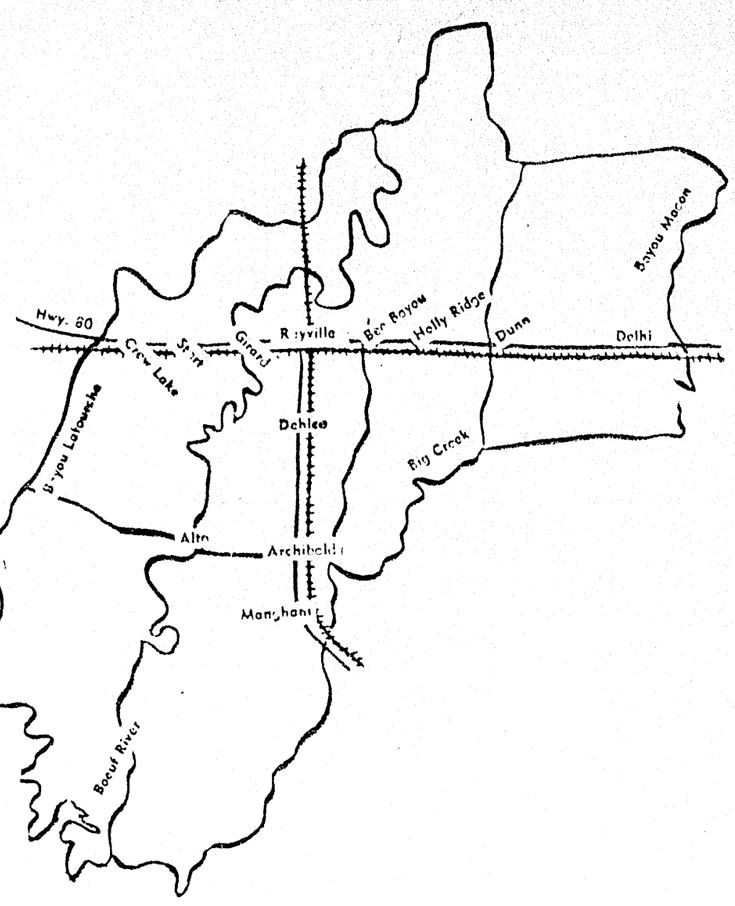
DELHI LIVESTOCK SHOW Attracts thousands of people each year to the city of Delhi.



Natural Resources

In addition to fertile top soil, Richland is among the more fortunate areas in having so many natural resources. Gas and oil have played a great part, and still do, so far as settling and livelihoods are concerned. As a part of the greatest gas field in the world, parts of Richland became well known in the twenties. Many Louisianians remember seeing the glare of the great gas well at Alto which burned for approximately five years in that period. That and other water filled craters over the parish tell the story of costly infernos during the initial production period. In 1944, oil was discovered in the Delhi area, and since then many drilling operations have been carried out in the Delhi, Big Creek and Dehlco regions leaving the area spotted with pumpers.

A large three million dollar gasoline plant at Delhi now furnishes employment for many. Two carbon black plants in the Nelson Bend area near Rayville are operating to capacity, specializing in carbon blacks, some of which are used in the manufacture of high grade enamels and paints. These establishments give employment to many as the gas from local fields is made into this valuable by-product.

Sawmill Villages

The sawmill villages of Crew Lake, Rayville and Dehlco stand and flourish yet, but without the mill operations. The Franklin Mill in Holly Ridge, which is an outgrowth, one might say of the old cooperage establishment of Chess Wymond, is the largest and oldest mill firm still in operation.

Richland is conveniently located for travel and freight service. The transcontinental highway U. S. 80 traverses the area, running almost parallel to the Illinois Central operated railroad. Several hard surfaced roads serve as links to the main traveled routes, with a network of good graveled routes to connect them. The Missouri Pacific railroad lines give freight service to Delhi and to Rayville and Mangham with two separate lines. Rayville is at the junction of the two railroads mentioned — the I. C. and the M. P. Couch Motor Lines and T. S. C. furnish motor freight service.

Under the guidance of former superintendents and that of the present one, J. B. Thompson, Jr., and the progressive citizens who have made up the school boards, the educational system and opportunities have become noted among the best in the state. The present supervisor, Miss Blanche Miller, as well as Mr. Thompson, is recognized throughout Louisiana and the south as capable school people.

Two hundred and sixty-six instructors are employed by the school board to work wit hthe 6,361 students enrolled this session. High schools for white children are found at Start, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Rayville and Delhi, the latter reportedly the larger in enrollment. The Negro students are served by four high schools and ten elementary schools. This phase of Richland's educational system is complete with its own supervisor. All schools are either in relatively new buildings or those remodeled in the not too distant past. Plans call for a new high school for Negroes in Rayville. A Catholic school is also located in Rayville.

Schools, Churches

Richland's Start School, joined later by the others, was one of the first in Louisiana to participate in the child study program, a great stride forward in educating the individual child. The elementary schools, under Miss Miller's supervision, were among the state's pioneers in using levels promotions instead of the older method. Another notable feature of this parish's set-up is the materials library, under the supervision of Mrs. Selma Tomb Martin. Teachers of other parishes as well as Richland have had her help in acquiring new teaching and library materials through actually seeing the center located in Rayville. Regular visits to all schools are made to determine teachers' needs and carry requested materials to them.

Schools and all Richland citizens are privileged and urged to borrow books and reading matter from the parish library, its branches or the bookmobile. Rayville is the location for the main library, of which Mrs. Lellah Lyle is the head librarian.

Many churches are scattered over the countryside or found in the villages and towns. Represented in the list of denominations one finds Catholic, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Church of Christ, Church of God, Assembly of God and Primitive Baptist. Many of the groups have erected new edifices in the past five years.

Progress Day

In 1953 on May 9th, Progress Day was observed. Visitors and citizens of the parish viewed the magnificent new courthouse, constructed in 1951 at a cost of more than half a million dollars. It is the third building to stand on the site which was donated in May, 1869, by John Ray for a courthouse square. At that time, Elijah Scott, president of the Richland Parish police jury, and William N. Potts, first lawyer to hang out a shingle in Rayville and who was at that time district attorney protempore, accepted Mr. Ray's donation and before long saw the first court house building in the parish. It was a small, wooden frame house, consisting of two rooms. Shortly after its completion, however the police jury was amazed to find that the two rooms were unsatisfactory to satisfy the demands of the various parish agencies. A project of dividing it into four rooms was undertaken, and soon one room each was alloted to the sheriff, the tax assessor, the clerk of court and the police jury. In 1872, the parish was able to provide a better building to house parish offices, so work was begun on a modern building of brick construction, with the brick being kilned of clay, dug only two blocks away. This "vast" building was about seventy feet square and was two stories high. The old wooden building was sold to a group of Negroes for a church building and can still be seen on the bank of the river down which it was floated to its new location and is still in use.

The new courthouse is of ultra modern design and second to none in this state in modern facilities, furnishings and convenience. All parish offices and some state and federal agencies have headquarters there in that completely air conditioned five-story structure. Its basement is also usable for office space. The parish jail is located on the top floor.

Those who live in Richland Parish know that in the long forgotten past, some with great foresight, prophesied correctly when they gave utterance to such thoughts as, "If the swamplands could be drained, this would be a great agricultural area," or "the lands east of the river lack only cultivation."

They passed away, never realizing that they had planted a seed or kindled a candle which burned as a small flame, but not for long. Progress has been steadily made. Richland has the proper name — it is a region of rich soil, natural beauty, natural resources and a people endowed with a rich heritage and a determination to make an even greater "and better place to live of this "Land where Cotton Grows and Oil Flows."

Girard

Girard, located on the west bank of lovely old Boeuf River and also on highway 80 and the Illinois Central Railroad, is the oldest settlement in Richland Parish, as well as the oldest settlement in north Louisiana.

It was established in 1821 by Henry Bry, a land agent for Stephen Girard, an American financier of Philadelphia. He had bought lands from Abraham Morehouse. Since Mr. Bry was an agent for Mr. Girard, it is quite obvious why the settlement was given its name. Girard was the old stop for the river boats when so many people were migrating to Louisiana. It was also once a very important railroad center. The people who first came to settle Alto and other older communities of Richland, alighted from the railway cars at Girard and made their way by boat down Boeuf River to their respective spots.

Girard is still one of the important spots of the parish, although it is one of the smaller villages. It once had a school, but now its children are educated in the Rayville and Start Schools. It still has its post office, four stores, a gin, a butane storage yard as well as several old homes in good repair which show the age and cultural background of the village.

Alto

Alto is an old settlement on the banks of Boeuf River and its name means "High." The settlement was named Alto because it did not go under during the overflows which occurred at intervals of from 12 to 20 years before the drainage system was completed.

The old Methodist Church at Alto is the oldest church in Richland Parish and was built prior to the civil war. The second oldest church is the Alto Presbyterian Church which has never been totally rebuilt or never moved from the original site. It was erected in 1872. The third church in age is the Methodist Church located in the Little Creek settlement three miles from Alto.

In the small community there are still many of the old families still residing in homes built by their ancestors.

Many of the old homes are still standing. The Hatch home on the river bank, the Alexander home at the bend of Boeuf River and others tell the story of days gone by.

The business district of Alto is at the present time getting a face lifting. The Sartor store is being rebuilt and soon there will be a new brick store. Two general stores two cafes, two service stations and two churches make up the gathering places. A lovely high school for Negroes is located at the edge of the town.

The neighboring town of Archibald shares with Alto in her pageant and history. Archibald has a school and the principal is John Culbertson.

Rayville

Time was in the 1850's when Little Creek Station, Rayville's forerunner, stood as a steamboat stop on the banks of Boeuf River. Passengers on the well known boats stopped or chatted at a store owned there by the Ray brothers, one of whom was John Ray, who was responsible for getting through the state legislature by "tall talking," the bill, Act No. 115 of the General Assembly of Louisiana, creating Richland Parish.

Ray, a staunch Republican and political leader in the Ouachita Country, is the founder of the Republican party in this area.

The store known as Little Creek Station was the center of activity for the entire area. Reportedly the Jordan family had established residence a little further north on Boeuf River and when the activity became great enough that a trading center was inevitable, the two factions, The Rays and the Jordans, each contended that the town should be on his lands. The Rays won after the issue was decided by a heated election and the town was founded on land east of the river.

Rayville was incorporated as a village on January 4, 1901 and as a town on April 22, 1910. The building of the Vicksburg - Shreveport and Texas Railroad (now known as the Illinois - Central) was responsible for the establishment of Rayville or as it was known, Little Creek Station. Railroad service in 1860 brought settlers from many of the southern states. Then after the Civil War many displaced persons moved into the territory.

Rayville and Richland parish can boast of having the first parish library in the state. It was declared so in 1926 and a building was erected as a gift from Robert R. Rhymes in memory of his wife.

The town has steadily grown even though it was extensively damaged by disastrous fires in 1890 and in 1891. Then in 1927 a damaging overflow struck the town.

The advancements of Rayville's churches, her business district and other conveniences and necessities for her citizens, has placed the town on an average well above that of most towns her size.

Delhi

Once called "Deerfield" the town of Delhi was renamed by its founder John Bishop after he read Thomas Moore's "Lalla Rook."

The town was settled about 1845, around the end of the Mexican war. The first building in the town was reportedly erected by John Bishop near the site of the present office of the Louisiana Power and Light Company. Many other old buildings in the town have histories dating back before the Civil War.

Delhi was declared an incorporated village on May 28, 1900 by Act No. 136 of the acts of the General Assembly of Louisiana. On October 11, 1919 it was classified as a town after municipal authorities took a census and found the population in excess of 1,000. The population in 1940 was 1,192 and in 1950 it was declared 1,861. The increase could be credited to the discovery of "black goal" and the location of several industries and contracting firms which serve the oil industry.

The town of Delhi provides her citizens with adequate schools, churches, medical clinics and other necessities.

Holly Ridge

The town of Holly Ridge was founded sometime after the year 1880 by men interested in establishing cooperage plants. The land in the area of Holly Ridge was bought for $5 an acre and was named Holly Ridge because the land was covered predominantly with holly trees.

Today the town of Holly Ridge is centered around the Franklin concerns and since the death of George Franklin, Sr. last year his son, George Franklin, Jr., has assumed leadership.

The village has a post office, modern high school, three stores, a service station and the Franklin mill.

Holly Ridge received justified recognition last year when a leading farm magazine chose as "Church of the Year" the lovely new Methodist church of Holly Ridge. It's pastor, Rev. E. B. Emmerich, was selected as "Rural Minister of the Year," in 1952. The church is a result of supreme efforts on the part of the late Mr. Franklin and his family.

Mangham

The town of Mangham was incorporated in the spring of 1907. To cite the incorporation of the town a Methodist Sunday School was organized and a new two-story frame school house was built.

During the years Mangham has held much drama in the establishment of the town. The incidents, too numerous to mention in limited space, are still recounted today by her elder citizens. During the past years the Civil War touched the community along with two fires, one in 1907 and the other in 1915 which destroyed blocks of the town. In 1927 the flood brought catastrophe to the town, yet, surviving that a tornado and a depression, the town in 1940 was written up as having 527 inhabitants, 27 business houses, three churches, one high school for whites and one for Negroes, three cotton gins, a depot and post office. The hotel had been destroyed by fire and the bank closed.

Today in Mangham an increase in population has been noted. The 1950 census showed she had 650 citizens along with 34 business establishments, three churches, adequate schools, branch library, depot, post office, cotton gins, new telephone office, town hall, fire station, a branch bank of the Richland State Bank, two federated clubs, and other significant marks of progress.

Start, Crew Lake

Start and Crew Lake, at the western edge of the parish, are two small villages making up one community. They are composed of relatively modern homes and two large churches, the Crew Lake Methodist Church and the Start Baptist Church, are located in the area.

Crew Lake in the 1920's was a sawmill town and then later became a ghost town after the saw mill industries moved out of the area. Today the community has taken on new life and is a beautiful spot on U. S. Highway 80.

One of the five Richland parish high schools for whites is located in Start where one of the best equipped football fields in the parish is located. Two gins and three stores, along with the post office, make up the center of activity.

By MRS. ORA BENNETT

In 1788, Don Juan Filhoil, who was commandant of Fort Miro, a Spanish settlement (now Monroe), reported to his government that the Ouachita Country was a vast extent of territory, inhabited by two hundred individuals. He is also reported to have stated that the commerce of the country did not exceed six or seven pots of bear oil, two thousand deer skins or five hundred beaver pelts.

Also relayed to the Spanish government was "The prairie lands east of the river do not seem natural. They have everything you can ask, and in truth, lack only cultivation." The river to which he referred was the Ouachita, naturally. Richland Parish, which is a part of the old Ouachita Country and which, of course is a portion of the lands "east of the river", truly lives up to the expectations, as well as to its name "Rich Land."

The parish was established in 1868 from parts of Ouachita, Morehouse, Franklin and Carroll parishes, after a vigorous fight in the General Assembly of Louisiana, where the Democrats declared their opposition to its creation because Mr. John Ray, Republican leader in this area, was the man who introduced the bill to create the new parish. The Democrats looked upon the move as a purely political one, but were unsuccessful against Mr. Ray and those who were persuaded by his reasoning. The bill was introduced in the fall of 1868 and the parish really came into existence in 1869.

When one hears the name Richland Parish, he probably thinks at once—good fishing, profitable farming, industry, excellent educational set-ups, and thriving towns—just progress in general. Truly, it is a beautiful flat land of rich black soil — 368,640 acres — furnishing homes to approximately 27,000 people.

Scenic Spots

Measuring up to its reputation, Richland does afford almost unlimited choice of summer fishing sites, including scenic spots like Crew Lake, Lake LaFourche and Clear Lake. Then there are three picturesque streams, spanned on travel routes by handsome bridges. These — Big Creek, Bayou Macon and Boeuf river, wander around and off into dense swamps, affording at intervals the fisherman's paradise. Too, these excellent water bodies furnish innumerable tons of water for irrigation projects undertaken, especially in the past two years, by Richland's progressive farmers.

Hunters and trappers seek parts of Richland's swamp mazes when the seasons arrive for their favorite sports, although the area is not so well known for hunting as for fishing.

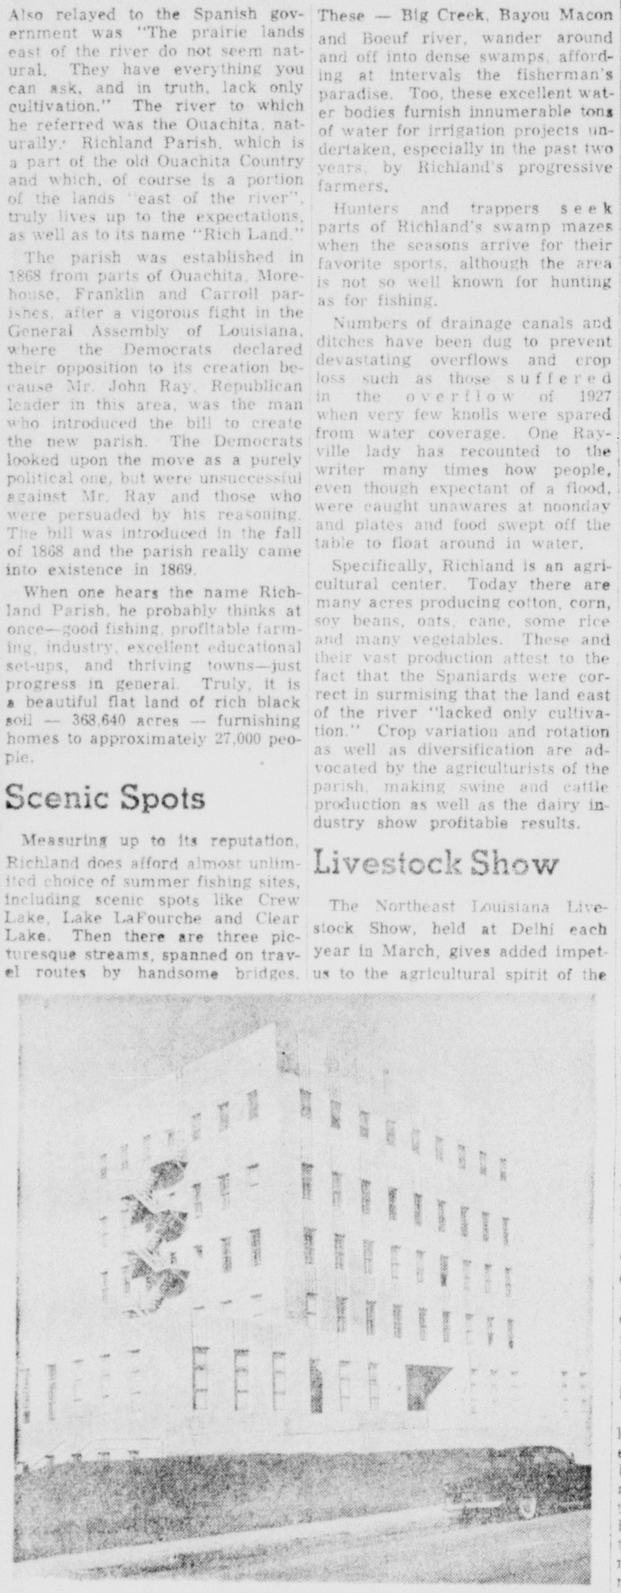
Numbers of drainage canals and ditches have been dug to prevent devastating overflows and crop loss such as those suffered in the overflow of 1927 when very few knolls were spared from water coverage. One Rayville lady has recounted to the writer many times how people, even though expectant of a flood, were caught unawares at noonday and plates and food swept off the table to float around in water.

Specifically, Richland is an agricultural center. Today there are many acres producing cotton, corn, soy beans, oats, cane, some rice and many vegetables. These and their vast production attest to the fact that the Spaniards were correct in surmising that the land east of the river "lacked only cultivation." Crop variation and rotation as well as diversification are advocated by the agriculturists of the parish, making swine and cattle production as well as the dairy industry show profitable results.

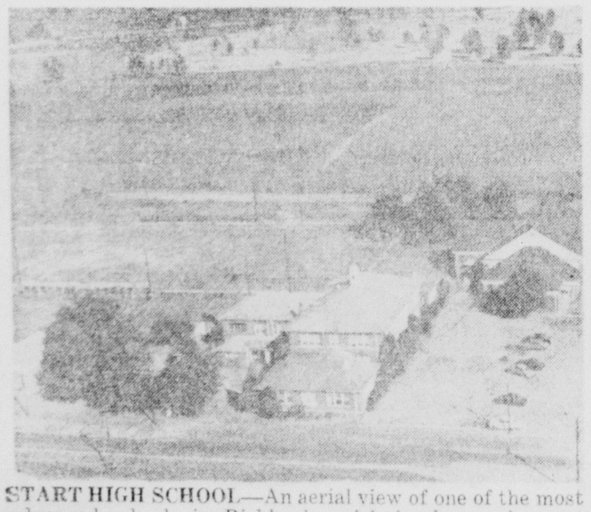
Livestock Show

The Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show, held at Delhi each year in March, gives added impetus to the agricultural spirit of the people especially to the FFA and 4-H Club groups which exhibit and sell cattle and livestock. The home offices of the Louisiana Delta Council and the Tensas Levee Board, which are helping to further the causes of farmers and promote work in the Delta farmlands, are found in Richland parish. Too, Richland is fortunate in having one of the outstanding FSA farm projects in the state.

Richland can boast of its very active extension department, having cooperative county farm agents, their assistants and fellow workers for the common good of all.

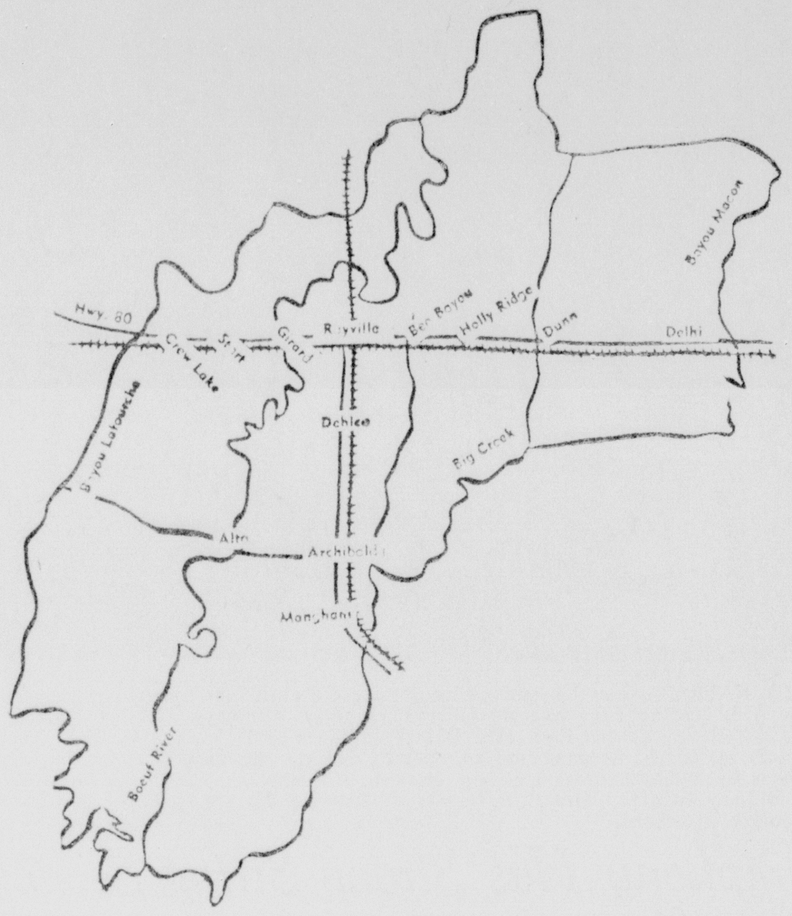


RICHLAND PARISH COURTHOUSE —The last word in modern and complete building is depicted in the view of the Richland parish courthouse shown above on the cite that has housed three courthouses since the parish was created in 1868. The new building was dedicated in 1953.



START HIGH SCHOOL—An aerial view of one of the most advanced schools in Richland parish is shown above at Start. The Start High School, is one of the smallest in the parish.

DELHI LIVESTOCK SHOW Attracts thousands of people each year to the city of Delhi.



Natural Resources

In addition to fertile top soil, Richland is among the more fortunate areas in having so many natural resources. Gas and oil have played a great part, and still do, so far as settling and livelihoods are concerned. As a part of the greatest gas field in the world, parts of Richland became well known in the twenties. Many Louisianians remember seeing the glare of the great gas well at Alto which burned for approximately five years in that period. That and other water filled craters over the parish tell the story of costly infernos during the initial production period. In 1944, oil was discovered in the Delhi area, and since then many drilling operations have been carried out in the Delhi, Big Creek and Dehlco regions leaving the area spotted with pumpers.

A large three million dollar gasoline plant at Delhi now furnishes employment for many. Two carbon black plants in the Nelson Bend area near Rayville are operating to capacity, specializing in carbon blacks, some of which are used in the manufacture of high grade enamels and paints. These establishments give employment to many as the gas from local fields is made into this valuable by-product.

Sawmill Villages

The sawmill villages of Crew Lake, Rayville and Dehlco stand and flourish yet, but without the mill operations. The Franklin Mill in Holly Ridge, which is an outgrowth, one might say of the old cooperage establishment of Chess Wymond, is the largest and oldest mill firm still in operation.

Richland is conveniently located for travel and freight service. The transcontinental highway U. S. 80 traverses the area, running almost parallel to the Illinois Central operated railroad. Several hard surfaced roads serve as links to the main traveled routes, with a network of good graveled routes to connect them. The Missouri Pacific railroad lines give freight service to Delhi and to Rayville and Mangham with two separate lines. Rayville is at the junction of the two railroads mentioned — the I. C. and the M. P. Couch Motor Lines and T. S. C. furnish motor freight service.

Under the guidance of former superintendents and that of the present one, J. B. Thompson, Jr., and the progressive citizens who have made up the school boards, the educational system and opportunities have become noted among the best in the state. The present supervisor, Miss Blanche Miller, as well as Mr. Thompson, is recognized throughout Louisiana and the south as capable school people.

Two hundred and sixty-six instructors are employed by the school board to work wit hthe 6,361 students enrolled this session. High schools for white children are found at Start, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Rayville and Delhi, the latter reportedly the larger in enrollment. The Negro students are served by four high schools and ten elementary schools. This phase of Richland's educational system is complete with its own supervisor. All schools are either in relatively new buildings or those remodeled in the not too distant past. Plans call for a new high school for Negroes in Rayville. A Catholic school is also located in Rayville.

Schools, Churches

Richland's Start School, joined later by the others, was one of the first in Louisiana to participate in the child study program, a great stride forward in educating the individual child. The elementary schools, under Miss Miller's supervision, were among the state's pioneers in using levels promotions instead of the older method. Another notable feature of this parish's set-up is the materials library, under the supervision of Mrs. Selma Tomb Martin. Teachers of other parishes as well as Richland have had her help in acquiring new teaching and library materials through actually seeing the center located in Rayville. Regular visits to all schools are made to determine teachers' needs and carry requested materials to them.

Schools and all Richland citizens are privileged and urged to borrow books and reading matter from the parish library, its branches or the bookmobile. Rayville is the location for the main library, of which Mrs. Lellah Lyle is the head librarian.

Many churches are scattered over the countryside or found in the villages and towns. Represented in the list of denominations one finds Catholic, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Church of Christ, Church of God, Assembly of God and Primitive Baptist. Many of the groups have erected new edifices in the past five years.

Progress Day

In 1953 on May 9th, Progress Day was observed. Visitors and citizens of the parish viewed the magnificent new courthouse, constructed in 1951 at a cost of more than half a million dollars. It is the third building to stand on the site which was donated in May, 1869, by John Ray for a courthouse square. At that time, Elijah Scott, president of the Richland Parish police jury, and William N. Potts, first lawyer to hang out a shingle in Rayville and who was at that time district attorney protempore, accepted Mr. Ray's donation and before long saw the first court house building in the parish. It was a small, wooden frame house, consisting of two rooms. Shortly after its completion, however the police jury was amazed to find that the two rooms were unsatisfactory to satisfy the demands of the various parish agencies. A project of dividing it into four rooms was undertaken, and soon one room each was alloted to the sheriff, the tax assessor, the clerk of court and the police jury. In 1872, the parish was able to provide a better building to house parish offices, so work was begun on a modern building of brick construction, with the brick being kilned of clay, dug only two blocks away. This "vast" building was about seventy feet square and was two stories high. The old wooden building was sold to a group of Negroes for a church building and can still be seen on the bank of the river down which it was floated to its new location and is still in use.

The new courthouse is of ultra modern design and second to none in this state in modern facilities, furnishings and convenience. All parish offices and some state and federal agencies have headquarters there in that completely air conditioned five-story structure. Its basement is also usable for office space. The parish jail is located on the top floor.

Those who live in Richland Parish know that in the long forgotten past, some with great foresight, prophesied correctly when they gave utterance to such thoughts as, "If the swamplands could be drained, this would be a great agricultural area," or "the lands east of the river lack only cultivation."

They passed away, never realizing that they had planted a seed or kindled a candle which burned as a small flame, but not for long. Progress has been steadily made. Richland has the proper name — it is a region of rich soil, natural beauty, natural resources and a people endowed with a rich heritage and a determination to make an even greater "and better place to live of this "Land where Cotton Grows and Oil Flows."

RICHLAND PARISH

"where COTTON grows and OIL flows"

Richland Parish with the slogan "Where Cotton Grows and Oil Flows" is not just a term, but actually grows more than 45,000 bales of cotton per year, and is second in parish production in Louisiana. The rich grazing lands feed more livestock than any other parish in the state.

Delhi, home of North Louisiana Live Stock show, gives added impetus to the other phases of agriculture.

This year's show proved to be the best ever held in Northeast Louisiana and is stated by many of the experts as being one of the best shows held anywhere.

Richland Parish is also very rich in mineral resources. Gas and oil are playing a very vital roll in the daily lives of the entire citizenry of the parish.

Rayville and Delhi, the two principal towns of the parish are proud of their Churches, Schools, and Fine Homes, of which, all in all, go to make Richland Parish a fine place to live in and enjoy.

RICHLAND PARISH

"where COTTON grows and OIL flows"

Richland Parish with the slogan "Where Cotton Grows and Oil Flows" is not just a term, but actually grows more than 45,000 bales of cotton per year, and is second in parish production in Louisiana. The rich grazing lands feed more livestock than any other parish in the state.

Delhi, home of North Louisiana Live Stock show, gives added impetus to the other phases of agriculture.

This year's show proved to be the best ever held in Northeast Louisiana and is stated by many of the experts as being one of the best shows held anywhere.

Richland Parish is also very rich in mineral resources. Gas and oil are playing a very vital roll in the daily lives of the entire citizenry of the parish.

Rayville and Delhi, the two principal towns of the parish are proud of their Churches, Schools, and Fine Homes, of which, all in all, go to make Richland Parish a fine place to live in and enjoy.

With Record Of 107 Years, This Church Active

Historic Liberty Baptist Church, 12 miles out of West Monroe on highway 80, is as much alive today as it was 107 years ago when organized back in 1847.

A revival meeting is being conducted this week in this church led by Rev. Earl Ogg, evangelist; Rev. S. W. Tullos, pastor; Mrs. Vivian Staples, music director and Anna Rose Camp, musician.

Religious Film To Be Shown At 1st Methodist

"I Beheld His Glory," a magnificent religious film released by Cathedral Films, will be shown Sunday night at the "Friendly Hour" service at 7:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Monroe, Dr. H. L. Johns, pastor, announced.

This film depicts the story of the Roman centurion described in the Gospel of St. Matthew, who with his men nailed Jesus to the cross, and yet stayed to whisper, "Truly this was the son of God."

The world premiere of the J. Arthur Rank picture, "John Wesley" is scheduled for First Methodist Church on May 6-7-8-9, and will give everyone in this area an opportunity to see this outstanding production.

When lifting a heavy article, bend your knees, keep your back straight, then straighthen your knees as you lift. You'll avoid strain this way and will be less likely to have "an aching back."

United Church Women Plan For Fellowship Meal

Dr. Ernest H. Reed, chaplain and public relations director of Goodwill Industries of Shreveport will be a guest of the United Church Women of Monroe and West Monroe at the annual May fellowship luncheon on Friday, May 7, at 12 o'clock noon. The luncheon is a cover dish affair and will be held in First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

The national theme for the May fellowship observance is "The Christian Woman's Trusteeship" stressing the need of taking responsibility for creating an economy in which all may have abundant life. In keeping with the theme Dr. Reed will show a technicolored film, "A Salute to Courage," 27 minutes in length with Joe E. Brown as narrator and Miss Peggy Dow as star actress. The film was made in Hollywood by professional talent and is an impressive portrayal of Goodwill Industries' service in behalf of handicapped men and women.

All church women and their guests are urged to be present and all interested persons in the community are cordially invited.

I CORINTHIANS 9:10—"He that ploweth should plow in hope."

Twenty-five years ago, in my first church, in my first sermon, these were the words of the text: "He that ploweth should plow in hope." How, except in hope, dare any man begin a new labor?

The tragedy is that, for too many people, hope is a quality only of youthful living, and as the years pass, they possess it less and less; until they expect little, then nothing, from the future. Is this, perhaps, because, for them, hope is rooted only in physical vigor, and thus diminishes with the failing of their energies? But the hope which is rooted in God and in His will is not dependent upon the exuberance of our health; it is a spiritual conviction about what life means. And to have that conviction is to confront life, day after day, knowing that, because God is in us, the work which we do will yield some worthwhile accomplishment in His kingdom of brotherhood and love.

When you are too tired to do anything but go to bed, don't forget the relaxing effects of a bath. A half hour's lolling in the tub will relax you so thoroughly you'll have no trouble being too tired to get to sleep.

A strand of pearls, right for any occasion, is also right for any shape face. The girl who wishes to cut the length of her face should wear a rather short strand; while the girl who wants to add length should select a long strand.

Spiritual Mission For Grace Church Planned

Announcement by the interdenominational prayer groups of the Twin Cities that Dr. Gladys Falshaw will be in Monroe Monday, May 3 and will conduct a spiritual mission in Grace Episcopal Church from 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. will be received with much interest in this area not only by those who have heard the speaker on previous visits when she spoke under the same prayer - group sponsorship, but also by those who have heard of her work and message.

Dr. Falshaw is presently serving as spiritual counselor in Calvary Episcopal Church in New York City, where she is ministering to the needs of that area through her personal counseling in which she stresses the importance of the sacraments of the church and through schools of prayer which she conducts. "I believe that we have to learn to pray and become increasingly aware of the source of strength to be found in the service of the Holy Communion," she reminds her listeners.

Since coming to the United States from India five years ago she has traveled across the country acquainting Americans with the desperate need of India's people, among whom she worked for 20 years. The first 15 years were spent in mission work under the direction of the London Missionary Society among the untouchables of the villages of south India, teaching them health, sanitation, reading and writing, the story of Christ's love. In 1939 on a visit home to England she was confirmed in the Church of England at Milton Abbey, noted center of spiritual healing.

This present speaking tour will carry her to Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana and other southern states to speak in churches before groups of interdenominational composition.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of this area to be present for the service on Monday, May 3rd at 9:30 a. m. at Grace Episcopal Church.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Our preacher is constantly urging us to read and study the Bible every day. I have a heavy manual job with long hours and it makes me very tired and I have not much time for reading. Is it necessary to read the Bible every day? L.S.W.

ANSWER: In Matthew 4:4, our Lord taught us that as bread is to the body, so is the Word of God to the soul. Suppose we spent fifteen minutes every day in diligent study of the Bible. That works out roughly at about three-and three-quarter days a year, and we spend about 140 days at work each year, over 100 days in sleep, and about fifty days at meals. If we ate all meals in a hurry and took only a mouthful each time, we would never grow. We cannot hope to grow spiritually without reading and studying the Bible. Although God guides us through circumstances and in other ways it would seem that the Holy Spirit gives us no desire the sincere milk of the Word that ye may grow thereby" (I Peter 2:2). In all our churches there are very many sad cases of spiritual malnutrition. The Holy Bible is the best book in the world. It deserves our careful and prayerful study; yet, there are many professing Christians who spend, on their own confession, less time in the study of this wonderful Book than they do in reading the daily paper. While I appreciate the fact that your job taxes your strength heavily, yet it would amaze you to discover how, by exercising this spiritual discipline of Bible reading, your body will feel stronger and your job more congenial. No, you don't have to read the Bible every day any more than you have to eat every day. But quit eating and see what happens to your health. Neglect the Bible and you're sure to become a weak, sickly Christian, both unhealthy and unhappy. Nothing pays richer dividends than time spent with the Bible.

Rev. M. Warren Guest Leader Slated Here

Rev. Morris Warren, of Richmond, Va., who is director of the department of church school administration for the Presbyterian Church, will be guest leader for the Sunday school superintendent's institute to be held Wednesday evening at 6:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church under the leadership of the synod's regional director of Christian education, the Rev. George H. Ricks of Baton Rouge.

The meeting is being held for all Presbyterian Sunday school superintendents and assistants, pastors, directors of Christian education, and session's committee of Christian education for the Monroe area. The theme for the meeting will be discovering, enlisting and training church school leaders and teachers.

J. L. Teer of Dixie who is synod's chairman of Sunday school superintendents will also be a member of the institute.

Memorial Church Initiating Its Revival Sunday

The Memorial Park Baptist Church will initiate a revival today to be continued one week. Rev. Louis Wilhite, youthful minister, will be the evangelist.

He is a graduate of Mississippi College and is one of the outstanding young ministers here. Dale Martha will be music director and Billy Vaughn, pianist.

The public is cordially invited to attend services each evening through the week at 7:45 p. m. The Sunday morning service will be held at 11 a. m.

This church was organized by the pastor, Rev. R. L. Ross, four years ago. Membership is growing and an educational building has been erected.

At this time the church is in the midst of an expansion program in construction.

Rev. W. L. Stagg Leader Temple Church Revival

Rev. W. L. Stagg Jr., will be the evangelist for the spring revival at the Temple Baptist Church, 601 Plum St., Monroe, W. Leon Ivey, pastor. The Rev. Mr. Stagg is well known in Louisiana having served two years as president of the state convention. He was educated at Louisiana College and the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. After completing his school work he held pastorates at Glenmora, Bossier City First Church and Lake Charles First Church. He has been pastor at the Moss Point Church now for three years.

Services will be conducted each week day at seven and nine thirty in the mornings and at 7:30 in the evenings. You will find a cordial welcome at all the services. The nursery will be open at all services.

The paster, W. Leon Ivey, will have charge of the music and direct the activities during the week.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Messages:

0. Is. 40:31 They shall renew their strength, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint.
1. Rom. 14:19. Pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding.
2. Phil. 4:8 Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is lovely, whatever is gracious, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.
3. Prov. 3:23. You will walk on your way securely.
4. Phil. 4:6. Have no anxiety about anything, but with thanksgiving let your requests be made known.

With Record Of 107 Years, This Church Active

Historic Liberty Baptist Church, 12 miles out of West Monroe on highway 80, is as much alive today as it was 107 years ago when organized back in 1847.

A revival meeting is being conducted this week in this church led by Rev. Earl Ogg, evangelist; Rev. S. W. Tullos, pastor; Mrs. Vivian Staples, music director and Anna Rose Camp, musician.

Religious Film To Be Shown At 1st Methodist

"I Beheld His Glory," a magnificent religious film released by Cathedral Films, will be shown Sunday night at the "Friendly Hour" service at 7:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Monroe, Dr. H. L. Johns, pastor, announced.

This film depicts the story of the Roman centurion described in the Gospel of St. Matthew, who with his men nailed Jesus to the cross, and yet stayed to whisper, "Truly this was the son of God."

The world premiere of the J. Arthur Rank picture, "John Wesley" is scheduled for First Methodist Church on May 6-7-8-9, and will give everyone in this area an opportunity to see this outstanding production.

When lifting a heavy article, bend your knees, keep your back straight, then straighthen your knees as you lift. You'll avoid strain this way and will be less likely to have "an aching back."

DR. EARNEST H. REED

United Church Women Plan For Fellowship Meal

Dr. Ernest H. Reed, chaplain and public relations director of Goodwill Industries of Shreveport will be a guest of the United Church Women of Monroe and West Monroe at the annual May fellowship luncheon on Friday, May 7, at 12 o'clock noon. The luncheon is a cover dish affair and will be held in First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

The national theme for the May fellowship observance is "The Christian Woman's Trusteeship" stressing the need of taking responsibility for creating an economy in which all may have abundant life. In keeping with the theme Dr. Reed will show a technicolored film, "A Salute to Courage," 27 minutes in length with Joe E. Brown as narrator and Miss Peggy Dow as star actress. The film was made in Hollywood by professional talent and is an impressive portrayal of Goodwill Industries' service in behalf of handicapped men and women.

All church women and their guests are urged to be present and all interested persons in the community are cordially invited.

I CORINTHIANS 9:10—"He that ploweth should plow in hope."

Twenty-five years ago, in my first church, in my first sermon, these were the words of the text: "He that ploweth should plow in hope." How, except in hope, dare any man begin a new labor?

The tragedy is that, for too many people, hope is a quality only of youthful living, and as the years pass, they possess it less and less; until they expect little, then nothing, from the future. Is this, perhaps, because, for them, hope is rooted only in physical vigor, and thus diminishes with the failing of their energies? But the hope which is rooted in God and in His will is not dependent upon the exuberance of our health; it is a spiritual conviction about what life means. And to have that conviction is to confront life, day after day, knowing that, because God is in us, the work which we do will yield some worthwhile accomplishment in His kingdom of brotherhood and love.

We extend an invitation to everyone to come and join us in a study of God's Word

When you are too tired to do anything but go to bed, don't forget the relaxing effects of a bath. A half hour's lolling in the tub will relax you so thoroughly you'll have no trouble being too tired to get to sleep.

A strand of pearls, right for any occasion, is also right for any shape face. The girl who wishes to cut the length of her face should wear a rather short strand; while the girl who wants to add length should select a long strand.

Spiritual Mission For Grace Church Planned

Announcement by the interdenominational prayer groups of the Twin Cities that Dr. Gladys Falshaw will be in Monroe Monday, May 3 and will conduct a spiritual mission in Grace Episcopal Church from 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. will be received with much interest in this area not only by those who have heard the speaker on previous visits when she spoke under the same prayer - group sponsorship, but also by those who have heard of her work and message.

Dr. Falshaw is presently serving as spiritual counselor in Calvary Episcopal Church in New York City, where she is ministering to the needs of that area through her personal counseling in which she stresses the importance of the sacraments of the church and through schools of prayer which she conducts. "I believe that we have to learn to pray and become increasingly aware of the source of strength to be found in the service of the Holy Communion," she reminds her listeners.

Since coming to the United States from India five years ago she has traveled across the country acquainting Americans with the desperate need of India's people, among whom she worked for 20 years. The first 15 years were spent in mission work under the direction of the London Missionary Society among the untouchables of the villages of south India, teaching them health, sanitation, reading and writing, the story of Christ's love. In 1939 on a visit home to England she was confirmed in the Church of England at Milton Abbey, noted center of spiritual healing.

This present speaking tour will carry her to Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana and other southern states to speak in churches before groups of interdenominational composition.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of this area to be present for the service on Monday, May 3rd at 9:30 a. m. at Grace Episcopal Church.

Rev. M. Warren Guest Leader Slated Here

Rev. Morris Warren, of Richmond, Va., who is director of the department of church school administration for the Presbyterian Church, will be guest leader for the Sunday school superintendent's institute to be held Wednesday evening at 6:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church under the leadership of the synod's regional director of Christian education, the Rev. George H. Ricks of Baton Rouge.

The meeting is being held for all Presbyterian Sunday school superintendents and assistants, pastors, directors of Christian education, and session's committee of Christian education for the Monroe area. The theme for the meeting will be discovering, enlisting and training church school leaders and teachers.

J. L. Teer of Dixie who is synod's chairman of Sunday school superintendents will also be a member of the institute.

Memorial Church Initiating Its Revival Sunday

The Memorial Park Baptist Church will initiate a revival today to be continued one week. Rev. Louis Wilhite, youthful minister, will be the evangelist.

He is a graduate of Mississippi College and is one of the outstanding young ministers here. Dale Martha will be music director and Billy Vaughn, pianist.

The public is cordially invited to attend services each evening through the week at 7:45 p. m. The Sunday morning service will be held at 11 a. m.

This church was organized by the pastor, Rev. R. L. Ross, four years ago. Membership is growing and an educational building has been erected.

At this time the church is in the midst of an expansion program in construction.

Rev. W. L. Stagg Leader Temple Church Revival

Rev. W. L. Stagg Jr., will be the evangelist for the spring revival at the Temple Baptist Church, 601 Plum St., Monroe, W. Leon Ivey, pastor. The Rev. Mr. Stagg is well known in Louisiana having served two years as president of the state convention. He was educated at Louisiana College and the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. After completing his school work he held pastorates at Glenmora, Bossier City First Church and Lake Charles First Church. He has been pastor at the Moss Point Church now for three years.

Services will be conducted each week day at seven and nine thirty in the mornings and at 7:30 in the evenings. You will find a cordial welcome at all the services. The nursery will be open at all services.

The paster, W. Leon Ivey, will have charge of the music and direct the activities during the week.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Our preacher is constantly urging us to read and study the Bible every day. I have a heavy manual job with long hours and it makes me very tired and I have not much time for reading. Is it necessary to read the Bible every day? L.S.W.

ANSWER: In Matthew 4:4, our Lord taught us that as bread is to the body, so is the Word of God to the soul. Suppose we spent fifteen minutes every day in diligent study of the Bible. That works out roughly at about three-and three-quarter days a year, and we spend about 140 days at work each year, over 100 days in sleep, and about fifty days at meals. If we ate all meals in a hurry and took only a mouthful each time, we would never grow. We cannot hope to grow spiritually without reading and studying the Bible. Although God guides us through circumstances and in other ways it would seem that the Holy Spirit gives us no desire the sincere milk of the Word that ye may grow thereby" (I Peter 2:2). In all our churches there are very many sad cases of spiritual malnutrition. The Holy Bible is the best book in the world. It deserves our careful and prayerful study; yet, there are many professing Christians who spend, on their own confession, less time in the study of this wonderful Book than they do in reading the daily paper. While I appreciate the fact that your job taxes your strength heavily, yet it would amaze you to discover how, by exercising this spiritual discipline of Bible reading, your body will feel stronger and your job more congenial. No, you don't have to read the Bible every day any more than you have to eat every day. But quit eating and see what happens to your health. Neglect the Bible and you're sure to become a weak, sickly Christian, both unhealthy and unhappy. Nothing pays richer dividends than time spent with the Bible.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Messages:
0. Is. 40:31 They shall renew their strength, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint.
1. Rom. 14:19. Pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding.
2. Phil. 4:8 Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is lovely, whatever is gracious, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.
3. Prov. 3:23. You will walk on your way securely.
4. Phil. 4:6. Have no anxiety about anything, but with thanksgiving let your requests be made known.

Yellow Jasmine Is Good Cover Crop

My! But I'm enjoying the confederate jasmine climbing on the columns in my patio. This is one of our very few evergreen vines that bloom. Mr. Hunt told us we could train it on the ground as a border. The yellow jasmine that bloomed earlier is also evergreen and the landscape designers tell us to use it more as a ground cover.

You can still root ivy and cover those bare places under trees where grass won't grow. Take foot long cuttings of this season's growth. If the soil is poor, take some humus from the compost heap and use this for planting. Cover the ground with leaves or straw and keep damp at all times until winter. In the Conger gardens in Arcadia they use ivy ground around their dogwoods. Never try to put annuals or perennials under your dogwoods. Their roots grow close to the surface of the ground like azaleas. You'll disturb their root system, and—if you have a dogwood you surely don't want to lose it.

Somebody called and said, "I may be dumb but you're always saying something about humus. What is that?" Maybe there are other new gardeners who'd like a definition. Humus is decayed organic or nonmineral material such as leaf mold, dead grasses or weeds. There are other types but the kind you're interested in is that you can make in your compost pile. Humus is pure gold to you in growing plants. Without humus your garden soil would be dead and unsuited for growing plants. It helps thin sandy soils by giving them more body and improves heavy stiff clay soils by loosening them. You need to continually be adding humus to your plant beds.

Meryl Adams has a very beautiful yellow climbing rose, High Noon. Nodi Thatcher's Eclipse, (yellow tea rose) has been very beautiful. The scarlet climbers have been a blaze of color all over the Twin Cities. I've enjoyed my pink climbing Columbia and I've seen some lovely picture and peace varieties. Make a note to add more climbers next February. They're up off the ground and not so subject to the many diseases that our tea roses have.

On Pine and Arkansas from Eighth Street on out as far as you can go, you'll admire the climbing roses and verbena. Our colored friends have done a good job of beautifying this section. If any of you have a pretty yard, please call me so I can tell others about your work.

Remember the old fashioned plant, Snow on the Mountain? If you have a corner that needs brightening, plant a mass of this. You'll be surprised how that corner will glow.

You can continue planting gladiolus and dahlias. Princess feather is a plant that stands the heat and drouth well. You can get seed of tall and dwarf, red or yellow.

Dr. Henry Baur, Pargoud Drive again has the earliest sweet peas in town. He invites you to stop by and see these flowers. He'll tell you his practices that bring such large blossoms.

The rudbeckia (pink daisy) is blooming. Soon the pink rain lilies will be blooming. This little bulb can be bought in white, too. Write Mrs. Joe Evans, Ferriday and she will tell you where to find them. The native Louisiana Iris are in bloom. If you have a low spot in your garden, you really should plant this bulb. Just as it quits blooming is the time. They like acid soil, plenty of humus anl dampness. My plants are bloomig freely in six inches of water, but this is not necessary.

Operation: Moth!

Let's take a "wool's" eye view of a familiar pest—the clothes moth. One of his favorite resting places is, we often forget, under buttons and in buttonholes. We must keep one step ahead of Mr. Moth. He likes dark places, stains and spots. He dislikes wool that's clean and that has been well sprayed with one of the products sold for that purpose. Give the woolens a heavy surface spray, getting inside pockets and under lapels. We can't go wrong this year if we keep one step ahead of him and he's a dead duck—or rather a dead moth. EQ-53, a few spoonfuls in the wash or rinse water, protects washable woolens in storage for a year or more.

Covers

No—not for the ground or the bed—for the garbage can. Does your garbage can have a cover or are you one of those who buy an oil drum and never provide a top? I see many of these around the Twin Cities. The fly season is here. You know how they carry filth of all kinds. You're sure providing him with a happy home if you have an uncovered garbage pail.

I'll be back with you on KNOE-TV Tuesday at 2:30 and—I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Duties Of Officers Outlined

A glorious array of blue-ribbon horticulture was displayed at the center this week by the Garden Wonders of Bastrop. Mr. George I. Johnson is president of this enthusiastic group of rural gardeners, consisting of twenty - three members, both men and women. They all claim to be "just plain dirt gardeners" and are proud of the fact that they do all of their own garden work without outside help. The fine flowers they exhibited show that their efforts have reaped a rich reward. There should be more garden clubs of this type in our community for gardening is one hobby that husbands and wives can both share.

Mrs. Archie Dickerson and Mrs. John Lewis served as judges. Blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. Laura Prestiege for white American beauty rose, Mrs. Vera White for sweet William, Mr. George I. Johnson for golden ruffles iris, Mrs. Earl Pickett for peachblown iris, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Laing for pansies, Mrs. Hinkston Hudson for yellow snapdragons.

Also on display were arrangements of flowers grown by these gardeners: blue native iris in a low white container and a line arrangement of yellow native iris in a chartreuse bowl. Two very fine African violets from the colection of Mrs. W. R. Kettenring of Monroe were also displayed. Sailor Girl and Blue Boy. At present Mrs. Kettenring has over one hundred plants blooming in her home and loves to have visitors come to see them.

A distinguished visitor to the center, Mr. W. R. Thompson, pasture specialist, Mississippi State College, was impressed with the work of our garden center and the conservation aims of garden club women in our district. Our library now subscribes to the following: Louisiana Garden Club Federation Newsletter, The National Gardener and Popular Gardening. Other publications just received are Trees, Shrubs and Flowers of the Redwood Region by Willis L. Jepson and Hybrid Amaryllis and Species by Wyndham Hayward, Louisiana Trees by A. S. McKean.

A most beautiful book just off the press has come to my attention Julia S. Berrall's "Flowers in Glass." Flowers, when well arranged, look more beautiful in glass and sparkling crystal than in any other type of container.

In this book leading flower arrangers were selected from different parts of the country to show varied and interesting approaches to this most challenging of subjects. Among the arrangers are Anne Elizabeth Erhorn, Marie Johnson Fort, Mary B. Kittel, Constance Spry and others.

All containers are from Steuben Glass.

The whole book sparkles like a many-faceted jewel and is destined to become one of the most prized possessions of discriminating people - those who love flowers and who care how they look in the home.

Clean and peel fruits and vegetables on paper for easy disposal of the peelings. No mess to clean from the sink.

Dogwoods Grow In Impossible Places

Dogwoods make a tremendous growth right after flowering time and up into June. You can give them a big boost by feeding them right now. A mulch of decayed or half decayed leaves spread over their roots will help them, too. Especially in places where the soil is beaten upon by the sun, dogwoods enjoy having a mulch over their roots to keep the ground temperature down They will grow in amazingly impossible looking places if they can just have fairly cool soil that does not dry out completely. Of course, they grow naturally under high trees in semi-shade and on the edge of woods where the leaves fall and stay on the ground every year. If your dogwoods are healthy but do not bloom, they are either starving or growing in too dense shade. Remove the lower limbs of your high trees and let in more light for the dogwoods, and feed them.

The shallow root system of a dogwood tree reaches out to a little beyond its shadow at noon. Punch holes in the soil with a crow bar or other instrument. The holes need be only about a foot deep. Into each hole pour enough of a half and half mixture of cotton seed meal and bone meal to almost but not quite fill the hole. Then replace the soil and smooth each spot over and step on it. The holes for feeding should be made out at the edge of the shadow cast at noon and about a foot apart. You can make a second circle of holes a foot farther out and fill these, too, for a bigger feeding. If you dislike those little humps of grass where the fertilizer was put in, then use a funnel.

It is difficult to grow plants under a dogwood because of the shallow dogwood root system. One of the best things to grow under this tree is periwinkle because it likes the mulch of decayed leaves which you keep under dogwoods. The mulch material can be scattered over the periwinkle and brushed in lightly with a broom. To feed the periwinkle, scatter some of the same fertilizer you use on the dogwood tree into the mulch once a year. This will feed the tree, too, of course.

Sauerwood trees are beautiful in the garden along with dogwoods. They have the same sort of shallow root system as the dogwoods and have to be treated the same way. Sauerwoods also have some long roots which go down into the soil where they can. In time, these trees can get to be very large, as you will see in the mountains. Without something more than shallow roots, they would probably blow over in storms. The combination of dogwoods and sauerwoods in a garden will give you such beautiful fall colors that the flowers seem to be insignificant by comparison with the show of colored leaves. If you find that there is not enough space in the flower beds themselves, then plant small trees here and there around a garden and even right in some of the pathways.

Looking back over this year's daffodil season which was the worst your columnist ever heard of for weather, some varieties stand out for pure ability to stand up under adverse conditions. This spring's weather seems to have been just everything that is bad for daffodil blossoms. First, we would have pouring down rains that knocked the flowers over on their faces. The stems on the ones which did not go over would grow an inch or so of tender new stem, and the buds on the unopened ones would be just in the opening stages when a sudden cold snap would nearly freeze them during the night. The tender new part of the stems would not support the weight of the blooms, and the petals would be damaged just enough to keep them from ever developing right. This was really the year to pick them in bud and open them in the house, but one never knows, hopes for the best and leaves them in the garden to freeze another night!

Nevertheless, some varieties stood up better than others. Of course, the old fashioned early little trumpet and the "swan's neck" white ones were as tough as ever. They can take it. The more modern varieties were not up to what they got. Fortune and its parent, King Alfred took a beating but stayed in the garden for two or three weeks looking good enough to make a big splash of color. Texas, as one would expect, never did open. This is the way with doubles. Lord Nelson and Peerless Gold lasted and bloomed, even if half of them fell over on the ground. Ada Finch was tough enough to stand a lot of punishment, too. The very thick petals of these varieties can stand a lot of low temperatures. Quirinus was perhaps the best of all its class.

Remember the old fashioned plant, Snow on the Mountain? If you have a corner that needs brightening, plant a mass of this. You'll be surprised how that corner will glow.

You can continue planting gladiolus and dahlias. Princess feather is a plant that stands the heat and drouth well. You can get seed of tall and dwarf, red or yellow.

Dr. Henry Baur, Pargoud Drive again has the earliest sweet peas in town. He invites you to stop by and see these flowers. He'll tell you his practices that bring such large blossoms.

The rudbeckia (pink daisy) is blooming. Soon the pink rain lilies will be blooming. This little bulb can be bought in white, too. Write Mrs. Joe Evans, Ferriday and she will tell you where to find them. The native Louisiana Iris are in bloom. If you have a low spot in your garden, you really should plant this bulb. Just as it quits blooming is the time. They like acid soil, plenty of humus anl dampness. My plants are bloomig freely in six inches of water, but this is not necessary.

Operation: Moth!

Let's take a "wool's" eye view of a familiar pest—the clothes moth. One of his favorite resting places is, we often forget, under buttons and in buttonholes. We must keep one step ahead of Mr. Moth. He likes dark places, stains and spots. He dislikes wool that's clean and that has been well sprayed with one of the products sold for that purpose. Give the woolens a heavy surface spray, getting inside pockets and under lapels. We can't go wrong this year if we keep one step ahead of him and he's a dead duck—or rather a dead moth. EQ-53, a few spoonfuls in the wash or rinse water, protects washable woolens in storage for a year or more.

Covers

No—not for the ground or the bed—for the garbage can. Does your garbage can have a cover or are you one of those who buy an oil drum and never provide a top? I see many of these around the Twin Cities. The fly season is here. You know how they carry filth of all kinds. You're sure providing him with a happy home if you have an uncovered garbage pail.

I'll be back with you on KNOE-TV Tuesday at 2:30 and—I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Duties Of Officers Outlined

A glorious array of blue-ribbon horticulture was displayed at the center this week by the Garden Wonders of Bastrop. Mr. George I. Johnson is president of this enthusiastic group of rural gardeners, consisting of twenty - three members, both men and women. They all claim to be "just plain dirt gardeners" and are proud of the fact that they do all of their own garden work without outside help. The fine flowers they exhibited show that their efforts have reaped a rich reward. There should be more garden clubs of this type in our community for gardening is one hobby that husbands and wives can both share.

Mrs. Archie Dickerson and Mrs. John Lewis served as judges. Blue Ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. Laura Prestiege for white American beauty rose, Mrs. Vera White for sweet William, Mr. George I. Johnson for golden ruffles iris, Mrs. Earl Pickett for peachblown iris, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Laing for pansies, Mrs. Hinkston Hudson for yellow snapdragons.

Also on display were arrangements of flowers grown by these gardeners: blue native iris in a low white container and a line arrangement of yellow native iris in a chartreuse bowl. Two very fine African violets from the collection of Mrs. W. R. Kettenring of Monroe were also displayed. Sailor Girl and Blue Boy. At present Mrs. Kettenring has over one hundred plants blooming in her home and loves to have visitors come to see them.

A distinguished visitor to the center, Mr. W. R. Thompson, pasture specialist, Mississippi State College, was impressed with the work of our garden center and the conservation aims of garden club women in our district. Our library now subscribes to the following: Louisiana Garden Club Federation Newsletter, The National Gardener and Popular Gardening. Other publications just received are Trees, Shrubs and Flowers of the Redwood Region by Willis L. Jepson and Hybrid Amaryllis and Species by Wyndham Hayward, Louisiana Trees by A. S. McKean.

A most beautiful book just off the press has come to my attention Julia S. Berrall's "Flowers in Glass." Flowers, when well arranged, look more beautiful in glass and sparkling crystal than in any other type of container. In this book leading flower arrangers were selected from different parts of the country to show varied and interesting approaches to this most challenging of subjects. Among the arrangers are Anne Elizabeth Erhorn, Marie Johnson Fort, Mary B. Kittel, Constance Spry and others.

All containers are from Steuben Glass.

The whole book sparkles like a many-faceted jewel and is destined to become one of the most prized possessions of discriminating people - those who love flowers and who care how they look in the home.

Clean and peel fruits and vegetables on paper for easy disposal of the peelings. No mess to clean from the sink.

Dogwoods Grow In Impossible Places

Dogwoods make a tremendous growth right after flowering time and up into June. You can give them a big boost by feeding them right now. A mulch of decayed or half decayed leaves spread over their roots will help them, too. Especially in places where the soil is beaten upon by the sun, dogwoods enjoy having a mulch over their roots to keep the ground temperature down They will grow in amazingly impossible looking places if they can just have fairly cool soil that does not dry out completely. Of course, they grow naturally under high trees in semi-shade and on the edge of woods where the leaves fall and stay on the ground every year. If your dogwoods are healthy but do not bloom, they are either starving or growing in too dense shade. Remove the lower limbs of your high trees and let in more light for the dogwoods, and feed them.

The shallow root system of a dogwood tree reaches out to a little beyond its shadow at noon. Punch holes in the soil with a crow bar or other instrument. The holes need be only about a foot deep. Into each hole pour enough of a half and half mixture of cotton seed meal and bone meal to almost but not quite fill the hole. Then replace the soil and smooth each spot over and step on it. The holes for feeding should be made out at the edge of the shadow cast at noon and about a foot apart. You can make a second circle of holes a foot farther out and fill these, too, for a bigger feeding. If you dislike those little humps of grass where the fertilizer was put in, then use a funnel.

It is difficult to grow plants under a dogwood because of the shallow dogwood root system. One of the best things to grow under this tree is periwinkle because it likes the mulch of decayed leaves which you keep under dogwoods. The mulch material can be scattered over the periwinkle and brushed in lightly with a broom. To feed the periwinkle, scatter some of the same fertilizer you use on the dogwood tree into the mulch once a year. This will feed the tree, too, of course.

Sauerwood trees are beautiful in the garden along with dogwoods. They have the same sort of shallow root system as the dogwoods and have to be treated the same way. Sauerwoods also have some long roots which go down into the soil where they can. In time, these trees can get to be very large, as you will see in the mountains. Without something more than shallow roots, they would probably blow over in storms. The combination of dogwoods and sauerwoods in a garden will give you such beautiful fall colors that the flowers seem to be insignificant by comparison with the show of colored leaves. If you find that there is not enough space in the flower beds themselves, then plant small trees here and there around a garden and even right in some of the pathways.

Looking back over this year's daffodil season which was the worst your columnist ever heard of for weather, some varieties stand out for pure ability to stand up under adverse conditions. This spring's weather seems to have been just everything that is bad for daffodil blossoms. First, we would have pouring down rains that knocked the flowers over on their faces. The stems on the ones which did not go over would grow an inch or so of tender new stem, and the buds on the unopened ones would be just in the opening stages when a sudden cold snap would nearly freeze them during the night. The tender new part of the stems would not support the weight of the blooms, and the petals would be damaged just enough to keep them from ever developing right. This was really the year to pick them in bud and open them in the house, but one never knows, hopes for the best and leaves them in the garden to freeze another night!

Nevertheless, some varieties stood up better than others. Of course, the old fashioned early little trumpet and the "swan's neck" white ones were as tough as ever. They can take it. The more modern varieties were not up to what they got. Fortune and its parent, King Alfred took a beating but stayed in the garden for two or three weeks looking good enough to make a big splash of color. Texas, as one would expect, never did open. This is the way with doubles. Lord Nelson and Peerless Gold lasted and bloomed, even if half of them fell over on the ground. Ada Finch was tough enough to stand a lot of punishment, too. The very thick petals of these varieties can stand a lot of low temperatures. Quirinus was perhaps the best of all its class.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 28, my husband is 30 and we have been married for 10 years and have two children. About two years ago I began to see another man. My husband had his own business and worked from 7 in the morning until midnight. In order to see him, I had to take an electric plate to his shop and cook our meal there. I suppose I was lonely, but I knew that was no excuse. After a month of seeing the other man I gave him up and told my husband. He was wonderful He shortened his working hours, never referred to my mistake and is now buying us our own home. My problem now is that many people saw me out with the other man and regard me as a tramp— even one of my closest friends. Do you think I should explain my action to some of them? And, how do I live the rest of my life and not hate myself? —Mrs. James E.

You were a tramp. What else? There isn't much you can do now but to prove by your actions that you are loyal to your husband. In time your friends (?) will forget your brief digression. Better not say anything in explanation that would refresh their memories. As for living with yourself the rest of your life, you'll survive. You have a good husband who is shouldering the blame. Stop dramatizing and hanging on to your "sin." It's almost two years old, it's time it was buried.

Dear Ann Landers: When on a date and the girl needs cigarets, does the man have to pay for them? If they are in front of a drugstore and the man offers just to go in to get them, is it proper for the girl to at least offer him the money when he comes out? Is it proper for him to accept?—Arthur W.

Yes, cheapskate, the man should be good for a pack of cigarets if the girl is thoughtless enough not to come provided for the evening. Yes, the girl should ask, "May I pay you for them?" But our hero never accepts the paltry sum even if it means he walks to work the next day. So you see, it isn't always the woman who pays and pays.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for five years to a man I thought was faithful until last year when he told me he had been seeing another woman. He said he was sorry and that it was all over. I forgave him and was beginning to forget it until today when I met his father, who said the woman was living with them and that my husband was seeing her every day. She has a child and maintains he is my husband's boy. My father-in-law said they did not know anything about her or the child when she moved in, renting a room there. I don't know whom to believe. What would you do? — Confused.

I would call on the woman and have a little chat with her, the result of which would encourage me either to seek legal advice or to believe my husband. If I became convinced that my husband had foisted such an enormous lie on me, I would let him try his next piece of fiction on the lawyers.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am a clergyman. The reply and advice you gave "Heartsick Divorcee," who complained that religion blocked her way to happiness, was the finest and most encouraging item I read in that day's news. It is indeed gratifying to see such people as yourself take an open and firm stand in defense of decency and principles. What a mockery some are making out of such a sacred thing as marriage! God help them! —A Grateful Reverend.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

O.P.H.S. Will Hold Alumni Banquet May 13

The Ouachita Parish High School Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet Thursday night, May 13, 1954, Judge Jessie Heard, alumni president, announced today. The affair will honor the 1954 graduating class and begin at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the Virginia Hotel.

A special effort is being made to reach all alumni so that all classes can be represented.

This year the program will be something different as it will be composed entirely of OPHS alumni. The program is being planned by Mrs. Jack Smith, and offers to be very interesting.

Judge Heard pointed out that all OPHS graduates and their wives or husbands could attend the banquet, and any person who attended OPHS as long as two years is welcome.

Tickets are now on sale at the high school office on South Grand, Finks, Morningside Cleaners, Brooks Drug (West Monroe) and in the library at NLSC. Also the alumni officers and other alumni are assisting in selling tickets.

Tri-State Meet Planned At Tech

By Josephine Lowman

Drinking vinegar may give you indigestion but it won't take off the extra pounds—try a sensible diet instead.

Fads And Fantasy Won't Take The Pounds Away

It was bound to happen! It was in the cards! What? That reducing should be subjected to all sorts of fads and fantasies. Losing weight and the 'figure divine" constitute one of the most universal feminine interests.

If you do not believe this to be true, listen when on a bus, a subway, on the street, when in a restaurant, in the beauty salon, at a dinner party or almost any place you happen to be.

Because of such avid interest and the optimistic hopes to which human nature falls heir, it was bound to happen! Women are especially gullible about reducing hints. .. ..Not So Simple.. ... ...

I don't bame them! We would be dull if we did not hope that standing up for 20 minutes after a meal will slim us, if we are given that hope by someone, or that drinking vinegar will make us lose weight. However, life is not that simple.

You could stand up for 40 minutes after meals and get tired legs but not lose an ounce, and you could drink vinegar until it gave you indigestion, but that is a very hazardous way to lose weight if you wish to stay young and pretty and well when losing those extra pounds.

No, you just have to face it! You must count calories unless you follow a ready-made diet. As most of like to have my Nine Day Reduc-Diet which gives you a loss of from five to ten pounds, is being offered now.

If you have missed some of the menus, which have been printed in your newspaper, or if you would like to have my Nnie Day Reducing Diet booklet, sent 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Better not say anything in explanation that would refresh their memories. As for living with yourself the rest of your life, you'll survive. You have a good husband who is shouldering the blame. Stop dramatizing and hanging on to your "sin." It's almost two years old, it's time it was buried.

Dear Ann Landers: When on a date and the girl needs cigarets, does the man have to pay for them? If they are in front of a drugstore and the man offers just to go in to get them, is it proper for the girl to at least offer him the money when he comes out? Is it proper for him to accept?—Arthur W.

Yes, cheapskate, the man should be good for a pack of cigarets if the girl is thoughtless enough not to come provided for the evening. Yes, the girl should ask, "May I pay you for them?" But our hero never accepts the paltry sum even if it means he walks to work the next day. So you see, it isn't always the woman who pays and pays.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for five years to a man I thought was faithful until last year when he told me he had been seeing another woman. He said he was sorry and that it was all over. I forgave him and was beginning to forget it until today when I met his father, who said the woman was living with them and that my husband was seeing her every day. She has a child and maintains he is my husband's boy. My father-in-law said they did not know anything about her or the child when she moved in, renting a room there. I don't know whom to believe. What would you do? — Confused.

I would call on the woman and have a little chat with her, the result of which would encourage me either to seek legal advice or to believe my husband. If I became convinced that my husband had foisted such an enormous lie on me, I would let him try his next piece of fiction on the lawyers.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am a clergyman. The reply and advice you gave "Heartsick Divorcee," who complained that religion blocked her way to happiness, was the finest and most encouraging item I read in that day's news. It is indeed gratifying to see such people as yourself take an open and firm stand in defense of decency and principles. What a mockery some are making out of such a sacred thing as marriage! God help them! —A Grateful Reverend.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

RAYVILLE, April 24. (Special)—The Spring Festival at the Rayville Elementary School will have approximately 60 children participating and will be held on the grounds of the elementary school campus Friday, April 30, at 5:00 p.m.

The king and queen of the festival are Richard Herrington and Linda Murry. Their maids and escorts are: Imogene Tanner, Doyle Rogers, Teeny Smith, Tanner Phillips, Sandra Gryder, Basil Doles, Eddie Sue Sorey, Larry McDonald, Bonnie Sue Boughton, Russell Hollis, Pat Guynes, Jimmie Dunn, Patsy Gammill, Billy Francis, Alice Jewell Lee, Kenneth Booth. The Heralds are Randy Cox and Hans Eppinette.

Performing before the royal court will be the school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Whitehead, and a procession to herald the coming of springtime. The procession will include Children dressed as: sunbonnet babies and overall boys, raindrops, sunbeams, rainbow, fairies, tulips, daffodils, daisies, pansies, roses, bluebells, bees, butterflies, bluebirds, Maypole dancers. Appropriate music will accompany these students in their dances and formations.

FESTIVAL QUEEN—Miss Linda Murray, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Murray, of Rayville, will preside as queen of the spring festival to be presented April 30.

O.P.H.S. Will Hold Alumni Banquet May 13

The Ouachita Parish High School Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet Thursday night, May 13, 1954, Judge Jessie Heard, alumni president, announced today. The affair will honor the 1954 graduating class and begin at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the Virginia Hotel.

A special effort is being made to reach all alumni so that all classes can be represented.

This year the program will be something different as it will be composed entirely of OPHS alumni. The program is being planned by Mrs. Jack Smith, and offers to be very interesting.

Also of prime importance is the election of alumni officers to serve for the forthcoming year.

Judge Heard pointed out that all OPHS graduates and their wives or husbands could attend the banquet, and any person who attended OPHS as long as two years is welcome.

Tickets are now on sale at the high school office on South Grand, Finks, Morningside Cleaners, Brooks Drug (West Monroe) and in the library at NLSC. Also the alumni officers and other alumni are assisting in selling tickets.

Tri-State Meet Planned At Tech

RUSTON, April 24. (Special)—Students from eight high schools will participate in the tri-state championship forensic tournament which will be held at Louisiana Tech next Monday and Tuesday, according to Paul J. Pennington, director of the tournament.

This tournament, which will begin at 9:30 a.m., is the first of its kind and participation has been limited to a very few schools, outstanding in forensic work. Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana are the states that will be represented.

Schools entering the event include Classen high school, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Seminole high school, Seminole, Okla.; Central high school, Muskogee, Okla.; Abilene high school, Abilene, Tex.; Hillcrest high school, Dallas, Tex.; Istrouma high school, Baton Rouge; Castor high school, Castor; and Bolton high school, Alexandria.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Drinking vinegar may give you indigestion but it won't take off the extra pounds—try a sensible diet instead.

Fads And Fantasy Won't Take The Pounds Away

It was bound to happen! It was in the cards! What? That reducing should be subjected to all sorts of fads and fantasies. Losing weight and the 'figure divine" constitute one of the most universal feminine interests.

If you do not believe this to be true, listen when on a bus, a subway, on the street, when in a restaurant, in the beauty salon, at a dinner party or almost any place you happen to be.

Because of such avid interest and the optimistic hopes to which human nature falls heir, it was bound to happen! Women are especially gullible about reducing hints.

. . . . . Not So Simple . . . . . .

I don't bame them! We would be dull if we did not hope that standing up for 20 minutes after a meal will slim us, if we are given that hope by someone, or that drinking vinegar will make us lose weight. However, life is not that simple.

You could stand up for 40 minutes after meals and get tired legs but not lose an ounce, and you could drink vinegar until it gave you indigestion, but that is a very hazardous way to lose weight if you vish to stay young and pretty and well when losing those extra pounds.

No, you just have to face it! You must count calories unless you follow a ready-made diet. As most of like to have my Nine Day Reduc-Diet which gives you a loss of from five to ten pounds, is being offered now.

If you have missed some of the menus, which have been printed in your newspaper, or if you would like to have my Nnie Day Reducing Diet booklet, sent 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Author Struggles, Too, To Keep Weight Down."

THE NAKED JUNGLE— Lovely and charming Eleanor Parker portrays the role of a mail-order bride and Charlton Heston is the groom in Parmount's new action-loaded Technicolor suspense drama, "The Naked Jungle," which is due to open Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. Set deep in the heart of the South American jungle, the George Pal-produced film tells a strange tale of a destructive force that threatens to devour everything in its path.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

A Safe Harbor

By RICHARD WIDMARK

(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24. — After seven years in the pretty well protected harbor of 20th Century-Fox, this month I go out into the sometimes rough and certainly uncharted seas of freelance acting. It's a deliberate adventure. The studio said it would like to have me stick around a little longer, but I wanted out.

I'm not particularly daring, despite the parts I've played on the screen. I think my reasons are epitomized by the fact that in my last picture "Broken Lance," I found myself threatening and abusing Spencer Tracy as he sat helpless in a wheelchair. I thought to myself, "this is where I came in." My screen career began seven years ago when I pushed Mildred Dunnock, also bound to a wheelchair, down a flight of steps in "Kiss of Death."

I never have and do not now blame the studio for putting me up to this sort of thing. As a matter of fact, Darryl Zanuck has made several real good efforts to ween me away from a life of violence on the screen. That they didn't come off wasn't his fault or, I hope, mine. The picture I have liked best of the 20 I have made was "My Pal Gus," a relatively pleasant little fable. It was a real flop at the boxoffice, whereas the very savage "Pickup on South Street" was a big hit.

From this experience, and there are others to support it, the studio apparently deduced that people will come to see me only when I am being some kind of a maniac. I happen not to agree with this conclusion. I think it is weighted. I have been violent too often and reasonable too rarely. Also - not deliberately, but the way it has worked out - the violent pictures were better than the others.People who enjoy violence on the screen are disappointed when I am reasonable and the people who don't like it stay away in the first place.

I don't quite see myself as a threat to the great romantic idols like Gregory Peck, but there are lots of good roles around where the character isn't a Casanova and, at the same time, isn't slugging people, either. I think with all Hollywood to work in, rather than a single studio, I might land a few of these and gradually break away from mayhem. One good part in a really good picture would do it. At least, it has worked that way for a number of other actors who had become pretty thoroughly typed. Or maybe I'll be able to just edge away by degrees.

I'd like to make clear that I have no quarrel with violence. Acually, I'm grateful. It certainly helped me to become established- as a matter of fact, it did the whole job and overnight - and has afforded me a very pleasant life. The thing is that a fellow tends to run out his string. It's like appearing steadily on TV, which has burned out some really great talents. After awhile the performer has given all he has to give. In the second place, once an actor has been typed this way, there is a tendency to make him violent just because that's his most salable asset. In "Broken Lance," my characterization is well motivated, but I've not always been so lucky. Sometimes I've been a madman - just because I'm a madman, I guess. I certainly hope to play another role as in "Broken Lance," but I'd want the preceding pictures to be a little different.

By way of parenthesis, and before closing, let me cite an example of the sort of role I would choose other than bits of villainy. You may remember the big Gobi desert experience. I was tough in that one, but on the right side. Being a touch character is not so bad if in the end it develops redeeming features.

'Ma & Pa' Kettle Are Back On Screen At Jim

"Ma and Pa Kettle At Home" brings the whole hilarious Kettle clan back to the old homestead, and the result is everything their most ardent fans could ask for. The newest in the ever - popular series of Universal - International comedies, which opens today at the Jim Theatre, puts Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride in charge of an even more generous allotment of heart and hilarity than ever before.

The basic theme of this Kettle special gets the story underway at once and keeps it moving at a merry pace. Son Elwin wins an essay contest which puts the Kettle acres in a model farm contest. If this isn't funny enough to start with, the announcement that the contest judge is due to inspect the place sends Ma and Pa, the assorted Kettle brood, and the ever-faithful Indians, Crowbar and Geoduck, hurrying and scurrying to patch up the place.

Charles Lamont, one of Hollywood's top comedy directors, has given the large Kettle audience a merry run for its money. Here is laughter that will shake every rafter!

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. They certainly should, they are selected on the basis of appearance, personality and emotional stability—the very qualities men want in a wife. They stay with the company an average of only 29 months, reports a major airline, before being picked off and rushed to the altar. Moreover, believe it or not, they are good cooks!

Answer to Question No. 2

2. The husband's mother, for two reasons: (1) the wife is used to her mother and is usually fond of her, while her husband's mother is a comparative stranger; (2) the husband's mother often becomes the wife's rival for "her boy's" affections. Marriage counsellors advise staying as far away from in-laws as possible.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. A St. Louis psychiatrist studied the anger experiences of men and women college students. Men, when angry, tend more to do physical injury, he found, while women tend to cry or scream.

RUG RENOVATION

Thinking of throwing out that faded fiber rug? To make it last another season give it a coat of your favorite color house paint thinned with turpentine (one part turpentine to three parts paint.) Work the paint thoroughly into the fiber with the brush to obtain the best results.

When you break something made of glass remember to use a bar of damp soap with which to pick up the bits. Then you can shave off the splinters from the soap with a knife and discard them safely.

THE NAKED JUNGLE— Lovely and charming Eleanor Parker portrays the role of a mail-order bride and Charlton Heston is the groom in Parmount's new action-loaded Technicolor suspense drama, "The Naked Jungle," which is due to open Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. Set deep in the heart of the South American jungle, the George Pal-produced film tells a strange tale of a destructive force that threatens to devour everything in its path.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

A Safe Harbor

By RICHARD WIDMARK

(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24. — After seven years in the pretty well protected harbor of 20th Century-Fox, this month I go out into the sometimes rough and certainly uncharted seas of freelance acting. It's a deliberate adventure. The studio said it would like to have me stick around a little longer, but I wanted out.

I'm not particularly daring, despite the parts I've played on the screen. I think my reasons are epitomized by the fact that in my last picture "Broken Lance," I found myself threatening and abusing Spencer Tracy as he sat helpless in a wheelchair. I thought to myself, "this is where I came in." My screen career began seven years ago when I pushed Mildred Dunnock, also bound to a wheelchair, down a flight of steps in "Kiss of Death."

I never have and do not now blame the studio for putting me up to this sort of thing. As a matter of fact, Darryl Zanuck has made several real good efforts to ween me away from a life of violence on the screen. That they didn't come off wasn't his fault or, I hope, mine. The picture I have liked best of the 20 I have made was "My Pal Gus," a relatively pleasant little fable. It was a real flop at the boxoffice, whereas the very savage "Pickup on South Street" was a big hit.

From this experience, and there are others to support it, the studio apparently deduced that people will come to see me only when I am being some kind of a maniac. I happen not to agree with this conclusion. I think it is weighted. I have been violent too often and reasonable too rarely. Also - not deliberately, but the way it has worked out - the violent pictures were better than the others.People who enjoy violence on the screen are disappointed when I am reasonable and the people who don't like it stay away in the first place.

I don't quite see myself as a threat to the great romantic idols like Gregory Peck, but there are lots of good roles around where the character isn't a Casanova and, at the same time, isn't slugging people, either. I think with all Hollywood to work in, rather than a single studio, I might land a few of these and gradually break away from mayhem. One good part in a really good picture would do it. At least, it has worked that way for a number of other actors who had become pretty thoroughly typed. Or maybe I'll be able to just edge away by degrees.

I'd like to make clear that I have no quarrel with violence. Acually, I'm grateful. It certainly helped me to become established- as a matter of fact, it did the whole job and overnight - and has afforded me a very pleasant life. The thing is that a fellow tends to run out his string. It's like appearing steadily on TV, which has burned out some really great talents. After awhile the performer has given all he has to give. In the second place, once an actor has been typed this way, there is a tendency to make him violent just because that's his most salable asset. In "Broken Lance," my characterization is well motivated, but I've not always been so lucky. Sometimes I've been a madman - just because I'm a madman, I guess. I certainly hope to play another role as in "Broken Lance," but I'd want the preceding pictures to be a little different.

By way of parenthesis, and before closing, let me cite an example of the sort of role I would choose other than bits of villainy. You may remember the big Gobi desert experience. I was tough in that one, but on the right side. Being a touch character is not so bad if in the end it develops redeeming features.

'Ma & Pa' Kettle Are Back On Screen At Jim

"Ma and Pa Kettle At Home" brings the whole hilarious Kettle clan back to the old homestead, and the result is everything their most ardent fans could ask for. The newest in the ever - popular series of Universal - International comedies, which opens today at the Jim Theatre, puts Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride in charge of an even more generous allotment of heart and hilarity than ever before.

The basic theme of this Kettle special gets the story underway at once and keeps it moving at a merry pace. Son Elwin wins an essay contest which puts the Kettle acres in a model farm contest. If this isn't funny enough to start with, the announcement that the contest judge is due to inspect the place sends Ma and Pa, the assorted Kettle brood, and the ever-faithful Indians, Crowbar and Geoduck, hurrying and scurrying to patch up the place.

Charles Lamont, one of Hollywood's top comedy directors, has given the large Kettle audience a merry run for its money. Here is laughter that will shake every rafter!

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. They certainly should, they are selected on the basis of appearance, personality and emotional stability—the very qualities men want in a wife. They stay with the company an average of only 29 months, reports a major airline, before being picked off and rushed to the altar. Moreover, believe it or not, they are good cooks!

Answer to Question No. 2

2. The husband's mother, for two reasons: (1) the wife is used to her mother and is usually fond of her, while her husband's mother is a comparative stranger; (2) the husband's mother often becomes the wife's rival for "her boy's" affections. Marriage counsellors advise staying as far away from in-laws as possible.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. A St. Louis psychiatrist studied the anger experiences of men and women college students. Men, when angry, tend more to do physical injury, he found, while women tend to cry or scream.

RUG RENOVATION

Thinking of throwing out that faded fiber rug? To make it last another season give it a coat of your favorite color house paint thinned with turpentine (one part turpentine to three parts paint.) Work the paint thoroughly into the fiber with the brush to obtain the best results.

When you break something made of glass remember to use a bar of damp soap with which to pick up the bits. Then you can shave off the splinters from the soap with a knife and discard them safely.

Music Students Of Mrs. Lawson To Give Recital

The related classical arts will be combined when music students of Mrs. E. Everett Lawson present their annual recital at the Neville Auditorium on Monday night, at eight o'clock in the evening. Miss Eleanor Cammack, who has studied with La Delle Stevens of Houston, Tex., for the past thirteen years will contribute classical ballet to Monday night's program. Having two years experience with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and also acting as assistant to her teacher in Houston, Tex., for the past two years, makes her well qualified to perform a number from "The Nutcracker." Miss Janice Strong will play the ballet music from this suite so loved by choreographers.

The theme, "Dance of Springtime," will be carried out in the recital, featuring characteristic traditional dance music of many countries. Music from Sigmund Romberg and Rudolf Friml operettas, which plays such a prominent part on today's American scene and musical life, will also be a part of the program in order to lend variety and balance to different musical tastes. Valuable contributions to the recital will be given by the national winners in the National Piano Playing Auditions, Janice Strong, Ouida Diane McGee, Judy Cobb and Katie Young, who have been outstanding in musical events and accomplishments throughout the entire year.

Monday night's program will be presented as follows: "Song of the Rain," Laura Griffith; "Dance On the Lawn," and "The Birthday Party," Susanne Moseley; "Swinging in the Garden," Margaret Moore; "The Flower Fairy," Beverly Blackmon.

"Indian War Dance," Larry Blackmon; "Country Gardens" and "Cielito Lindo," Maydie Jean Strickland; "In the Forest Tall" and "From A Chinese Tapestry," Steve Updegraff; "The Banjo Picker," Carolyn McCleary.

"Red Balloons" and "Dutch Shoes on Vienna Streets," Charlotte Ann Overton; "Carmencita," Joan Williams; "Etude" and "Frolic of the Winds," Judy Cobb; "Rhapsodie" and "Pin Wheels," Ouida Diane McGee; Duet: 'Norwegian Dance," Judy Cobb and Charlotte Ann Overton.

"Waltz," from "Faust," Joan Dillon; "Yakima," Billy Roark; "Song of Love," Susanne Smith; "Will You Remember," Dolores Nolan; "Jardin Bleu," Ruth Ann Boggs; "Gypsy Fiddler" and "Promenade in Spring," Houston Roark.

Vocal Quarter: "All Through the Night," sung by Sue Weir, Janice Strong, Ruth Ann Boggs, and Susanne Smith. 'Flying Leaves" and "Romance," Katie Young; "Hungarian" and "Rituelle Du Feu," Janice Strong.

A presentation of National Piano Playing Certificates will be made.

Miss Flowers Is Feted At Bridal Shower

Miss Myrtle Flowers, bride-elect of Mr. Jerry Allen, was recently honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Edna Evans, Miss D. L. O. Puckett and Miss Jean Tucker in the home of Miss Puckett.

Miss Flowers was attired in a navy dress dotted with rhinestones. She was presented with a corsage of white camellias and pink carnations, while the bride - elect's mother wore a corsage of pink roses and pink camellias.

Bridal games were played, after which Miss Flowers was showered with gifts. The hostesses' gift was a piece of china in her chosen pattern.

To remove a grease or oil stain from one of the miracle fiber fabrics, rub on a thick soap solution and rinse in cold running water until the water runs clear. Then launder the whole garment as usual.

D If you're looking for a low price but don't want to sacrifice safety for economy, see Wards Trail Blazer—made of the same fine materials as Wards Deluxe tires—but since tread is narrower and non-skid not as deep, it will not run as many miles—but they're safe miles.

HIGHWAY HI-TRACS—ALL SALE PRICED

6.50-16, 6 ply 24.15* 7.00-15, 8 ply 32.65*

E 50% deeper anti-skid depth than regular highway tires. Ideal for backroads, field work and bad terrain. Gives long mileage on hard surfaced roads, too. A real truck tire built to truck tire specifications. In 6.00-16, 7.00-16, 6 ply—7.50-16, 7.00-17, 7.50-17, 8 ply.

HEAVY-SERVICE—ALL SIZES CUT PRICED

6.50-16, 6 ply 19.75* 7.00-15, 6 ply 23.95*

F Deluxe Heavy-Service is not just an "over-size" heavy-duty passenger tire but built with the extra-strength features that tough truck-service operations require. Use real truck tires on your ½, ¾, 1 ton trucks and get a lower cost per mile and fewer road delays.

Music Students Of Mrs. Lawson To Give Recital

The related classical arts will be combined when music students of Mrs. E. Everett Lawson present their annual recital at the Neville Auditorium on Monday night, at eight o'clock in the evening. Miss Eleanor Cammack, who has studied with La Delle Stevens of Houston, Tex., for the past thirteen years will contribute classical ballet to Monday night's program. Having two years experience with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and also acting as assistant to her teacher in Houston, Tex., for the past two years, makes her well qualified to perform a number from "The Nutcracker." Miss Janice Strong will play the ballet music from this suite so loved by choreographers.

The theme, "Dance of Springtime," will be carried out in the recital, featuring characteristic traditional dance music of many countries. Music from Sigmund Romberg and Rudolf Friml operettas, which plays such a prominent part on today's American scene and musical life, will also be a part of the program in order to lend variety and balance to different musical tastes. Valuable contributions to the recital will be given by the national winners in the National Piano Playing Auditions, Janice Strong, Ouida Diane McGee, Judy Cobb and Katie Young, who have been outstanding in musical events and accomplishments throughout the entire year.

Monday night's program will be presented as follows: "Song of the Rain," Laura Griffith; "Dance On the Lawn," and "The Birthday Party," Susanne Moseley; "Swinging in the Garden," Margaret Moore; "The Flower Fairy," Beverly Blackmon.

"Indian War Dance," Larry Blackmon; "Country Gardens" and "Cielito Lindo," Maydie Jean Strickland; "In the Forest Tall" and "From A Chinese Tapestry," Steve Updegraff; "The Banjo Picker," Carolyn McCleary.

"Waltz," from "Faust," Joan Dillon; "Yakima," Billy Roark; "Song of Love," Susanne Smith; "Will You Remember," Dolores Nolan; "Jardin Bleu," Ruth Ann Boggs; "Gypsy Fiddler" and "Promenade in Spring," Houston Roark.

Vocal Quarter: "All Through the Night," sung by Sue Weir, Janice Strong, Ruth Ann Boggs, and Susanne Smith. 'Flying Leaves" and "Romance," Katie Young; "Hungarian" and "Rituelle Du Feu," Janice Strong.

A presentation of National Piano Playing Certificates will be made.

Miss Flowers Is Feted At Bridal Shower

Miss Myrtle Flowers, bride-elect of Mr. Jerry Allen, was recently honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Edna Evans, Miss D. L. O. Puckett and Miss Jean Tucker in the home of Miss Puckett.

Miss Flowers was attired in a navy dress dotted with rhinestones. She was presented with a corsage of white camellias and pink carnations, while the bride - elect's mother wore a corsage of pink roses and pink camellias.

Bridal games were played, after which Miss Flowers was showered with gifts. The hostesses' gift was a piece of china in her chosen pattern.

To remove a grease or oil stain from one of the miracle fiber fabrics, rub on a thick soap solution and rinse in cold running water until the water runs clear. Then launder the whole garment as usual.

NEW ATOM BOMB EXPLODES IN SLOBBOVIAN SEA!!

THE NEWSPAPER PHOTOS SHOW WHAT HAPPENED ON THE SURFACE— BUT— HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED BELOW!!

The entire continent of Lower Slobbovia is made of solid ice, and is unfit for human habitation—so 13,000,000 Slobbovians live here.

AND—SLOBBOVIA FLOATS!!
WHUT'S GUNG ON?
IS SOMEBODY A WICE GUY?

WELL, BLASS MY SOULNIK!! SLOBBOVIA IS GUNG SOMEWHERE ELSE!!
SO WE SHOULD COMPLAIN!! ANYWHERE IS BETTER THAN-PTU!!- HOME!!-
LOOK!!-THE CURRENT IS CARRYING US TO THE COAST OF ICELAND!!- HO, BOY!!—WE IN THE TROPICS!!—

ON THE COAST OF ICELAND
IS THAT A NIGHTMARE— OR IS THE ENTIRE CONTINENT OF LOWER SLOBBOVIA APPROACHING?
IT'S REAL!!—ORDER ALL ABLE-BODIED CITIZENS TO STAND ON THE COAST, AND PUSH LOWER SLOBBOVIA AWAY WITH STICKS— BEFORE THEY FREEZE ONTO US!!—

Daily

EXCELLENT!!-SLOBBOVIA SHOULD ARRIVE HERE SOON!!- AND THEN I CAN SELL MY DOG-FOOD TO 'EM!!—THEY'RE THE ONLY ONES WHO'LL EAT IT!!— DOGS CERTAINLY WON'T!!

YO' IS A SMART MAN, GEN'RAL BULLMOOSE!! YO' DON'T WASTE MONEY SHIPPIN' YORE DOGFOOD TO LOWER SLOBBOVIA— YO' GOT TH' WHOLE CONTINENT SHIPPED HERE!!
I THINK BIG, BOY!!
4-25

—AND I DO BIG!!— AND WHATEVER I DO THERE'S THAT ONE THOUGHT THAT ALWAYS COMFORTS ME!!—

WOMEN DRIVERS have been frowned on for centuries. In 205 B.C. the Roman Senate made it illegal for women to drive chariots in the city. The truth? The latest figures show that men have seven times as many accidents!

GOOD SHOWING
My neighbors' clotheslines never hold
A garment faded, worn, or old.
I wonder if (like me) they dried
Their less impressive things inside.

DANNY THOMAS suggests I send Surf to every police chief in the country. Claims it will even make a crook come clean! (Ouch!)

AMBITION. I asked three kids on our show what they would like most to be. The first wanted to be a bird so she could eat worms. The second wanted to be a coconut tree so kids could climb up and get some coconuts. The third wanted to be her big sister so that when they played house, she could be the mother and have all the fun washing dishes! (People say the darn'dest things on House Party. Tune in Mon., Wed., Fri., on CBS radio and TV.)

Art Linkletter

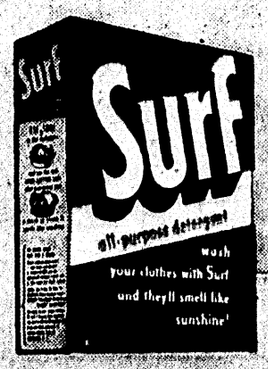
To a woman the most important thing about her laundry is the way it looks. And she's right! No washday product is worth its salt if it doesn't give you a wash you're proud of.

That's taken for granted today. For today every good detergent gets things clean-looking. Take SURF. There's no product made that will put more life into a colored dress. Or that will get your husband's shirts whiter and brighter. Or do a better job on greasy, dirty work clothes.

But that's only part of what SURF does. SURF gets things so clean they smell clean. There's no dirt smell. No soap smell. No chemical smell. There's just the sunshine-fresh smell of clean laundry. Your nose tells you it's clean clear through.

You'll notice the difference instantly between a SURF wash and any other. If you don't, that box of SURF is on us. We at Lever Brothers will send you our check for the purchase price plus postage. That's how sure we are of SURF.



When you wash them with SURF they smell like SUNSHINE

[...you know that they're clean clear through!]

---TAKEN, EH? MIGHT BE COUPLE FRIENDS O' OURS--- WHAT DO THEY LOOK LIKE?

SHUCKS, YOU MUST BE LOOKIN' FOR TWO OTHER GUYS---THESE GUYS ARE MAYBE TWENTY-FIVE---ONE'S SHORT AN' REAL FAT---

NO BALD-HEADED GUY?

NO BIRD WITH POINTED EARS?

Copr. 1954 by News Syndicate Co. Inc.

FAT ONE'S GOT RED HAIR! AND TH' SKINNY ONE'S GOT BUCK TEETH AN' GLASSES--- MAYBE A PROFESSOR OR SOMETHIN'---

I TOLD YOU WE WERE COLD!

YEAH! C'MON! LET'S GET OUT O' HERE---

4-25-54

B-B-BUT, ANNIE! WHAT A TERRIBLE STORY YOU TOLD THOSE MEN---

I SAW THAT ONE WITH THE POINTED EARS, BUT YOU SAID---

I KNOW--- I HATED T'DO IT---B'BUT SOMETIMES WHAT OTHER WAY IS THERE?

WELL, I'M GOING TO CALL THOSE MEN BACK AND TELL THEM THE TRUTH!

A THOUSAND PARDONS, BUT LET THOSE TWO GO AWAY QUIETLY--- ---SHALL WE?

EH? ER--- O-O-OH, YES, SIR! OH, YES, INDEED!

JOSHUA Marches on Jericho

by John Lehti

UPON MOSES' DEATH, JOSHUA BECOMES LEADER OF THE ISRAELITES AND GUIDES THEM ACROSS THE JORDAN RIVER INTO THE LAND PROMISED THEM BY GOD. AFTER 40 YEARS OF WANDERING THROUGH BURNING DESERTS AND OVER DANGEROUS MOUNTAINS, FOLLOWING THEIR EXODUS FROM EGYPT, THE ISRAELITES FINALLY SIGHT THE LAND OF THEIR FATHERS....

THE TRIBES HAVE ADVANCED STEADILY... BUT NOW DIRECTLY AHEAD LIES THE HEAVILY-FORTIFIED ENEMY CITY OF JERICHO!

BEING WISE IN THE WAYS OF WAR, JOSHUA HAS SENT TWO SPIES INTO JERICHO....NOW COMES THE REPORT:

"THEY HAVE HEARD OF OUR VICTORIES OVER KING OG AND KING SIHON."

"AND THE PEOPLE HIDE IN FEAR!"

AND THE FIRST SIGHT OF JERICHO'S SPLENDOR AND MIGHT IS AN AWESOME ONE INDEED!

BEFORE TRYING TO SPOT ANY WEAK POINTS IN THIS FORTRESS, ONE MUST FIND A LOCATION SECURE FROM ENEMY EYES--FOR TO BE DETECTED NOW--ALL ALONE....WOULD MEAN CAPTURE AND DEATH!

IT IS A POWERFUL CITY! MAJESTIC....WEALTHY....THE KEY STRONGHOLD GUARDING THE APPROACHES TO ALL CANAAN! AND SURROUNDED BY THE MOST HEAVILY-FORTIFIED WALLS JOSHUA HAS EVER SEEN....YET HE MUST CONQUER AND DESTROY IT!

BUT HOW?..HOW CAN THIS BE DONE? SUCH A STRONG CITY---MANY LIVES MUST SURELY BE LOST!

SUDDENLY....FROM BEHIND COMES THE "CLACKLE" OF A STONE KNOCKED LOOSE!

BUZ SAWYER

Featuring His Pal Reggie Sweeney
by Roy Crane

¡OLE! LOOK!

NEVER HAVE THEY SEEN A NOVICE MATADOR DISPLAY SUCH SKILL, SUCH COURAGE.

LOOK! YIPPEE VIVA SWEENEY

THERE! DID I NOT PREDICT IT! SHE IS SENSATIONAL! SHE WILL BE EVEN GREATER THAN BELMONTE.

THE CROWD IS SCREAMING, HYSTERICAL. LUCILLE'S MANAGER WEEPS WITH JOY.

A GIRL! UNBELIEVABLE!

UNTIL THE MOMENT COMES FOR THE KILL.

KILL!

WHY DOES SHE HESITATE?

BEADS OF PERSPIRATION APPEAR ON LUCILLE'S BROW.

WHAT IS WRONG? IS SHE AFRAID?

POOR THING... HE'S SO TIRED! I---I JUST CAN'T DO IT.

4-25

SHE THROWS THE BULL.

THERE'S A STARTLED HUSH. IT'S AS IF THE HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPION, ON THE VERGE OF A KNOCKOUT, STOPPED FIGHTING AND KISSED HIS ANTAGONIST.

BOO! THROW HER OUT!

Copr. 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.,

AGAIN HER MANAGER WEEPS, BUT NOT WITH JOY.

I CANNOT UNNDERSTAND IT. SHE'S SENSATIONAL! SHE HAS EVERYTHING... STYLE, SKILL, COURAGE!

YES, DON ALFREDO. SHE HAS EVERYTHING EXCEPT THE HEART TO HURT.

The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

ON GULLIQUE ISLE~~

~I'D HEARD THAT GULLIQUE SUPERSTITION~ ~"IF THE PHANTOM COMES TO DESTROY GULLIQUE, THERE'LL BE A DOUBLE RAINBOW IN THE SKY."

BEFORE I LEFT THE MAINLAND I CHECKED AT THE WEATHER BUREAU~~

~THEY PREDICTED SHOWERS AND SUNSHINE FOR GULLIQUE TODAY-LUCKILY THE RAINBOW WAS DOUBLE

HMM~ THE WHOLE ISLAND'S LOOKING FOR ME ~~BUT I WANT RAMA, THE MAN WHO STABBED MY FATHER IN THE BACK!

DID YOU FIND HIM?

NOT YET. BUT WE GOT A FEW QUESTIONS TO ASK YOU, RAMA.

YEAH~WHEN THE PHANTOM BLEW UP OUR SHIPS TEN YEARS AGO, YOU CLAIMED YOU KILLED HIM.

THAT'S WHY YOU~~A NOBODY IN OUR OLD GANG~TOOK OVER! NOW~ IF YOU REALLY KILLED HIM, WHY DO YOU THINK HE'D BE HERE NOW?

I DON'T KNOW! BUT THAT SKULL MARK ON YOUR FACE~~ THAT WAS HIS MARK! I KILLED HIM! THERE'S HIS BELT~~

WILSON McCOY 4-25

~~BUT, MAYBE HE CAN'T DIE! MAYBE HE IS THE GHOST WHO WALKS! BUT I DID KILL HIM!

SUPPOSE YOU TELL US HOW!

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

BY LYMAN YOUNG and TOM MASSEY ®

RIDE HARD, TIM! IF THAT STAMPEDE CATCHES UP WITH US WE'RE DONE FOR!

YEOW— JUST IN TIME!

NO— IT SOUNDS LIKE A TRUCK! LOOK!

RROHR-R-R

ROHR-RR-R

WHAT—WHAT WAS THAT?

IT WAS A TRUCK DOLLED UP LIKE A DRAGON—IT MUST'VE STARTED THE WILD ANIMAL STAMPEDE!

LET'S GO AFTER IT, SPUD!
